Chamber of Commerce Speaker

HOWARD A. LEWIS

Howard A. Lewis, who will be the speaker at the annual banquet of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce on Saturday evening, has an outstanding record of achievement in the field of industry both in this country and the world.

Born in Faribault, Minn., Lewis is a resident of Kingston by choice, although he spends much of his time in Detroit and on business trips to Canada and many other parts of the world.

While attending Leland Stanford University, he entered the appliance field in 1910. In 1918 he entered the publishing field with the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company. He became affiliated with the Kelvinator Corporation in 1926 and was elected treasurer in 1928.

When Kelvinator and Nash Motors merged in 1937, Lewis became treasurer of the Nash-Kelvinator Corporation, having played a leading role in the financing involved in the merger, during which he became acquainted with the leading financiers of the country. In 1939 he was elected vice-president of the corporation.

Started Apple Festival

Lewis organized and sponsored the first Apple Blossom Festival in 1938 to publicize Kingston, Ulster county and the Hudson valley. The last festival of the early series was held in 1941 and thereafter was abondoned because of World War 2.

Other important positions held by Lewis are many. He is vice chairman and director of Nash-Kelvinator Limited of England; director of Ranco, Ltd., of Scotland; vice president and director of Kelvinator of Canada, Ltd.; director of Refrigeration Supplies Company, Ltd., of Canada; vice president and director of Refrigeration Discount Corporation and Redisco of Canada; director of Ranco, Inc., and The Dexter Company.

He has taken part in numerous decisions of Nash-Kelvinator subsidiaries involving new plant locations, and his responsibilities for Nash-Kelvinator include direction of finance plus the export operations for both Nash and Kelvinator divisions and direction of the corporation's subsidiaries.

Reservations Close Thursday

Bev. C. Anderson, chairman of the chamber banquet committee, became acquainted with Lewis while also holding a post with Nash-Kelvinator Corporation in Detroit. Anderson will chair the banquet and introduce the speaker.

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce urge a large attendance, pointing out the timeliness of Lewis' talk in relation to the Kingston Industrial Development Corporation now being organized. Reservations should be made by Thursday.

Lewis was the official representive of Kingston at the celebration of the 300th anniversary of the founding of Cape Town, South Africa, on April 5, 1952, when offical greetings were exchanged with the mayor of Cape Town. Both cities celebrated their 300th anniversaries last year and both have distinct Dutch backgrounds. Lewis was in Cape Town the same day Queen Juliana of The Netherlands visited Kingston.

Adrian Kaplan, president of the Chamber has stated that Lewis' talk will be of interest to everyone who wants to see this area expand and develop.

Rent Bill Going to Governor

50 Democrats Express Opposition to Raise of 15 Per Cent for Million Tenants

Albany, N. Y., March 18 (AP)—The Dewey administration's rent control bill, authorizing 15 per cent increases for about one million tenants, was passed by the Legislature last night and sent to the governor.

His approval appeared certain.

A 13-hour St. Patrick's Day wrangle broke up when the Assembly gave the measure final legislative approval shortly before midnight. In the two Houses, 50 Democratic legislators individually had flayed the bill.

The Assembly vote was 80-67 with 15 Republicans joining the Democrats in opposition. The Senate approved the bill, 36-20, with a lone Republican dissenting. He was Sen. Joseph E. Periconi of the Bronx.

Calls It Filibuster

Majority Leader Lee B. Mailler called the 5½-hour Assembly debate "a filibuster against the fair rights of landlords and tenants."

"It has not been a debate," he said, "it's been more of a continuous monologue."

The rent measure, effective April 1, would continue controls two more years, but permit landlords to boost their rents 15 per cent above March 1, 1943 levels. However, any rent increase authorized since then would be deducted from the 15 per cent limit.

What Bill Does

The bill also would:

Permit local governments to decontrol rents in their areas after a public hearing.

Decontrol one and two-family houses and owner-occupied units as soon as they became vacant.

Authorize landlords to raise rents enough to guarantee them a 6 per cent, instead of 4 per cent, annual return on the assessed valuation of their properties.

The Democrats argued that the rent increases would cost tenants $149,750,000 a year, according to their surveys of tenants in six counties. They also contended it was a "billion-dollar grab" by the real estate interests and objected to "the last-minute consideration of important bills."

Calls Figures 'Myth'

Mailler called the Democratic figures "truly a myth."

Lessons Are Learned by Two Sides

Civilians, Soldiers Get Points as Atom Bomb Explodes in Test on Practice Field

Las Vegas, Nev., March 18 (AP)—On the friendly practice field of the Atomic Energy Commission, American civilian and soldier alike may have learned new lessons to wrest victory out of atomic war.

These are the pointers indicated by yesterday's double-barreled nuclear test:

For civilian—

1. In a car, "I would stay in it, open the windows and crouch down as far as possible on the seat or the floor," said J. Slayton Jenner of the Federal Civil Defense Administration.

2. In a house, try a basement-type bomb shelter, but make sure you have a solid concrete basement.

3. If caught in the open, lie flat on the ground if no good shelter is available.

For soldier—

1. Crouch in a foxhole or lie flat. Army officers think now that the dug-in soldiers could have remained above ground, lying prone, at their two-mile distance from yesterday's blast tower on Yucca Flat.

Stay Behind Wind

2. Watch the wind and stay behind it. The breeze after the detonation at 300 feet swept the radioactive column and cloud eastward across the flat, where it hung threateningly for hours. But troops were able to march north through the vicinity of ground zero.

3. The bomb can be a friend if instructions are followed. Like their predecessors in atomic maneuvers, the 1,000 foot soldiers and 500 observers found little to fear in foxholes. Most said it wasn't as bad as they expected. Elton Fay, Associated Press military affairs reporter, found himself most impressed by "the unearthly white light" as he crouched face down in a five-foot trench.

4. Earth shock can be as potent a weapon as blast in a low-level explosion, Fay continued. The prolonged shuddering of the desert, Fay and other observers believe, contributed greatly to the quick collapse of the first civil defense test house, 3,500 feet from tower.

29 Food, Gasoline Stations Planned For Thruway Route

Albany, March 18 (AP)—The Thruway Authority announced today it planned to set up 29 "service areas" along its super highway between New York city and Buffalo where motorists could buy gasoline, food and other necessities.

Persons or firms interested in leasing the proposed restaurant facilities were invited to contact the authority. But the agency said it was not ready to consider applications for the gasoline service facilities.

No alcoholic beverages will be sold at the restaurant facilities along the route, the authority said.

Walden Elects Woman Mayor

Walden, March 18 (AP) — A feminine touch was added to Walden's government yesterday when Mrs. James M. Johnston was elected mayor.

Mrs. Johnston, 57-year-old operator of an automobile service station and tire shop, was nominated by both Republicans and Democrats. She had only write-in opposition, and won handily.

A Republican, she did not campaign and made no political promises.

Mrs. Johnston, a widow, will preside over a six-man board of trustees for a two-year term.

Reports 22,000 Are Under Watch for Possible Red Links

Will Be Deported in Cases Showing Connection With Communist Activities

New York, March 18 (AP)—Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr. says nearly 22,000 foreign-born residents of the United States are under investigation for possible Communist links.

He adds that they will be subject to eventual deportation, "where evidence is found that they have violated our imigration and nationality laws."

The widening inquiries are part of a campaign to rid the nation of subversives, Brownell told the Society of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick at a dinner last night.

"It's a job worthy of a modern-day St. Patrick to drive these snakes from our shores," the attorney general declared.

Brownell said that among those under scrutiny are nearly 10,000 naturalized citizens who "are believed to be or to have been engaged in subversive activities or presently to be or to have been members of, or affiliated with, the Communist party."

Subject to Deportation

"These investigations are to determine whether their naturalization can be revoked," Brownell added. "If naturalization is revoked by the courts, these persons will again be aliens and subject to deportation."

Another 12,000 being probed are aliens residing in the U. S., Brownell said.

Wherever these investigations uncover evidence of subversive activities or "membership in or affiliation with the Communist party," Brownell continued, "* * * deportation proceedings will be instituted against these aliens."

At present, 280 Communist party leaders are under deportation orders, the attorney general asserted.

Calls Situation 'Grave'

Manila, March 18 (AP)—Gen. Mark Clark said today a "grave situation" exists in the Far East for free nations fighting Communist aggression. The United Nations commander, visiting the Philippines en route to Indochina, told a news conference: "It is a grave situation wherever you have aggressive communism, wherever you are confronted with a Communist who lies, cheats and murders. I would say it is a grave situation." Clark intimated that he would study the question of increased military aid for Indochina in its fight against the Reds.

Discipline Of Jet Pilot Demanded

Note to Russia Requests Prevention of Future Repetition in Attacks by Aircraft

Washington, March 18 (AP)—The United States today demanded that Russia discipline the Soviet jet fighter who attacked a U. S. weather reconnaissance plane last Sunday 25 miles off Kamchatka.

The State Department announced a protest has been delivered to the Moscow Foreign Office by the American Embassy.

The note asks measures to prevent a repetition of such an attack and "disciplinary action" against those responsible for Sunday's incident.

The air force announced yesterday that the American B-50 bomber, flying out of Alaska, was trailed by two Soviet MIG-15s and that one Russian plane opened fire on it. The B-50 returned fire and the Soviet plane did not press the attack.

The exchange apparently did no damage to either plane.

The State Department announced the substance of the protest, but the text of the note was not made public for the time being.

Text of Announcement

The department's announcement said:

"The American Embassy at Moscow this morning on instructions from the State Department lodged a vigorous protest with the Soviet Foreign Office against the attack by MIG fighters upon a U. S. Air Force B-50 in the North Pacific on March 15.

"The note sets forth the position of the U. S. plane when attacked (about 100 miles northeast of Petropavlosk and at least 25 miles from the nearest Soviet territory), vigorously protests the action of the Soviet aircraft, states that the Government of the United States expects to be informed at an early date of the disciplinary action taken with regard to the Soviet personnel responsible for the attack, and asks for information concerning measures adopted by Soviet authorities to prevent a recurrence of incidents of this kind."

Won't Stop Flying

It has been made clear here that the U. S. Air Force will continue to fly its missions despite Russia's implied challenge to its use of air space over international waters of the North Pacific.

That was the word which top Pentagon spokesmen gave out after their study of reports on the first confirmed two-way fight between U. S. and Red military planes outside the Korean war zone.

Military officials who may not be named also let it be known that the Pentagon had talked down a State Department suggestion to postpone any public announcement of the incident.

Line of Reasoning

The State Department had the bare facts of the Kamchatka clash early Monday, it was learned, and advised caution in announcing the event because neither the attacking MIG nor the defending plane suffered human casualties or any apparent damage. The line of reasoning of some diplomats ran like this:

1. Silence by Washington might help to smoke out Russian intentions.

2. Publicity could weaken the psychological impact of the strong

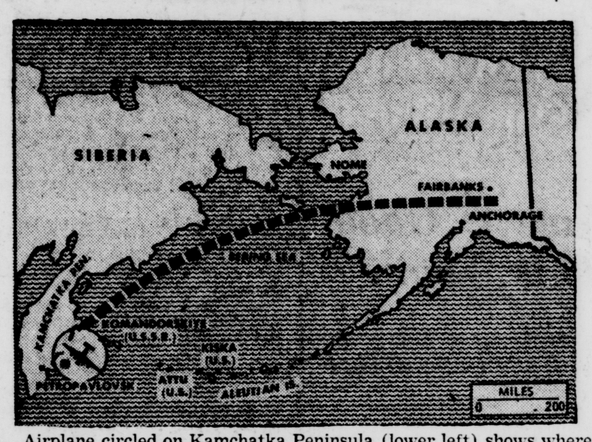
Alaskan 'Incident'



Airplane circled on Kamchatka Peninsula (lower left) shows where a U. S. RB-50 reconnaissance plane was attacked by a Russian MIG-15, according to Air Force reports. The American plane was on a routine mission from an Alaskan air base. Less than 25 miles from Kamchatka, where the Reds have built elaborate bases, two MIGs opened fire. None of the craft was damaged. (NEA Newsmap)

Incident Is 3d Between East-West

American Fliers Cruised Near Siberian Coast on Routine Weather Flight

Fairbanks, Alaska, March 18 (AP)—The quick-acting commander of a U. S. Air Force plane said last night he ordered the chief gunner to "fire back" when his B-50 bomber was attacked by a Russian-type MIG-15 high off the coast of Siberia Sunday.

Lt. Col. Robert S. Rich, 35, told a news conference at Eielson Air Force base near here he tried to escape the attacker with a 390 mile per hour dive into a cloud bank and fired only after the MIG had opened up.

The attack occurred as the U. S. plane, on a routine weather flight, cruised north 25 miles out to sea from the Siberian coast. The air force said apparently neither craft was damaged in the third such sky encounter between planes of the east and west this week.

Meanwhile, President Eisenhower declined to comment on the latest incident in the cold war amid congressional demands for an investigation and warnings the Russians might attack American commercial planes on the Orient run.

100 Miles From Base

The B-50 was approximately 100 miles east and slightly north of the huge Russian military base at Petropavlovsk on the Kamchatka peninsula when it was attacked.

Rich gave this account of the skirmish:

The B-50 had flown from Eielson over the Aleutian Islands to a point off the Kamchatka peninsula and had been flying north about 25 miles off the Siberian coast for 30 to 40 minutes when the vapor trails of two planes were sighted 10 miles coastward from the U. S. plane.

He said the two planes vanished and appeared a few minutes later behind the B-50 and some five to six thousand feet higher than the U. S. craft, which was at an altitude of 25,000 feet.

Kept On Tail

Rich said the planes, which were then identified as MIG-15s, "kept coming on our tail" and suddenly one heeled over into a

Two-Way Fire Radio System Heated Topic for Supervisors

Wilson Would Ask City To Operate Plan Through Its Department

What started out as a peaceful St. Patrick's evening meeting of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors exploded into one of the hottest sessions in years.

The cause of the verbal fireworks was two-way radio for fire fighting equipment of the city and county and whether the operation of a central control station in Kingston would be authorized by the proper city officials.

Republican Majority Leader Kenneth Wilson of Woodstock started the ball rolling when he brought up the matter just before adjournment. Supervisor Wilson referred to the proposition of two-way radio for the fire fighting equipment, which has been before the board on several prior occasions, and stated that the matter was now before a committee of the board. He suggested that the matter be not "lost in the shuffle" but that before the matter was determined it might be advisable to ascertain whether the "city fathers" would be willing to have the system operated through the local fire station.

City Interested

The city of Kingston is vitally interested in the matter of two-way radio for fire equipment since the plan called for operation of the system through the Kingston department. He suggested that it be ascertained by the committee whether the Common Council or the fire commissioners would agree to operate the system if it is voted by the board. Wilson said the city of Kingston should indicate through some official who has the authority, that the city of Kingston would assume the burden of operating the system.

This touched off a long and heated debate in which several supervisors took part and finally Ulster County Fire Coordinator Arthur Chipp, who was outside talking to Chief Joseph L. Murphy, was called in to shed some light. Chipp referred to the cost of the equipment as given in estimates from radio companies and also to maintenance costs. Fire Chief Joseph Murphy responded to a second alarm and as questioned by several as to whether the city needed two way radio equipment and on various other matters, some of which were not

Mayor Newkirk, Feye and Rigby to Attend Reception

Will Join Other Relief Committee Heads at Dutch Embassy in Washington

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, Jack Feye and Harry Rigby, Jr., have been invited by Prince Bernhardt of the Netherlands to attend a reception at the Dutch Embassy in Washington, D. C., Tuesday afternoon, March 24, honoring communities throughout the United States which came to the aid of the flood-stricken country.

They will leave Tuesday morning, attend the reception which begins at 2 p. m. and will return to Kingston Wednesday.

Key members of flood disaster committees from all parts of the nation are expected to attend the reception and to receive the thanks of the Dutch government for transmittal to their fellow citizens at home.

Prince Will Attend

The sum of $5,242.52 was transmitted to Queen Juliana February 26 and since that time additional contributions of $30.50 have been received by the local committee, this amount being turned over to the flood relief committee operating in Hurley to be incorporated with their contribution. It was pointed out by the Kingston committee that "sentimentally this was a very appropriate way of disposing of the small balance, since ties have been so close between the Dutch towns of Kingston and Hurley for 300 years."

Feye served as chairman of the Kingston-Holland Flood Relief Committee and Mayor Newkirk as honorary chairman. Prince Bernhardt is expected to fly to Washington especially for the reception, it was said. The reception will be covered by a nationwide television and radio network, as well as newspaper and photo services.

Queen Is Grateful

Mayor Newkirk recently received the following letter from J. H. van Roijen, Dutch ambassador to the United States:

"On behalf of Her Majesty the Queen I want to transmit to you Her Majesty's expression of gratitude for the check of $5,242.52, representing contributions of the people of Kingston. Your generous gift will be used by Her Majesty

Check on U. S. Gold Shows All in Order

Washington, March 18 (AP)—An unprecedented check of the nation's gold and silver and coin has ended and, a treasury official said today, "everything is there."

That was a short report from Leland Howard, assistant director of the mint, on a big subject: nearly 23 billion dollars worth of gold at Fort Knox, Ky., and elsewhere, plus two billions worth of silver bullion and about 201 million dollars worth of coin not in circulation.

One shortage did turn up during an audit of the books of the former treasurer of the United States, a lady Democrat.

Don't look for a Congressional investigation, though.

The missing sum was only $10, the government got it back, and the rest of the $32,410,260,786.10-2/3 is right where the former treasurer, Mrs. Georgia Nesse Clark Gray, said it would be.

So the treasury is sending Mrs. Gray a receipt from her successor, Republican Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, and everybody is happy.

All this checkup was inspired by the recent change in administrations.

A committee appointed jointly by former Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder and new GOP Secretary Humphrey looked into accounting and guarding methods and found they included "every feasible safeguard." But it suggested that a new committee make spot checks of gold and silver and coin.

Everything There

Asked today whether the check had been completed and, if so, if anything had been found missing, Howard told a reporter:

"No, siree. Everything is there. The official report is being prepared and won't be out for some time, but it will show everything is where it should be."

And what about that $10?

Mrs. Gray disclosed the "shortage" in an interview.

She said it was discovered dur-

House Withstands Atomic Blast

Newsmen and civil defense observers look across the desert at House No. 2, located 1½ miles from the spot where an atomic explosion took place at the Atomic Proving Grounds, Nev. The house, which remained standing after the blast, is about one mile from the camera. Intense radio-activity in the area prevented newsmen and photographers from getting any closer. (AP Wirephoo).

Crash of Two British Jets Mars Inspection for Tito

Duxford, England, March 18 (AP)—Two British jet fighters collided today before the horrified gaze of President Marshal Tito, killing both pilots.

Then the shaken Yugoslav leader, for the first time, saw and heard another jet crash the sound barrier.

Britain trotted out its hottest military aircraft for inspection by Tito, who is anxious to get similar planes for the Yugoslav Air Force.

The collision occurred during tight formation flying by Meteors Twenty-four jets in all were involved. As four of the Meteors were changing position one ran into the tail of another. The wreckage fell six miles away from this Royal Air Force airfield in Cambridgeshire.

When the Meteors returned to land, Tito saluted the planes in tribute to the dead pilots.

A RAF officer said that before the flying began Tito twice had asked to cancel the display because of the weather. After the crash he turned to Lord Tedder, marshal of the RAF, and said: "Please, do not have any more."

But squadron leader Neville Duke—one of Britain's hottest, best known pilots—already had taken up a gleaming Hawker Hunter into the heavy overcast.

Then Duke came roaring down. As his engines screamed he pushed past the speed of sound. Tito who had started for his car thinking the display was over stopped and looked up. Three sharp bangs and a whine signalled that Duke had broken the barrier again.

Malenkov Asked to Be Sincere About Desire for World Peace

United Nations, March 18 (AP)—The United States challenged Russia today to demonstrate in the current UN disarmament debate that Prime Minister Georgi M. Malenkov sincerely wants to settle world problems peacefully.

The challenge was made by U. S. Delegate Ernest A. Gross, who led off the disarmament discussions in the general assembly's 60-nation political committee. As he spoke, Soviet Delegate Georgi N. Zarubin listened intently.

At the outset, Gross said Soviet leaders have talked much about peace in the past few days. He added:

"I hope Prime Minister Malenkov's use of the word 'peace' is the same as the word is understood by the rest of the world."

At any rate, he said, if the Russians are sincere one of the first places they can show it is on the question of disarmament. He called on them for some indication that they are now ready to negotiate in good faith.

Gross put two questions to Zarubin:

1. Is this the time when the Soviet government is willnig to discuss constructively the question of disarmament?

2. Is this the forum where the Soviet representative will negotiate with his colleagues on the question?

He said he was not demanding a quick answer.

Manila, March 18 (AP)—Gen. Mark Clark said today a "grave situation" exists in the Far East for free nations fighting Communist aggression. The United Nations commander, visiting the Philippines en route to Indochina, told a news conference: "It is a grave situation wherever you have aggressive communism, wherever you are confronted with a Communist who lies, cheats and murders. I would say it is a grave situation." Clark intimated that he would study the question of increased military aid for Indochina in its fight against the Reds.

Discipline Of Jet Pilot Demanded

Note to Russia Requests Prevention of Future Repetition in Attacks by Aircraft

Washington, March 18 (AP)—The United States today demanded that Russia discipline the Soviet jet fighter who attacked a U. S. weather reconnaissance plane last Sunday 25 miles off Kamchatka.

The State Department announced a protest has been delivered to the Moscow Foreign Office by the American Embassy.

The note asks measures to prevent a repetition of such an attack and "disciplinary action" against those responsible for Sunday's incident.

The air force announced yesterday that the American B-50 bomber, flying out of Alaska, was trailed by two Soviet MIG-15s and that one Russian plane opened fire on it. The B-50 returned fire and the Soviet plane did not press the attack.

The exchange apparently did no damage to either plane.

The State Department announced the substance of the protest, but the text of the note was not made public for the time being.

Text of Announcement

The department's announcement said:

"The American Embassy at Moscow this morning on instructions from the State Department lodged a vigorous protest with the Soviet Foreign Office against the attack by MIG fighters upon a U. S. Air Force B-50 in the North Pacific on March 15.

"The note sets forth the position of the U. S. plane when attacked (about 100 miles northeast of Petropavlosk and at least 25 miles from the nearest Soviet territory), vigorously protests the action of the Soviet aircraft, states that the Government of the United States expects to be informed at an early date of the disciplinary action taken with regard to the Soviet personnel responsible for the attack, and asks for information concerning measures adopted by Soviet authorities to prevent a recurrence of incidents of this kind."

Won't Stop Flying

It has been made clear here that the U. S. Air Force will continue to fly its missions despite Russia's implied challenge to its use of air space over international waters of the North Pacific.

That was the word which top Pentagon spokesmen gave out after their study of reports on the first confirmed two-way fight between U. S. and Red military planes outside the Korean war zone.

Military officials who may not be named also let it be known that the Pentagon had talked down a State Department suggestion to postpone any public announcement of the incident.

Line of Reasoning

The State Department had the bare facts of the Kamchatka clash early Monday, it was learned, and advised caution in announcing the event because neither the attacking MIG nor the defending plane suffered human casualties or any apparent damage. The line of reasoning of some diplomats ran like this:

1. Silence by Washington might help to smoke out Russian intentions.

2. Publicity could weaken the psychological impact of the strong

B-50 Returns Fire at Red MIG

Alaskan 'Incident'

Airplane circled on Kamchatka Peninsula (lower left) shows where a U. S. RB-50 reconnaissance plane was attacked by a Russian MIG-15, according to Air Force reports. The American plane was on a routine mission from an Alaskan air base. Less than 25 miles from Kamchatka, where the Reds have built elaborate bases, two MIGs opened fire. None of the craft was damaged. (NEA Newsmap)

Incident Is 3d Between East-West

American Fliers Cruised Near Siberian Coast on Routine Weather Flight

Fairbanks, Alaska, March 18 (AP)—The quick-acting commander of a U. S. Air Force plane said last night he ordered the chief gunner to "fire back" when his B-50 bomber was attacked by a Russian-type MIG-15 high off the coast of Siberia Sunday.

Lt. Col. Robert S. Rich, 35, told a news conference at Eielson Air Force base near here he tried to escape the attacker with a 390 mile per hour dive into a cloud bank and fired only after the MIG had opened up.

The attack occurred as the U. S. plane, on a routine weather flight, cruised north 25 miles out to sea from the Siberian coast. The air force said apparently neither craft was damaged in the third such sky encounter between planes of the east and west this week.

Meanwhile, President Eisenhower declined to comment on the latest incident in the cold war amid congressional demands for an investigation and warnings the Russians might attack American commercial planes on the Orient run.

100 Miles From Base

The B-50 was approximately 100 miles east and slightly north of the huge Russian military base at Petropavlovsk on the Kamchatka peninsula when it was attacked.

Rich gave this account of the skirmish:

The B-50 had flown from Eielson over the Aleutian Islands to a point off the Kamchatka peninsula and had been flying north about 25 miles off the Siberian coast for 30 to 40 minutes when the vapor trails of two planes were sighted 10 miles coastward from the U. S. plane.

He said the two planes vanished and appeared a few minutes later behind the B-50 and some five to six thousand feet higher than the U. S. craft, which was at an altitude of 25,000 feet.

Kept On Tail

Rich said the planes, which were then identified as MIG-15s, "kept coming on our tail" and suddenly one heeled over into a

Two-Way Fire Radio System Heated Topic for Supervisors

Wilson Would Ask City To Operate Plan Through Its Department

What started out as a peaceful St. Patrick's evening meeting of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors exploded into one of the hottest sessions in years.

The cause of the verbal fireworks was two-way radio for fire fighting equipment of the city and county and whether the operation of a central control station in Kingston would be authorized by the proper city officials.

Republican Majority Leader Kenneth Wilson of Woodstock started the ball rolling when he brought up the matter just before adjournment. Supervisor Wilson referred to the proposition of two-way radio for the fire fighting equipment, which has been before the board on several prior occasions, and stated that the matter was now before a committee of the board. He suggested that the matter be not "lost in the shuffle" but that before the matter was determined it might be advisable to ascertain whether the "city fathers" would be willing to have the system operated through the local fire station.

City Interested

The city of Kingston is vitally interested in the matter of two-way radio for fire equipment since the plan called for operation of the system through the Kingston department. He suggested that it be ascertained by the committee whether the Common Council or the fire commissioners would agree to operate the system if it is voted by the board. Wilson said the city of Kingston should indicate through some official who has the authority, that the city of Kingston would assume the burden of operating the system.

This touched off a long and heated debate in which several supervisors took part and finally Ulster County Fire Coordinator Arthur Chipp, who was outside talking to Chief Joseph L. Murphy, was called in to shed some light. Chipp referred to the cost of the equipment as given in estimates from radio companies and also to maintenance costs. Fire Chief Joseph Murphy responded to a second alarm and as questioned by several as to whether the city needed two way radio equipment and on various other matters, some of which were not

Will Join Other Relief Committee Heads at Dutch Embassy in Washington

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, Jack Feye and Harry Rigby, Jr., have been invited by Prince Bernhardt of the Netherlands to attend a reception at the Dutch Embassy in Washington, D. C., Tuesday afternoon, March 24, honoring communities throughout the United States which came to the aid of the flood-stricken country.

They will leave Tuesday morning, attend the reception which begins at 2 p. m. and will return to Kingston Wednesday.

Key members of flood disaster committees from all parts of the nation are expected to attend the reception and to receive the thanks of the Dutch government for transmittal to their fellow citizens at home.

Prince Will Attend

The sum of $5,242.52 was transmitted to Queen Juliana February 26 and since that time additional contributions of $30.50 have been received by the local committee, this amount being turned over to the flood relief committee operating in Hurley to be incorporated with their contribution. It was pointed out by the Kingston committee that "sentimentally this was a very appropriate way of disposing of the small balance, since ties have been so close between the Dutch towns of Kingston and Hurley for 300 years."

Feye served as chairman of the Kingston-Holland Flood Relief Committee and Mayor Newkirk as honorary chairman. Prince Bernhardt is expected to fly to Washington especially for the reception, it was said. The reception will be covered by a nationwide television and radio network, as well as newspaper and photo services.

Queen Is Grateful

Mayor Newkirk recently received the following letter from J. H. van Roijen, Dutch ambassador to the United States:

"On behalf of Her Majesty the Queen I want to transmit to you Her Majesty's expression of gratitude for the check of $5,242.52, representing contributions of the people of Kingston. Your generous gift will be used by Her Majesty

Check on U. S. Gold Shows All in Order

Washington, March 18 (AP)—An unprecedented check of the nation's gold and silver and coin has ended and, a treasury official said today, "everything is there."

That was a short report from Leland Howard, assistant director of the mint, on a big subject: nearly 23 billion dollars worth of gold at Fort Knox, Ky., and elsewhere, plus two billions worth of silver bullion and about 201 million dollars worth of coin not in circulation.

One shortage did turn up during an audit of the books of the former treasurer of the United States, a lady Democrat.

Don't look for a Congressional investigation, though.

The missing sum was only $10, the government got it back, and the rest of the $32,410,260,786.10-2/3 is right where the former treasurer, Mrs. Georgia Nesse Clark Gray, said it would be.

So the treasury is sending Mrs. Gray a receipt from her successor, Republican Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, and everybody is happy.

All this checkup was inspired by the recent change in administrations.

A committee appointed jointly by former Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder and new GOP Secretary Humphrey looked into accounting and guarding methods and found they included "every feasible safeguard." But it suggested that a new committee make spot checks of gold and silver and coin.

Everything There

Asked today whether the check had been completed and, if so, if anything had been found missing, Howard told a reporter:

"No, siree. Everything is there. The official report is being prepared and won't be out for some time, but it will show everything is where it should be."

And what about that $10?

Mrs. Gray disclosed the "shortage" in an interview.

She said it was discovered dur-

House Withstands Atomic Blast

Newsmen and civil defense observers look across the desert at House No. 2, located 1½ miles from the spot where an atomic explosion took place at the Atomic Proving Grounds, Nev. Crash of Two British Jets Mars Inspection for Tito

Duxford, England, March 18 (AP)—Two British jet fighters collided today before the horrified gaze of President Marshal Tito, killing both pilots.

Then the shaken Yugoslav leader, for the first time, saw and heard another jet crash the sound barrier.

Britain trotted out its hottest military aircraft for inspection by Tito, who is anxious to get similar planes for the Yugoslav Air Force.

The collision occurred during tight formation flying by Meteors Twenty-four jets in all were involved. As four of the Meteors were changing position one ran into the tail of another. The wreckage fell six miles away from this Royal Air Force airfield in Cambridgeshire.

When the Meteors returned to land, Tito saluted the planes in tribute to the dead pilots.

A RAF officer said that before the flying began Tito twice had asked to cancel the display because of the weather. After the crash he turned to Lord Tedder, marshal of the RAF, and said: "Please, do not have any more."

But squadron leader Neville Duke—one of Britain's hottest, best known pilots—already had taken up a gleaming Hawker Hunter into the heavy overcast.

Then Duke came roaring down. As his engines screamed he pushed past the speed of sound. Tito who had started for his car thinking the display was over stopped and looked up. Three sharp bangs and a whine signalled that Duke had broken the barrier again.

MalenkovAskedtoBeSincere AboutDesireforWorldPeace

United Nations, March 18 (AP)—The United States challenged Russia today to demonstrate in the current UN disarmament debate that Prime Minister Georgi M. Malenkov sincerely wants to settle world problems peacefully.

The challenge was made by U. S. Delegate Ernest A. Gross, who led off the disarmament discussions in the general assembly's 60-nation political committee. As he spoke, Soviet Delegate Georgi N. Zarubin listened intently.

At the outset, Gross said Soviet leaders have talked much about peace in the past few days. He added:

"I hope Prime Minister Malenkov's use of the word 'peace' is the same as the word is understood by the rest of the world."

At any rate, he said, if the Russians are sincere one of the first places they can show it is on the question of disarmament. He called on them for some indication that they are now ready to negotiate in good faith.

Gross put two questions to Zarubin:

1. Is this the time when the Soviet government is willnig to discuss constructively the question of disarmament?

2. Is this the forum where the Soviet representative will negotiate with his colleagues on the question?

He said he was not demanding a quick answer.

Wins House Approval

London, March 18 (AP) — The Conservative government's bill to repeal the previous Labor regime's nationalization of the steel industry won House of Commons approval last night and was sent to the House of Lords for final action. Little effective opposition was expected in that predominantly-Conservative body. Commons voted the legislation authorizing Prime Minister Churchill's government to auction off the vast industry after April 5. A bill restoring the trucking industry to private ownership also has been approved by Commons and is awaiting final action from the Lords.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

We are all receiving lessons in history as one writer after another attempts to relate the course of past dictatorships to the present situation in Russia.

However, the great difficulty in comparing past revolutionary movements and dictatorial regimes is that of "time." When we read history we gloss over decades, even centuries, as if they were weeks and months.

I think perhaps the most common view about the Russian enigma is that it will break up and from the shattering pieces revolts will take form. Further, that from these revolts somehow the Russian problem will be resolved.

The Ruminator would not venture to contradict such views, because he has not the vaguest notion of what actually will transpire in Russia.

Nevertheless, the Ruminator does think it is logical to emphasize the time element.

The new Russian regime, headed by Georgi Malenkov—and with Molotov, Beria, and Bulganin in intimate alliance—is a succession of power handed down by Stalin with three and one-half decades (35 years) of organizational effort behind it.

Is is logical to assume (wishfully) that a system as securely intrenched as this is likely to break up overnight? Or is likely to break up in a year?

Consider the police net-work headed by Beria, for instance. It has reached into every corner of the vast Communist world, and indeed into the underground of the so-called "free" world. So long as Beria is a member of the top ruling group, who is likely (in a short time) to rise up as a new leader of this army of thoroughly schooled and indoctrinated "policemen?" And is there any reason to suppose that Beria will be discontented immediately—or soon—with his position as a member of the Central Committee, even if he is not Number One? He is known to have worked close to Malenkov for the past several years. While he may have leadership ideas, he knows from the long 35 years of Stalin's period of power that the system cannot be overturned in a moment.

Molotov is the most experienced of all the present occupants of the top spots. He has been at Stalin's side through the purges and the wars. He has seen revolts put down and minor leaders liquidated. He is not young; is in his sixties. With his background of terror and experience, and considering his age and his knowledge of Communist affairs, should we assume that Vyacheslav Molotov intends shortly to undermine Malenkov and try to grasp the premiership? What advantage would it be to him, at his time of life? Why isn't it more advantageous for Molotov to "sit it out" and be ready to jump (if it should become necessary) with any new aspirant to headship when the killings are over? Here again the Ruminator fails to see any overnight development.

Turning to Nicolai Bulganin we do run into a question mark, I should guess. He is now in fourth place, as far as we can estimate the current set-up. Also, he is the boss of the army. History indicates that to be successful a revolutionist must have the army on his side. So perhaps as a long-run "wish" there is some slight reason to speculate on Bulganin's future scheming. But scheming and planning coup d'etats in any such intrenched empire as the present Soviet Union will require extraordinary leadership and underground organization. Bulganin wouldn't get to first base in an impetuous attempt. He'd lose his own head before he got well started. Beria, the policeman, has ears and eyes in every army camp, and on every submarine.

The only purpose in ruminating this way about Russia is to keep from wishful thinking that will prove to be erroneous and upsetting to your other calculations.

It is pleasant to think of the $35 or $40 billions of taxes which might be saved, if Russia were to collapse as an enemy of the "west." But contrarily it might be more prudent to consider that the new regime in Russia is likely to cost us more money, not less. Over a week ago the Ruminator wrote that in all probability the cold war would increase with frigid intensity. Within days we learned of the American and British planes that were shot down (and perhaps other "incidents" will occur before you read this).

Let's be realistic about the outlook and recognize that we are face to face with a great menace. We're without plans to meet it, because it is unpredictable.

Has Birthday Party

Tillson, March 17 — Mrs. John Schultz entertained Saturday afternoon in honor of her daughter Susan's fifth birthday. Decorations were in pink and blue, with a circus theme. Games were played and refreshments served.

Children present were Diana Bagley, James Rich, Merri Ann Motzer, John Motzer, Linda Wright, Mary Krajewski, Sally Ann Goss, Maureen Born, Cheryl Phillips, Sandra Phillips, John Rowe, Ronald Wilson, David Taylor, Marilyn Harvey, Patricia Hoffman, Gary Sutherland, and Doreen, Debbie and Denise Kraemer.

Also attending were Miss Ann Schultz, Miss Lynne Taylor, Miss Joan Schultz and the Mmes. George Taylor, Frank Rowe, Peter Hoffman, Jr., Walter Born, Hollis Harvey and Charles Goss.

4-H Party Planned

Tillson, March 17—A progressive pinochle card party will be held at the Tillson School Saturday evening, March 21, sponsored by the Boy's 4-H Club. Prizes, including a special door prize, will be awarded, and refreshments served.

4-H to Participate In Demonstrations

Tillson, March 17—A number of boys and girls from the local 4-H Club will attend and participate in a county-wide demonstration day to be held at the Kingston vocational school Saturday, March 21. From the boys 4-H Club the following members of the Busy Beavers will give demonstrations: Frank Rowe, who will demonstrate how to test seeds, Michael McKilligan who will explain how to properly sharpen a hoe, and Kenneth Osterhoudt, who will demonstrate how to build birdhouses.

The following girls, members of the Jolly Homemakers, will attend: Katie Rich, who will demonstrate how to bake apples, Sandra Phillips, who will explain how to make muffins, Peggy McKilligan, who will demonstrate how to bake biscuits, and Patricia McKilligan, who will demonstrate preparing a vegetable plate.

The 4-H Club members are directed by Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Phillips.

Village Notes

Tillson, March 17—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shultis of Bearsville visited Mr. and Mrs. Roy Van Keuren and family over the week-end.

Cleveland was the only President of the United States who was defeated for re-election and then re-elected at a subsequent election.

Transports Due From East

San Francisco, March 18 (AP)—Two transports from the Far East arrive today with more than 6,300 servicemen. The Gen. M. C. Meigs is bringing 4,379 Korean veterans —4,106 army men, 269 marines and four navy personnel. The General Mann is carrying 1,716 servicemen from duty in Japan. Aboard are 999 air force men, 442 army men, 270 navy personnel, four marines and 209 civilian dependents. A third transport, the President Jackson, was due from Hawaii with 336 servicemen and dependents.

Choctaws Asking Whether U. S. Likes Railroads Better

Meridian, Miss., March 18 (AP)—The Choctaw Indians want to know if the U. S. government likes them or the railroads better.

Going into what may be the last day of a hearing on their big claim of 209 million dollars against the white man, the Indians here are still miffed at the disclosure yesterday that the government gave railroads nearly one-third of a million acres of Mississippi land.

And at the same time it was telling the Choctaws "we don't have any for you," the Indians' lawyers say.

Hearing the testimony about the white man made in his many land treaties is the Indian Claims Commission.

When the hearing closes tonight or tomorrow the commission will take the record of testimony to Washington and at some future date turn its findings over to Congress.

The big Choctaw claim is based on articles of treaties promising them land in Oklahoma for their land in Mississippi which they say the white man reneged on.

Railroads Get Lands

Lawyers for the Indians introduced Mississippi records yesterday showing that railroads were granted more than 300,000 acres in the state at the same time Indians were denied hunting grounds for themselves.

Next to General Custer, one of the bravest white men ever to face a band of Indians is Curtis Shears, justice department attorney.

As the only man in the courtroom fighting the Choctaw claim he has become a palefaced symbol of the barrier between them and $209 million.

Shears say the white taxpayers gave the Choctaw's forefathers nearly $3 million in settlement of claims.

Get Dismissal Notes

Washington, March 18 (AP)—Dismissal notices in substantial numbers are fluttering down this week on the desks of Justice Department attorneys who are holdovers from the Truman administration. Just how many has not been established. Department officials decline to discuss the matter. All available information comes from those receiving pink slips, or their friends. Those principally affected are attorneys not in the civil service system. There are several hundred such men in the department.

THOUGHTS at 4 A.M.

It's four o'clock in the morning, and all the world's asleep.

But one man's head shifts upon his pillow. He looks again at the green-glow of the dial on his alarm clock. He hears the plaintive whistle of a train somewhere in the distance, and the murmur of the wind in the trees. They seem to echo his thoughts.

The thoughts that will not let him sleep.

"What will happen to Janie and the children if anything happens to me? How can I be sure they'll be secure?"

His mind flashes back to the terrifying moment a week ago when a truck shot out of a side road without warning. If he hadn't been able to swerve his car just in the nick of time . . . what then?

He recalls friends he'd known and newspaper stories he'd read—and all the things that had happened to other people. Things that could have happened to him.

"Am I getting morbid," he wonders, "...or am I being realistic? At any rate, it's high time I stopped just thinking about my family's future and started doing something about it....."

What can he do?

That's entirely up to him . . . his personal decision.

But there are millions of family men among the 5,500,000 members of The Equitable Life Assurance Society who have faced this same problem...and who have done something about it!

They realize that regardless of inflation or deflation, war or peace, fire or flood . . . life insurance is every man's "best buy."

They also realize that the dollars they pay in premiums for their life insurance do more than just provide protection for their families . . . because these same premium-dollars contribute in large measure to the overall security of their country.

While earning interest for the members of The Society, these premium-dollars build railroads and factories, finance homes, participate in a score of industries, help maintain millions of people on payrolls, contribute materially to the highest living standards known to man.

Whether you are interested in figures or not, The Equitable's 1952 financial statement testifies to America's faith in life insurance as the basic means of providing for one's family and for one's self...protection that lets a man sleep soundly at 4 A.M.—or any hour—365 nights a year.

So...to the man in the picture above we say, "To be sure your family will be secure, call your Equitable representative today. He is as close as your telephone."

EASTER SEALS

This year as in many years in the past, between now and Easter Sunday, two and a half million people living in New York State will receive a letter containing a sheet of Easter Seals and an appeal for a contribution to one of the oldest voluntary agencies in this state—The New York State Association for Crippled Children—the New York State Easter Seal Society.

Funds solicited by the Easter Seal Society in this state maintain in part or in full twenty service projects and rehabilitation centers in the state—last year Easter Seals made possible treatment and training for more than 10,000 handicapped children and adults. Easter Seal contributions made possible 27,543 physical therapy treatments, 16,034 speech therapy sessions, 3,002 medical examinations, and 1,901 functional therapy sessions.

The New York State Easter Seal Society deserves your support, not only because of its program, but because it is truly a community effort. Its fund raising is done through small donations to Easter Seals. It has no high-pressure door-to-door solicitation, large corporate gifts, or inplant fund drives. Moreover a large proportion of the funds received in any community directly benefit handicapped persons in that community.

Those who have already received their Easter Seals should read again the treatment figures that last year's contributions made possible, for each and every one of us will want to have a share in making these figures grow through our contributions to the 1953 Easter Seal appeal.

MAO AND MALENKOV

Will China continue to cooperate with the Soviet Union now that Stalin is dead and power in Russia has fallen into new hands? There are many who believe that Tao Tze-tung sees himself as the successor to Stalin's position as high priest of international communism. It may be that he will resent accepting orders or interpretation of Marxist doctrine from Malenkov.

China has fared badly in the Korean fighting. Instead of the promised internal reforms the impoverished people of China have had to assume the additional burden of a war which has proved costly in men and materials. At the same time Russia has gained a great advantage from the war in Korea without risking much of anything.

There was a time when leaders of the satellites would have feared to think of disobeying a directive from Moscow. But Tito set a precedent when he not only defied Stalin but managed to get away with it and grew stronger in the bargain.

Mao Tze-tung may cling to his alliance with Russia. If he does he will undoubtedly demand more from the Russians in return. His own personal ambition and egotism may eventually lead him into a conflict with the new leader of Russia. If Russia were to lose China it would spell the beginning of the end of the Communist dream of empire.

The most stylish women's clothes may be designed in Europe but only American pocketbooks are capable of paying for them.

HEAVY OBLIGATION

In a recent speech, J. C. Penney said: "In a free nation, where the individual is of first importance, that importance carries with it a heavy obligation. He must be worthy of the trust, by being a responsible citizen, by dealing reasonably and fairly with his fellow men. The free choices he makes cannot be jungle choices—they must be based upon the Golden Rule. He must do unto others as he expects to be dealt with by them. This is a stern discipline, but on it depends his survival as a free human being. And on him and his fellow Americans ultimately depends the survival of this country. Every man who fails, even in little things, may be responsible for the loss, to every man, woman and child in it, of the priceless gift of liberty."

Freedom is not a right. It must be earned, nourished, protected. Whether we shall have it or lose it will depend on our character as a nation—which is simply the sum total of our characters as individuals.

'These Days'

A MIXED-UP BOOK

For a year or more I have been planning to write about a mixed-up book, "The Iron Curtain Over America," by Professor John Beaty, but I never got around to it, what with one thing or another. This book is having a widespread circulation, some organization sending out free copies of which I got several.

I received from James W. Fifield, Jr., pastor of the First Congregational Church of Los Angeles and founder of Spiritual Mobilization, a pamphlet attacking this book, written by V. Orval Watts for the publication, "Faith and Freedom."

It is impossible to read Professor John Beaty's book without reaching the conclusion that the professor seeks to prove that Communism is a Jewish movement. He develops a theory about "Judaized Khazars" for which there is no historical basis. The Khazars were a Turkish people, small in number, who were converted to Judaism in the 9th century and who were absorbed among the Jewish, Turkish and Russian peoples and disappeared from history by the end of the 11th century.

Mr. Watts calls attention to Professor Beaty's carelessness in citing his authorities. He says:

"At the outset a critical reader may note that the author sometimes gives references for trifling details, while he makes many highly important allegations without a scrap of supporting evidence or documentation."

Professor Beaty makes a violent attack on the Babylonian Talmud, which is an encyclopedia of huge dimensions that has only recently appeared in full English translation. I have found, over the years, that many who quote from it have never read it either in the original or in translation but have seen some excerpts. It is a difficult task to read the Talmud because it is prepared in scholastic manner, giving the pros and cons on many questions, the wrong point of view being set up with the object of having it knocked down.

The Talmud also contains history, science, genealogy, anthropology, myths, fiction, folklore and adages. One can find in it both sides of most questions and some arguments to uphold each side. Such persons as John Beaty and Elizabeth Dilling issue pronouncements on this great work without proper preparation.

After the fall of the temple in Jerusalem in 70 A.D., many Jewish scholars and rabbis settled in Babylonia where academies already existed for the study of the law. The academies at Sura and Pumbedita achieved the greatest distinction.

Professor George Foot Moore, at one time professor of the History of Religion in Harvard University, who, although a Christian, was, in his day, one of the world's greatest authorities on the Jews, wrote:

"It is proper to say that the Talmud is one of the books of which even the best translation is in large part to be understood only with the aid of the original and of the Hebrew commentaries."

With regard to the Jews, Professor Moore wrote:

"Of all the religions which at the beginning of the Christian era flourished in the Roman and Parathian empires Judaism alone has survived, and it survived because it succeeded in achieving a unity of belief and observance among Jews in all their wide dispersion then and since. . . ."

It was because of the existence of the Talmud that such uniformity could be achieved. Professor Moore has stated the essence of the Jewish faith in one concise paragraph which I quote herewith:

"The foundation of Judaism is the belief that religion is revealed. What man is to believe concerning God and what duty God requires of man, he has made known in one form or another by revelation. Specific commandments had been given to Adam, Noah, Abraham, and Jacob; to Moses the complete revelation was given once for all. The prophets who came after him repeated, explained, emphasized, applied, what was revealed to Moses; they added nothing to it. The revelation to Moses was in part embodied in writing in the Pentateuch, in part transmitted orally from generation to generation in unbroken succession down to the schools of the law in which tradition was defined, formulated, and systematized. The whole of religion was revealed—'nothing was kept back in heaven'—and the whole content of revelation was religion."

In the present confusion in this world of ours, we need to try to find some clarity, particularly in defining our terms. Otherwise, we strengthen the enemy of all of us.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

NEW OPERATION FOR FUNNEL CHEST

I have written before about the deformity known as funnel chest (pectus excavatum) in which the sternum (breast bone) is sunken, leaving a funnel-shaped hollow in the middle of the chest. When the child is quite young, exercises such as hanging on a bar with hands will flatten chest; breathing exercises lying flat on back may stretch the sides of chest apart and deformity becomes much less. Unfortunately, exercise cannot correct the deformity after the age of 18 to 24 months.

In the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. James E. Darley, Houston, Texas, states that children should not be allowed to grow up with this deformity, quoting articles by Drs. A. Lincoln Brown and Orrin Cook who described three groups of symptoms arising from funnel chest. (1) Heart symptoms such as rapid heart beat (tachycardia), disturbance of rhythm of heart action, pain under breastbone, and breathlessness which occurs late in the course of the disease; (2) respiratory (breathing) symptoms which are present at every age; and (3) psychological symptoms (inferiority complex) which are noted in teen agers.

As the operations of previous years have not given satisfactory results, the funnel chest sometimes returning, Dr. Darley describes a new method or technique to repair funnel chest. This method consists of the removal of the deformed cartilages (the strong, hard connective tissue attaching the breastbone to the ribs), raising the breastbone, and holding it in position by means of a portion of a rib and its covering placed beneath the breastbone as a strut. This method is used in adults or persons who have attained complete or almost complete growth with fixation of the bone. This operation was devised and performed on a 13-year-old girl in 1948, following discussions with Dr. C. W. Lester and R. A. Dorner, and co-workers. Since then Dr. Herbert D. Adams has described valuable modifications of this technique in Surgical Practices of the Lahey Clinic, 1951.

It will be of interest to all orthopedic surgeons and to parents to learn of this new method of lifting the sternum up into its proper position and then supporting it with a "strut" of living bone and cartilage.

"Evidence is shown that a graft of a rib with its covering used to bridge a wide gap remained completely fused to adjoining bones and functioning after four years with no loss of structure or change. This might suggest the use of such a graft in other orthopedic or plastic procedures where bridging a gap is necessary."

Parents should take note that funnel chest can be helped by corrective exercise and splints up to the age of 18 to 24 monts, after which operation becomes necessary.

Building Up to Another Korea?

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—Six weeks' experience as bureaucrats has been a liberal education for the big businessmen who are now working for Uncle Sam for the first time—full time and at government salaries.

One thing that has impressed them most is the relation of foreign policy to what goes on in this country. When Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson goes to Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey and says that the armed services will have to have so many billions of dollars, that fact determines a lot of things.

It determines what the tax rate of the United States will be. It determines how much of America's supply of raw materials will be chewed up in manufacture of arms. And it determines how many men will work in the factories of Pittsburgh, Cleveland or Detroit—and what it is they will be making for a considerable period of time.

From the point of view of the business executive in government, the United States now faces two main problems.

In front of them, the people of the civilized western world have the threat of enemies with knives at their throats. Something must be done to ward off this attack.

This means spending more than the western countries can afford for national defense. If this money is spent, and, by higher taxation and borrowing, the economy of the non-Communist world is ruined, affairs may be no better off than they would be if the men with the knives were allowed to attack.

Prolonged Defense Posture

So a decision has to be made on what course to follow. How much of a strain can the economy of the United States stand? It has stood the strain of heavy taxation for defense in the last two years very well. It could stand this strain for a few more years without undue hardship on anyone.

But if this defense posture has to be maintained for 25 years or so, what will be left?

The inflation that invariably accompanies a period of rearmament and war is sized up as an extremely dangerous thing. It begins easy, and everybody likes it. But it always gets worse and it leads to the eventual ruin of many people.

This has led President Eisenhower's administration to the conclusion that the federal government budget must be balanced, and a start must be made on reduction of the $260 billion government debt.

It is now realized this isn't going to be easy. It is going to mean sacrifices for everyone. The frills and luxuries of government operation which everyone has become accustomed to will have to be curtailed.

Most Popular Course

The best thing to do—that is, the most popular—is not necessarily the wisest thing to do for the long haul. For the future course of government operations it raises the possibility that all-out social security programs and 100 per cent government parity payments for farmers—while nice and no doubt desirable—may have to be postponed.

There are no firm decisions on these matters or any of the other 64-billion-dollars worth of questions that still face the Eisenhower administration. The new leaders say frankly that they don't know the answers, yet.

May 1 now appears the closest date on which some of the answers may be expected. Revised estimates on the Truman budget for the next fiscal year won't be ready till some time in April. The North Atlantic Treaty Council meets at the end of April, and the foreign aid program can't be sized up till then.

For Congress this poses a terrific problem. It means that the Eisenhower fiscal program for next year must be enacted in two months, if Congress carries out its plan to adjourn by July 1. That would mean putting off the constructive part of the Eisenhower program for a second session of Congress next fall. And few big decisions before the end of the year.

The Habitable Rock

A hollow rock on Mount Cacallo in Ajaccio, Corsica, has been made habitable by outfitting it with doors and windows. Ajaccio is the native town of Napoleon I who as a 9-year-old boy once took refuge in the hollow rock during a rainstorm. After he became emperor the city authorities of Ajaccio deeded it to him. He is still the owner of record, although he never returned there.

Western Leaders Seen as Dupes by Malenkov's Dramatic Peace Bluff Attempt

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 18 — Premier Malenkov is engaged in a dramatic attempt to outsmart the leaders of the West.

By shooting down allied planes the Soviet ruler warns the non-Communist world that they must not tread on his toes—and they get scared and pull back. Orders, for example, have been issued by the British to keep their air units at least 30 miles away from the Soviet zone line.

Coincidentally, Malenkov says in his inaugural address at Moscow that all "troublesome questions (with the West) may be resolved by peaceful negotiations."

Why should Malenkov make any such statement if it is not that he feels the Soviet people fear a big war and need some reassurance?

News, of course, of how Malenkov acts tough and warlike by shooting down allied planes is surpressed inside Russia or minimized to give the impression of border incidents in which allied airmen have strayed across the boundries.

If Malenkov really wants to start a peace move with the West, he doesn't have to announce it from the housetops. He has ambassadors in London and Washington, and the free governments have ambassadors in Moscow.

But there was a propaganda value in broadcasting to the West that "peaceful negotiations" could ensue. It was promptly seized upon by influential elements in the free countries as a sign that peace is just around the corner and as something new. Again and again, such peace gestures have been proved transparently empty, but the "peace at any price" sentiment in the allied countries nevertheless is so strong that anything said by Moscow about "peaceful intent" is grasped in desperation by the West—as if it would help to reduce taxes immediately because an armament buildup would presumably be less necessary.

These tactics have worked before under Stalin and are being continued under Malenkov because the West is easily duped by them.

Publicly, of course, American and European officials vehemently deny that they are being misled by Moscow. They insist, to be sure, that deeds, not words, must be manifested. But the net effect nevertheless is to stimulate the assumption that Soviet Russia has no hostile intent and that it is safe to let the Korean War drag on without result and to do nothing that might offend the Communist temperament.

No better illustration of this could be cited than what has just happened in the Senate, where two prominent Republican Senators expressed different views on what ought to be done.

Sen. Knowland, of California, chairman of the Republican Policy Committee—but who said he was speaking only for himself—advocated that the United Nations should declare Soviet Russia a supporter of aggression and "a violator of the charter of the UN." The California Senator urged that all nations which had extended diplomatic recognition to Red China should withdraw it. He said that it is time for the free nations of the world "to stand up and be counted, come what may." He demanded that a naval blockade of Red China be ordered by the UN.

But Sen. Cooper, R. Ky., who was a member of the United States delegation to the United Nations as an appointee of the Truman administration, declared that the course Sen. Knowland had advocated would sound the "death knell of any possibility of peaceful settlement with the Russians." He said, also that the Knowland proposals "would really lead to outright war with Russia," but later changed the world "would" to "could."

Sen. Sparkman, of Alabama, vice-presidential nominee on the Democratic ticket in the last campaign, said of Sen. Knowland's plan to brand Russia as an aggressor:

"It might be well to wait and see before doing anything to push that right now."

The wait-and-see attitude fits in with Malenkov strategy. He dangles hopes of peace so as to retard rearmament by the West and to prevent, if possible, the European defense army from being organized. His own people are fearful of war, so he calms them by saying all questions with the United States can be settled by peaceful means. Meanwhile, the Soviet representative in the UN has brazenly told the Assembly that Soviet Russia is supplying arms and ammunition to the Chinese Communist armies in Korea to kill American boys. Yet there are Senators who are afraid to ask the UN to expel a member nation which is sending arms and supplies to kill and wound the troops of the United Nations fighting in Korea. Small wonder that Malenkov, like Stalin, holds the initiative in the world today. The Malenkov bluff is merely continuing the Stalin bluff.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Solely for the journalistic purpose of proving that Drew Pearson advocated an officer's commission in our army for John Gates, who is now in prison for trying to overthrow the government of this nation, I present verified facts.

During the war Pearson used his "column," and some publishers permitted him to impose on their local readers, to demand commissions for many Communists without disclosing the fact that they were Communists. I could prove numerous instances but I will confine this piece to the Gates case because Gates was, at the time of the long and exhausting trial before Judge Medina in New York, the absolute toy man in the Communist conspiracy in the United States.

On April 14, 1943, the Washington Post published Pearson's column including the following:

"Approximately one year ago, John Gates, a Lieut-Col. of the Fifteenth International Brigade in Spain, enlisted in the United States Army. In Spain, Vincent Sheean and Herbert Matthews of the New York Times cabled back dispatches on his bravery. In the United States Army, he joined the 59th Armbored Artillery Battalion, Camp Chaffee, Ark., where he became a sergeant. Then, as his unit was about to go overseas, his commander received a telegram from the adjutant general in Washington, ordering Gates transferred to a service unit—which means no combat service throughout the war.

"No explanation was given. Two lieutenant-colonels thought so much of Gates that they intervened. But nothing happened. There was only mysterious silence in Washington. Finally Gates sent a letter to President Roosevelt.

" 'There is no greater honor,' he wrote, 'than to fight for one's country. Am I so base that I should be denied that right? What better way to prove one's loyalty than on the field of battle?

" 'I am supremely confident that if the board of officers were to review the case, or a special investigating officer appoined, the recommendation would be to return to my former unit. Our men are fighting gloriously in Africa and the Pacific. I only ask to take my place alongside them.'

"But the letter got no further than the War Department. No Board of Review was appointed. Apparently Gates had committed the unforgivable crime of fighting for Loyalist Spain.

"This is only one of many cases."

Pearson went on to deal in particular with other cases but without the slightest intimation to the client editors who trusted him as an honest correspondent that he was pleading for commissions for men committed to a shooting revolution against the government of the United States.

After the dismissal of Earl Browder by orders from the Kremlin, Gates had become one of the supreme Communist authorities in the United States. When the historic trial of the top batch of eleven Communist leaders began in New York, Gates was the editor of the Daily Worker. All eleven were sentenced to prison. Gates got five years for "advocating and conspiring to advocate the overthrow of the United States government by force and violence." In the trial he said he would never fight for the United States against Russia.

The importance which the Communists placed on penetration of the American fighting forces is disclosed in testimony given by Paul Crouch, a reformed Communist, to the House Committee on Un-American Activities on May 6, 1949.

Crouch had served as head of a Communist party department "for the armed forces" and, in that role, had received instructions from Moscow to organize nuclei of Communists in our armed forces so as to exploit petty grievances and create conflicts between enlisted men and officers. He said a cell on the battleship Oklahoma in 1929 and 1930 had seven or eight members. The instructions were that Communists in the army should "strengthen their personal influence by building organizations of

For a year or more I have been planning to write about a mixed-up book, "The Iron Curtain Over America," by Professor John Beaty, but I never got around to it, what with one thing or another. This book is having a widespread circulation, some organization sending out free copies of which I got several.

I received from James W. Fifield, Jr., pastor of the First Congregational Church of Los Angeles and founder of Spiritual Mobilization, a pamphlet attacking this book, written by V. Orval Watts for the publication, "Faith and Freedom."

It is impossible to read Professor John Beaty's book without reaching the conclusion that the professor seeks to prove that Communism is a Jewish movement. He develops a theory about "Judaized Khazars" for which there is no historical basis. The Khazars were a Turkish people, small in number, who were converted to Judaism in the 9th century and who were absorbed among the Jewish, Turkish and Russian peoples and disappeared from history by the end of the 11th century.

Mr. Watts calls attention to Professor Beaty's carelessness in citing his authorities. He says:

"At the outset a critical reader may note that the author sometimes gives references for trifling details, while he makes many highly important allegations without a scrap of supporting evidence or documentation."

Professor Beaty makes a violent attack on the Babylonian Talmud, which is an encyclopedia of huge dimensions that has only recently appeared in full English translation. I have found, over the years, that many who quote from it have never read it either in the original or in translation but have seen some excerpts. It is a difficult task to read the Talmud because it is prepared in scholastic manner, giving the pros and cons on many questions, the wrong point of view being set up with the object of having it knocked down.

The Talmud also contains history, science, genealogy, anthropology, myths, fiction, folklore and adages. One can find in it both sides of most questions and some arguments to uphold each side. Such persons as John Beaty and Elizabeth Dilling issue pronouncements on this great work without proper preparation.

After the fall of the temple in Jerusalem in 70 A.D., many Jewish scholars and rabbis settled in Babylonia where academies already existed for the study of the law. The academies at Sura and Pumbedita achieved the greatest distinction.

Professor George Foot Moore, at one time professor of the History of Religion in Harvard University, who, although a Christian, was, in his day, one of the world's greatest authorities on the Jews, wrote:

"It is proper to say that the Talmud is one of the books of which even the best translation is in large part to be understood only with the aid of the original and of the Hebrew commentaries."

With regard to the Jews, Professor Moore wrote:

"Of all the religions which at the beginning of the Christian era flourished in the Roman and Parathian empires Judaism alone has survived, and it survived because it succeeded in achieving a unity of belief and observance among Jews in all their wide dispersion then and since. . . ."

It was because of the existence of the Talmud that such uniformity could be achieved. Professor Moore has stated the essence of the Jewish faith in one concise paragraph which I quote herewith:

"The foundation of Judaism is the belief that religion is revealed. What man is to believe concerning God and what duty God requires of man, he has made known in one form or another by revelation. Specific commandments had been given to Adam, Noah, Abraham, and Jacob; to Moses the complete revelation was given once for all. The prophets who came after him repeated, explained, emphasized, applied, what was revealed to Moses; they added nothing to it. The revelation to Moses was in part embodied in writing in the Pentateuch, in part transmitted orally from generation to generation in unbroken succession down to the schools of the law in which tradition was defined, formulated, and systematized. The whole of religion was revealed—'nothing was kept back in heaven'—and the whole content of revelation was religion."

In the present confusion in this world of ours, we need to try to find some clarity, particularly in defining our terms. Otherwise, we strengthen the enemy of all of us.

That Body of Yours

NEW OPERATION FOR FUNNEL CHEST

I have written before about the deformity known as funnel chest (pectus excavatum) in which the sternum (breast bone) is sunken, leaving a funnel-shaped hollow in the middle of the chest. When the child is quite young, exercises such as hanging on a bar with hands will flatten chest; breathing exercises lying flat on back may stretch the sides of chest apart and deformity becomes much less. Unfortunately, exercise cannot correct the deformity after the age of 18 to 24 months.

In the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. James E. Darley, Houston, Texas, states that children should not be allowed to grow up with this deformity, quoting articles by Drs. A. Lincoln Brown and Orrin Cook who described three groups of symptoms arising from funnel chest. (1) Heart symptoms such as rapid heart beat (tachycardia), disturbance of rhythm of heart action, pain under breastbone, and breathlessness which occurs late in the course of the disease; (2) respiratory (breathing) symptoms which are present at every age; and (3) psychological symptoms (inferiority complex) which are noted in teen agers.

As the operations of previous years have not given satisfactory results, the funnel chest sometimes returning, Dr. Darley describes a new method or technique to repair funnel chest. This method consists of the removal of the deformed cartilages (the strong, hard connective tissue attaching the breastbone to the ribs), raising the breastbone, and holding it in position by means of a portion of a rib and its covering placed beneath the breastbone as a strut. This method is used in adults or persons who have attained complete or almost complete growth with fixation of the bone. This operation was devised and performed on a 13-year-old girl in 1948, following discussions with Dr. C. W. Lester and R. A. Dorner, and co-workers. Since then Dr. Herbert D. Adams has described valuable modifications of this technique in Surgical Practices of the Lahey Clinic, 1951.

It will be of interest to all orthopedic surgeons and to parents to learn of this new method of lifting the sternum up into its proper position and then supporting it with a "strut" of living bone and cartilage.

"Evidence is shown that a graft of a rib with its covering used to bridge a wide gap remained completely fused to adjoining bones and functioning after four years with no loss of structure or change. This might suggest the use of such a graft in other orthopedic or plastic procedures where bridging a gap is necessary."

Parents should take note that funnel chest can be helped by corrective exercise and splints up to the age of 18 to 24 monts, after which operation becomes necessary.

Building Up to Another Korea?

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—Six weeks' experience as bureaucrats has been a liberal education for the big businessmen who are now working for Uncle Sam for the first time—full time and at government salaries.

One thing that has impressed them most is the relation of foreign policy to what goes on in this country. When Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson goes to Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey and says that the armed services will have to have so many billions of dollars, that fact determines a lot of things.

It determines what the tax rate of the United States will be. It determines how much of America's supply of raw materials will be chewed up in manufacture of arms. And it determines how many men will work in the factories of Pittsburgh, Cleveland or Detroit—and what it is they will be making for a considerable period of time.

From the point of view of the business executive in government, the United States now faces two main problems.

In front of them, the people of the civilized western world have the threat of enemies with knives at their throats. Something must be done to ward off this attack.

This means spending more than the western countries can afford for national defense. If this money is spent, and, by higher taxation and borrowing, the economy of the non-Communist world is ruined, affairs may be no better off than they would be if the men with the knives were allowed to attack.

Prolonged Defense Posture

So a decision has to be made on what course to follow. How much of a strain can the economy of the United States stand? It has stood the strain of heavy taxation for defense in the last two years very well. It could stand this strain for a few more years without undue hardship on anyone.

But if this defense posture has to be maintained for 25 years or so, what will be left?

The inflation that invariably accompanies a period of rearmament and war is sized up as an extremely dangerous thing. It begins easy, and everybody likes it. But it always gets worse and it leads to the eventual ruin of many people.

This has led President Eisenhower's administration to the conclusion that the federal government budget must be balanced, and a start must be made on reduction of the $260 billion government debt.

It is now realized this isn't going to be easy. It is going to mean sacrifices for everyone. The frills and luxuries of government operation which everyone has become accustomed to will have to be curtailed.

Most Popular Course

The best thing to do—that is, the most popular—is not necessarily the wisest thing to do for the long haul. For the future course of government operations it raises the possibility that all-out social security programs and 100 per cent government parity payments for farmers—while nice and no doubt desirable—may have to be postponed.

There are no firm decisions on these matters or any of the other 64-billion-dollars worth of questions that still face the Eisenhower administration. The new leaders say frankly that they don't know the answers, yet.

May 1 now appears the closest date on which some of the answers may be expected. Revised estimates on the Truman budget for the next fiscal year won't be ready till some time in April. The North Atlantic Treaty Council meets at the end of April, and the foreign aid program can't be sized up till then.

For Congress this poses a terrific problem. It means that the Eisenhower fiscal program for next year must be enacted in two months, if Congress carries out its plan to adjourn by July 1. That would mean putting off the constructive part of the Eisenhower program for a second session of Congress next fall. And few big decisions before the end of the year.

Western Leaders Seen as Dupes by Malenkov's Dramatic Peace Bluff Attempt

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 18 — Premier Malenkov is engaged in a dramatic attempt to outsmart the leaders of the West.

By shooting down allied planes the Soviet ruler warns the non-Communist world that they must not tread on his toes—and they get scared and pull back. Orders, for example, have been issued by the British to keep their air units at least 30 miles away from the Soviet zone line.

Coincidentally, Malenkov says in his inaugural address at Moscow that all "troublesome questions (with the West) may be resolved by peaceful negotiations."

Why should Malenkov make any such statement if it is not that he feels the Soviet people fear a big war and need some reassurance?

News, of course, of how Malenkov acts tough and warlike by shooting down allied planes is surpressed inside Russia or minimized to give the impression of border incidents in which allied airmen have strayed across the boundries.

If Malenkov really wants to start a peace move with the West, he doesn't have to announce it from the housetops. He has ambassadors in London and Washington, and the free governments have ambassadors in Moscow.

But there was a propaganda value in broadcasting to the West that "peaceful negotiations" could ensue. It was promptly seized upon by influential elements in the free countries as a sign that peace is just around the corner and as something new. Again and again, such peace gestures have been proved transparently empty, but the "peace at any price" sentiment in the allied countries nevertheless is so strong that anything said by Moscow about "peaceful intent" is grasped in desperation by the West—as if it would help to reduce taxes immediately because an armament buildup would presumably be less necessary.

These tactics have worked before under Stalin and are being continued under Malenkov because the West is easily duped by them.

Publicly, of course, American and European officials vehemently deny that they are being misled by Moscow. They insist, to be sure, that deeds, not words, must be manifested. But the net effect nevertheless is to stimulate the assumption that Soviet Russia has no hostile intent and that it is safe to let the Korean War drag on without result and to do nothing that might offend the Communist temperament.

No better illustration of this could be cited than what has just happened in the Senate, where two prominent Republican Senators expressed different views on what ought to be done.

Sen. Knowland, of California, chairman of the Republican Policy Committee—but who said he was speaking only for himself—advocated that the United Nations should declare Soviet Russia a supporter of aggression and "a violator of the charter of the UN." The California Senator urged that all nations which had extended diplomatic recognition to Red China should withdraw it. He said that it is time for the free nations of the world "to stand up and be counted, come what may." He demanded that a naval blockade of Red China be ordered by the UN.

But Sen. Cooper, R. Ky., who was a member of the United States delegation to the United Nations as an appointee of the Truman administration, declared that the course Sen. Knowland had advocated would sound the "death knell of any possibility of peaceful settlement with the Russians." He said, also that the Knowland proposals "would really lead to outright war with Russia," but later changed the world "would" to "could."

Sen. Sparkman, of Alabama, vice-presidential nominee on the Democratic ticket in the last campaign, said of Sen. Knowland's plan to brand Russia as an aggressor:

"It might be well to wait and see before doing anything to push that right now."

The wait-and-see attitude fits in with Malenkov strategy. He dangles hopes of peace so as to retard rearmament by the West and to prevent, if possible, the European defense army from being organized. His own people are fearful of war, so he calms them by saying all questions with the United States can be settled by peaceful means. Meanwhile, the Soviet representative in the UN has brazenly told the Assembly that Soviet Russia is supplying arms and ammunition to the Chinese Communist armies in Korea to kill American boys. Yet there are Senators who are afraid to ask the UN to expel a member nation which is sending arms and supplies to kill and wound the troops of the United Nations fighting in Korea. Small wonder that Malenkov, like Stalin, holds the initiative in the world today. The Malenkov bluff is merely continuing the Stalin bluff.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Solely for the journalistic purpose of proving that Drew Pearson advocated an officer's commission in our army for John Gates, who is now in prison for trying to overthrow the government of this nation, I present verified facts.

During the war Pearson used his "column," and some publishers permitted him to impose on their local readers, to demand commissions for many Communists without disclosing the fact that they were Communists. I could prove numerous instances but I will confine this piece to the Gates case because Gates was, at the time of the long and exhausting trial before Judge Medina in New York, the absolute top man in the Communist conspiracy in the United States.

On April 14, 1943, the Washington Post published Pearson's column including the following:

"Approximately one year ago, John Gates, a Lieut-Col. of the Fifteenth International Brigade in Spain, enlisted in the United States Army. In Spain, Vincent Sheean and Herbert Matthews of the New York Times cabled back dispatches on his bravery. In the United States Army, he joined the 59th Armbored Artillery Battalion, Camp Chaffee, Ark., where he became a sergeant. Then, as his unit was about to go overseas, his commander received a telegram from the adjutant general in Washington, ordering Gates transferred to a service unit—which means no combat service throughout the war.

"No explanation was given. Two lieutenant-colonels thought so much of Gates that they intervened. But nothing happened. There was only mysterious silence in Washington. Finally Gates sent a letter to President Roosevelt.

"'There is no greater honor,' he wrote, 'than to fight for one's country. Am I so base that I should be denied that right? What better way to prove one's loyalty than on the field of battle?

"'I am supremely confident that if the board of officers were to review the case, or a special investigating officer appoined, the recommendation would be to return to my former unit. Our men are fighting gloriously in Africa and the Pacific. I only ask to take my place alongside them.'

"But the letter got no further than the War Department. No Board of Review was appointed. Apparently Gates had committed the unforgivable crime of fighting for Loyalist Spain.

"This is only one of many cases."

Pearson went on to deal in particular with other cases but without the slightest intimation to the client editors who trusted him as an honest correspondent that he was pleading for commissions for men committed to a shooting revolution against the government of the United States.

After the dismissal of Earl Browder by orders from the Kremlin, Gates had become one of the supreme Communist authorities in the United States. When the historic trial of the top batch of eleven Communist leaders began in New York, Gates was the editor of the Daily Worker. All eleven were sentenced to prison. Gates got five years for "advocating and conspiring to advocate the overthrow of the United States government by force and violence." In the trial he said he would never fight for the United States against Russia.

The importance which the Communists placed on penetration of the American fighting forces is disclosed in testimony given by Paul Crouch, a reformed Communist, to the House Committee on Un-American Activities on May 6, 1949.

Crouch had served as head of a Communist party department "for the armed forces" and, in that role, had received instructions from Moscow to organize nuclei of Communists in our armed forces so as to exploit petty grievances and create conflicts between enlisted men and officers. He said a cell on the battleship Oklahoma in 1929 and 1930 had seven or eight members. The instructions were that Communists in the army should "strengthen their personal influence by building organizations of

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Easy Hand Usually Leads to Disaster

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

There was nothing much to the play of the hand shown today. West hopefully opened from his seven-card heart suit, and East gratefully ruffed. North and South were having such a fine time congratulating each other on the bidding that it took them several seconds to see that East had played a trump and that the grand slam was defeated.

As a mater of fact, South thought his opponents were joking until they showed their hands on the table.

East and West generously allowed their opponents a minute or so to complain about their hard luck. Actually, however, North was directly responsible for this little tragedy.

Whenever you have good reason to consider a grand slam, you should also consider the possibilities of playing the hand at no-trump to avoid a ruff of the opening lead.

In this case North used the Blackwood Convention by bidding four no-trump to find out how many aces his partner held. After South had shown two aces by the response of five hearts, North should have bid five no-trump to find out how many kings his partner had. South would have responded with a bid of six diamonds, showing one king.

Armed with this information, North could have bid the grand slam in no-trump with his eyes shut. He would know that South had both red aces and the king of spades.

Hence, there would be at least two spade tricks, three or four heart tricks, five diamond tricks, and at least three club tricks.

An additional advantage of bidding a laydown grand slam in no-trump rather than in a suit is that you are not necessarily defeated by a bad break in one particular suit. When the trump suit is not solid, a grand slam in that suit is a dangerous contract.

If the grand slam is bid in no-trump, however, a bad break in any of the four suits is not necessarily fatal, because it may be possible to make 13 tricks by using the other suits to fullest advantage.

WALLKILL NEWS

The afternoon session will include the business meeting and a lesson on good grooming with Mrs. Kelso Sloan as leader. The joint lesson on pictures in the Home by Mrs. Thelma Eckhart of New Hurley and Mrs. Agnes Smith of Wallkill Unit was a success and much interest was shown in the subject by the members.

There were 16 members present who enjoyed the lesson concerning the difference color in the mat and frame can make in a picture. The next lesson will be sometime in April. Each person should bring a picture or pictures so work can be completed in the class. There will be further announcements concerning this class.

The semi-annual spring roast beef dinner given by the Knights of Pythias will be held at the Wallkill Reformed Church community hall on the evening of April 15. Tickets will be on sale by members of the lodge.

Mrs. C. E. Penney presided at the regular meeting of the Wallkill Women's Club at the community room of the Wallkill National Bank on Friday afternoon, March 13. Club members from the Walden and New Paltz Society were welcomed by the Wallkill president. A letter was read the Chamber of Commerce which is endeavoring to determine the advisability and workability of forming a Community Chest program in the village. Mrs. Penney appointed Mrs. John E. Sloan and Mrs. Vincent DeAngelis as a committee on community relations and they, with the president, will attend the next Chamber meeting as representatives of the Women's Club in conjunction with the proposed Community Chest.

It was announced that the Ninth District meeting will be held in Poughkeepsie on Thursday, April 16, at Vassar College. Highlights of the conference will be a tour of the college from 9:30 through 10:30 a. m. conducted by the students, after which luncheon will be held at the Covered Wagon.

Mrs. Walter Harris presented a short musical program. Miss Brenda Kniffen played a violin solo, In the Garden, accompanied on the piano by her sister Miss Carolin Kniffen. Roger Beattie presented a cornet solo, Minuet. He was accompanied by the assistant music teacher at Wallkill Central School, Miss Patricia Constantikes.

The remainder of the program was an interesting question and answer period on local banking from a woman's personal point of view. Mrs. L. C. Edsall introduced Miss Margaret LaRosso, assistant cashier and C. E. Terwilliger, president of the Wallkill National Bank. Miss LaRosso asked questions submitted to her by members of the audience concerning safety deposit boxes, endorsements of checks, joint ownerships of accounts, signature cards required by the bank, and special checking accounts. Mr. Terwilliger explained each and the reason for certain rules and regulations and technical details in local banking.

Mrs. Ernest Bell was social chairman for the afternoon and Mrs. Lynford Rexford and Mrs. L. C. Edsall presided at the tea table.

The next regular meeting will be held on Friday, April 10, at 2:30 at the Wallkill National Bank community room. Mrs. Addison D. Crowell, program chairman, has secured Clare J. Hoyt, who will speak on Wills and Documents. The social chairman will be Mrs. John E. Sloan.

At their regular meeting on March 11, the members of the Rose Sheeley Post 1034, American Legion, Wallkill, were presented with a check for $100 by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the post. This was an added amount to the Legion's building fund and in honor of the Legion's birthday. A large birthday cake and coffee were provided by the ladies for refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Mrs. Chauncey McLean, chairman of the cancer control committee of the Ladies' Auxiliary Post 1034, Wallkill, has announced that the net proceeds of the card party held March 13 for this fund were $66.65. Fifteen tables at cards were in play. Decorations were in keeping with St. Patrick's Day and refreshments of sandwiches, pickles, cake and coffee were served.

Citizen Interest In Industry Called Essential by Kurdt

The need for continued citizen interest and participation in the program of the Kingston Industrial Development Corporation was stressed by Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, during a panel discussion Tuesday noon at the regular meeting of the Kingston Lions Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

After Kurdt, Lawrence J. MacAvery and Robert M. Peebles had outlined the background of the Industrial Development Corporation and reported on Monday night's meeting where 11 directors were elected, Kurdt warned against allowing interest to decrease.

"Let's not pass the buck to the board of directors," he said, indicating that any tendency to "sit back and relax" and let the directors do all the work would be detrimental.

Million Payroll Hike

Kurdt's remarks followed those of Peebles, who was chairman of the organizational committee. Reporting on a similar undertaking in Keene, N. H., Peebles noted that in that city the $30,000 raised has not been spent, but the citizen interest aroused by the campaign has already resulted in eight new industries and an increase in total payroll of over $1 million. He reviewed the occurrences of Monday night's meeting, and MacAvery, who was president of the Chamber of Commerce when the industrial development committee was first appointed, outlined the history of the project.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Easy Hand Usually Leads to Disaster

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

There was nothing much to the play of the hand shown today. West hopefully opened from his seven-card heart suit, and East gratefully ruffed. North and South were having such a fine time congratulating each other on the bidding that it took them several seconds to see that East had played a trump and that the grand slam was defeated.

As a mater of fact, South thought his opponents were joking until they showed their hands on the table.

East and West generously allowed their opponents a minute or so to complain about their hard luck. Actually, however, North was directly responsible for this little tragedy.

Whenever you have good reason to consider a grand slam, you should also consider the possibilities of playing the hand at no-trump to avoid a ruff of the opening lead.

In this case North used the Blackwood Convention by bidding four no-trump to find out how many aces his partner held. After South had shown two aces by the response of five hearts, North should have bid five no-trump to find out how many kings his partner had. South would have responded with a bid of six diamonds, showing one king.

Armed with this information, North could have bid the grand slam in no-trump with his eyes shut. He would know that South had both red aces and the king of spades.

Hence, there would be at least two spade tricks, three or four heart tricks, five diamond tricks, and at least three club tricks.

An additional advantage of bidding a laydown grand slam in no-trump rather than in a suit is that you are not necessarily defeated by a bad break in one particular suit. When the trump suit is not solid, a grand slam in that suit is a dangerous contract.

If the grand slam is bid in no-trump, however, a bad break in any of the four suits is not necessarily fatal, because it may be possible to make 13 tricks by using the other suits to fullest advantage.

WALLKILL NEWS

The afternoon session will include the business meeting and a lesson on good grooming with Mrs. Kelso Sloan as leader. The joint lesson on pictures in the Home by Mrs. Thelma Eckhart of New Hurley and Mrs. Agnes Smith of Wallkill Unit was a success and much interest was shown in the subject by the members.

There were 16 members present who enjoyed the lesson concerning the difference color in the mat and frame can make in a picture. The next lesson will be sometime in April. Each person should bring a picture or pictures so work can be completed in the class. There will be further announcements concerning this class.

The semi-annual spring roast beef dinner given by the Knights of Pythias will be held at the Wallkill Reformed Church community hall on the evening of April 15. Tickets will be on sale by members of the lodge.

Mrs. C. E. Penney presided at the regular meeting of the Wallkill Women's Club at the community room of the Wallkill National Bank on Friday afternoon, March 13. Club members from the Walden and New Paltz Society were welcomed by the Wallkill president. A letter was read the Chamber of Commerce which is endeavoring to determine the advisability and workability of forming a Community Chest program in the village. Mrs. Penney appointed Mrs. John E. Sloan and Mrs. Vincent DeAngelis as a committee on community relations and they, with the president, will attend the next Chamber meeting as representatives of the Women's Club in conjunction with the proposed Community Chest.

It was announced that the Ninth District meeting will be held in Poughkeepsie on Thursday, April 16, at Vassar College. Highlights of the conference will be a tour of the college from 9:30 through 10:30 a. m. conducted by the students, after which luncheon will be held at the Covered Wagon.

Mrs. Walter Harris presented a short musical program. Miss Brenda Kniffen played a violin solo, In the Garden, accompanied on the piano by her sister Miss Carolin Kniffen. Roger Beattie presented a cornet solo, Minuet. He was accompanied by the assistant music teacher at Wallkill Central School, Miss Patricia Constantikes.

The remainder of the program was an interesting question and answer period on local banking from a woman's personal point of view. Mrs. L. C. Edsall introduced Miss Margaret LaRosso, assistant cashier and C. E. Terwilliger, president of the Wallkill National Bank. Miss LaRosso asked questions submitted to her by members of the audience concerning safety deposit boxes, endorsements of checks, joint ownerships of accounts, signature cards required by the bank, and special checking accounts. Mr. Terwilliger explained each and the reason for certain rules and regulations and technical details in local banking.

Mrs. Ernest Bell was social chairman for the afternoon and Mrs. Lynford Rexford and Mrs. L. C. Edsall presided at the tea table.

The next regular meeting will be held on Friday, April 10, at 2:30 at the Wallkill National Bank community room. Mrs. Addison D. Crowell, program chairman, has secured Clare J. Hoyt, who will speak on Wills and Documents. The social chairman will be Mrs. John E. Sloan.

At their regular meeting on March 11, the members of the Rose Sheeley Post 1034, American Legion, Wallkill, were presented with a check for $100 by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the post. This was an added amount to the Legion's building fund and in honor of the Legion's birthday. A large birthday cake and coffee were provided by the ladies for refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Mrs. Chauncey McLean, chairman of the cancer control committee of the Ladies' Auxiliary Post 1034, Wallkill, has announced that the net proceeds of the card party held March 13 for this fund were $66.65. Fifteen tables at cards were in play. Decorations were in keeping with St. Patrick's Day and refreshments of sandwiches, pickles, cake and coffee were served.

Piles—Get Relief Now

Millions of sufferers in the last 40 years have found a way to fast relief from itching smarting piles. They use a delightful, cooling, soothing astringent formula — Peterson's Ointment. No wonder one sufferer writes. "The itching and smarting were relieved, and I slept all night. Peterson's Ointment is marvelous." 40c & 70c, all druggists. Be delighted or money back.

Citizen Interest In Industry Called Essential by Kurdt

The need for continued citizen interest and participation in the program of the Kingston Industrial Development Corporation was stressed by Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, during a panel discussion Tuesday noon at the regular meeting of the Kingston Lions Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

After Kurdt, Lawrence J. MacAvery and Robert M. Peebles had outlined the background of the Industrial Development Corporation and reported on Monday night's meeting where 11 directors were elected, Kurdt warned against allowing interest to decrease.

"Let's not pass the buck to the board of directors," he said, indicating that any tendency to "sit back and relax" and let the directors do all the work would be detrimental.

Million Payroll Hike

Kurdt's remarks followed those of Peebles, who was chairman of the organizational committee. Reporting on a similar undertaking in Keene, N. H., Peebles noted that in that city the $30,000 raised has not been spent, but the citizen interest aroused by the campaign has already resulted in eight new industries and an increase in total payroll of over $1 million. He reviewed the occurrences of Monday night's meeting, and MacAvery, who was president of the Chamber of Commerce when the industrial development committee was first appointed, outlined the history of the project.

Cwill Catches Herring

The first herring of the season caught in the Rondout creek was hauled in Monday by Frank Cwill of 50 Tompkins street. Cwill said it measured about 12 inches, and its presence this early indicated that more are here or are on their way. Fishermen along the Rondout are also expecting the first run of smelt soon.

Corsi Meets Premier

Rome, March, 18 (AP)—Edward Corsi, New York state industrial commissioner, was received at Chigi Palace today by Premier Alcide De Gasperi. Corsi has been touring Italy studying the Italian government's social assistance programs.

WELL

- - - is a very good rule as ladies can tell, who've bought their hats here for so many years because they've known us as millinery specialists.

After a quarter-century devoted exclusively to buying women's hats in the New York style-center, of course we know what's chic and what's better value.

Having no side interests to distract us, we naturally do our job better each year - - - which is just another reason why hundreds of Kingston's best dressed ladies will buy their 1953 Easter hats here.

Rosendale Gives $501 for Polio

The March of Dimes drive in the town of Rosendale netted $501.64, an increase of about $150 over last year's figure of $355, Stephen E. Huben, chairman, has reported.

Addison Jones, county campaign chairman, in accepting the report, said "the Rosendale drive represents a terrific amount of work and we certainly are pleased with the results."

Huben, in submitting his report, listed the following donations from the various schools:

Creek Locks, $74.20; Tillson, $53.68; Cottekill, $48.08; St. Peter's $46.76; Rosendale Free $43.90; Whiteport, $21; and Maple Hill, $7.29.

"The school children did an outstanding job for the polio drive in the Town of Rosendale this year," Huben said "and we are proud of them."

Other donors for the Town of Rosendale were Teen-Agers of Tillson dance, $120.71; business houses, $49.17; special bowling contest, $10.75; Rosendale Women's Club, $8; Rosendale Grange $5; St. Peter's School Association, $5; Maple Hill School Association, $5.50; Murphy and Boyle Association, $2.30.

Will Publish Copies

London, March 18 (AP)—The Soviet Union announced today it plans to publish about 900,000 copies of books by American authors this year. Moscow radio said the output would include 225,000 copies of O. Henry's short stories, new editions of Theodore Dreiser's "The Genius," Mark Twain's "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," and poems of Walt Whitman.

Walrus Dies

New York, March 18 (AP)—Herbert, the only walrus in the United States, died yesterday while still a baby of 958 pounds. Bronx Zoo officials said the 2-year-old walrus would have reached maximum weight of about 3,000 pounds in a few years.

Ellenville Picks Mayor Muller to Serve Term Again

In a very closely contested election so far as trustees were concerned Mayor Frank Muller was returned to office in Ellenville Tuesday by a vote of 797 over his Democratic opponent Vernon Kelder who received 690 votes.

Harry Thayer, Democratic candidate for trustee, lost out to his Republican opponent Edward Christiana by only 40 votes in a very hotly contested election. Thayer received 715 votes and Christiana 755.

All Republican candidates were returned to office. Sol Steinhoff was reelected by 777 votes. Saul Polonsky, Democrat, received 719 votes.

There was a total of 1,515 votes cast at the poll in Hunt Memorial in the village, this being an unusually large vote although it did not reach the 1,531 votes cast two years ago when there was an exceptionally vigorous campaign.

Check on U. S. Gold

ing a separate audit of currency and securities, mostly foreign, which were in her custody.

The $10 discrepancy, she said, turned up in the currency redemption division. Nobody knows just how it happened. Apparently somebody forgot to report the replacing of a beat-up old $10 bill by a new one or something of the sort.

Anyway, the chief of the division, J. T. Baczenas, promptly shelled out $10 from his own pocket, Mrs. Gray said, and she sent him a check for the same amount.

Odd Count Explanation

Now about that two-thirds of a cent at the end of Mrs. Gray's cash-and-securities-on-hand total.

It's an odd amount based on the alleged value of some old state bonds in the treasurer's possession, Mrs. Gray said, and personally she wouldn't give you two-thirds of a cent for the lot of them.

"I wanted to write them off, as we'd do in the banking business," she said, "but I never could get Congress to do anything about it."

Two-Way Fire

pertinent to the discussion raised by Wilson.

Chief Likes Plan

Chief Murphy said he had not been assured by the Common Council or any other official that the city would operate the system. He said the matter had not been brought to the attention of the Common Council. He did state that the system would be of benefit to the city in dispatching and intercepting equipment in the event of a second fire while the equipment was responding to a first alarm. It would be useful in sending orders where a pumper was stationed a long distance from the scene of a fire but he said the question of the Kingston Fire Department manning the two-way radio equipment had "not been raised yet."

Supervisor Percy Bush of the town of Ulster offered a resolution that the committee now functioning on the two-way radio question consult with the "city fathers" or responsible parties and ascertain whether the City of Kingston would "go along" with the manning of the equipment so that at the next meeting of the board of supervisors a vote could be taken on whether to authorize an approproation and go ahead with the installation of a two-way radio alarm system in the county among volunteer fire companies.

Relyea Gives Approval

The Bush resolution was seconded by Supervisor Relyea of Hurley. The resolution was adopted but the discussion grew hotter and continued until a motion to adjourn subject to the call of the chair was made by Wilson. The discussion continued in the cloak room after the session had adjourned.

Supervisor Lindhurst of the Third ward rose to state he disagreed with Wilson and was for the radio system.

Wilson explained he was not discussing the advisability of voting the system but was simply suggesting the attitude of the city as to whether it would consent to operate the system be ascertained. "If a city department will operate the system, they should so assert," said Wilson.

Supervisor Relyea said his committee was waiting to see how the city felt about the operation of the system.

Calls for Vote

Lindhurst said "why put it off, vote on it one way or another."

Wilson replied the board of supervisors could vote for the system but the city might not consent to operate it. "We can't legislate the city to operate it," replied Wilson.

It was at this point Chief Murphy was called in.

Supervisor Martin of the 12th Ward asked Chief Murphy if the city would benefit by such a system and whether it was needed. He said the people of his ward were paying high taxes and he could not vote for any proposition which would increase their burden unless it was to benefit to the city. He said it was not the time to ask the citizens of Kingston to spend money to better control fire trucks in the county.

Cites Importance

Chief Murphy replied the system would benefit Kingston and he cited a case where a fire truck had passed a fire of major importance while enroute to a small blaze. This truck could have been reached by radio after it left the station and diverted to the more important fire.

Supervisor Gaffney of Lloyd referred to the Mutual Aid system and said they cooperated with Poughkeepsie. Poughkeepsie called on Highland more often than Highland called on them but he cited a single case where a large gasoline fire would have destroyed the town had not Poughkeepsie sent over its equipment. He suggested Kingston cooperate with adjoining towns in all ways for "the time may come when Kingston will get benefit" from the system.

Supervisor Eckert of Esopus also spoke favoring the radio system but questioned the $2,500 annual maintenance charge which had been set up in the estimated cost. He said this would undoubtedly be much greater.

In Dutchess county it was stated the cost was $8 per month per unit. They have about 50 units, the same as proposed for the Ulster area.

Several others spoke, in many instances two and three supervisors were on the floor at the same time talking.

As a parting shot Wilson said, "We can't legislate the city of Kingston to operate the system, the board can appropriate money for the equipment," and he then moved for adjournment.

Included in the calmer business of the evening were several routine matters.

Calls for Viaduct Action

Supervisor James E. Martin of the 12th ward presented a communication calling for the Board of Supervisors to take action "to lend every necessary material and moral aid within its power in conjunction with the city of Kingston and its citizens to eliminate the Washington avenue viaduct", which he described as a "bottleneck overpass." Martin said the viaduct had been erected over the railroads but now since only one train a day on certain days operated, and there was a good possibility of abandonment of the Ulster & Delaware line as well as the O. & W., that the viaduct should be eliminated to speed traffic which will come with the opening of the Thruway.

In support of his statement that the railroads would probably be abandoned, Martin said at Public Service hearings in 1951 statements had been made to the effect the U. & D. was not a paying proposition and there "might" be a move later to abandon it. The O. & W. railroad is in receivership and the Kingston-Ellenville branch probably will be abandoned, it is believed in any reorganization plan.

Favor Appointment

A bill offered in the Senate by Senator A. H. Wicks and in the Assembly by the Assembly Committee on Rules under which the Board of Supervisors would have power to appoint the County Commissioner of Public Welfare instead of having that officer elected at a general election, was brought before the board under a resolution. Since the law would affect only Ulster county and the board of supervisors would be the party directly involved, it is necessary for the board to approve the bill before any action will be taken. A public hearing would be taken on the proposal of whether or not the office should be filled by appointment or through an election as now. The board favors the bills.

A communication was received from the New York State Civil Defense director in which Col. Allan L. Hanstein, Ulster County Civil Defense, director was highly complimented on his permanent plan for civil defense cooperation with the state plan in case of an attack. It was suggested that a pool of 50 five-ton trucks be made available here to be ready to deliver medical supplies from a Civil Defense medical center near Ellenville.

Letters of appreciation were read from Assemblyman Wadlin and also from the Saugerties Fish and Game Club, thanking the board for its action in going on record as opposing an open doe season in Ulster county.

The Kingston Chamber of Commerce offered its cooperation in assisting the board in making plans for handling traffic on the city streets and on arterial routes when the Thruway is completed.

Granges Send Notes

Ulster County Pomona Grange and the Lake Katrine Grange sent communications stating they favored two way radio for volunteer firemen.

Annual reports were received and filed from the Ulster County Veterans Service, Farm Bureau, county treasurer, tuberculosis hospital, probation office and children's court and Judge Cashin on the probation officers expense fund. Filed.

The sum of $1,000 was made available to the Ulster County Sportsmen's Clubs for propagation of fish and game under a resolution by Supervisor Elliott.

Will Auction Shacks

Sale of "shacks, shanties and other structures" on the former Rose brickyard in the town of Ulster which the county acquired at tax sale was authorized. The structures will be offered for sale at public auction. They are located on a site which is designated as land which will be used for the Kingston-Rhinecliffe bridge.

A lease to the State Department of Public Works on the quarry property at $20 a month was renewed.

The board by a vote of 29 to 1 approved the appointment of the following men to the Fire Advisory Board for terms expiring December 31, 1954, Supervisor Gaffney of Lloyd voted in opposition: Joseph L. Murphy, Henry Kelsch, Oscar V. Newkirk, Fred Stang, Edward Mains, William Maynard, Cluett Schantz, Charles Turner, Eldred Smith, Robert Michel, Howard Anderson, Mervin Doremus, Robert A. Snyder, Edward Huben and Mervile Jones.

atomic test of 1953 brought reaffirmation that—

1. Smaller bombs can pack a real wallop. The device, packing the explosive power of 15,000 tons of TNT, only ¾ the strength of the Nagasaki or normal A-bomb, made itself heard or felt in a number of communities including Las Vegas, 75 miles away, Medford, Ore., about 600 miles distant, and Los Angeles, nearly 300 miles away.

2. The U. S. civilian and soldier are growing up to the atomic age. Reporters covering the AEC and FCDA events of the past three years sensed increasing awareness of the importance of survival measures. The AEC scientists found an eager audience in civil defense workers.

Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson, one of the front-line observers, came out saying, "I'd want to find the best shelter I could in case of atomic attack." Peterson indicated he will seek a considerable boost in the civil defense budget.

Flying Glass Menace

Budget deficiencies, FCDA said, enabled it to build only two houses for the test. Besides the demolished first home 3,500 feet from ground zero, the second—at 7,500 feet—stood up through the blast, but suffered about 50 per cent structural damage.

Flying glass from shattered windows might have killed or badly injured tenants. Of the make-believe family of mannequins, those upstairs were knocked down or broken, those in basement shelters were virtually unmoved.

Most of the 59 cars on the flat were damaged. Two at distances of 3,800 and 5,000 feet burned; three others at a half mile were twisted into scrap. In many cases where all windows were left closed, the tops of the cars were caved in by the blast pressure.

Aside from the heavy ground radiation and prolonged sound waves, the explosion did not produce any spectacular effects. Dr. Alvin C. Graces, AEC test director, said the shot came off "pretty much as we expected."

There was no reports of any injury to soldiers. The effect on animals in various bunkers, some as close as 400 yards, was not immediately disclosed.

Vols Will March In Ulster When Convention Comes

Ulster county firemen will parade in the town of Ulster when the annual convention of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association is held there next July, it was announced at the association's regular monthly meeting in the state armory here last night.

The volunteers, who were guests of Wiltwyck Hose Company and the A. H. Wicks Engine Company, set July 16, 17 and 18 as the convention dates. Business sessions will be held in Ulster Hose Company's engine house.

Convention dates were advanced this year so as not to conflict with the Columbia and Dutchess county dates. The Dutchess county association is to convene at Poughkeepsie on July 25 and on the same date Columbia county firemen will convene at Valatie.

The firemen took no further action in their effort to obtain legalized bingo other than to urge all to write their state legislators and request them to move for legalizing the game as a means of fundraising for fraternal and other organizations.

Silent on Radio

The volunteers also had nothing further to say on the two-way radio proposal which was aired at a meeting of the Board of Supervisors. The latter decided to determine if Kingston would maintain the dispatchers' station for the county, before taking definite action.

The firemen saw movies shown by the Ulster County Cancer Committee.

About 150 volunteers attended the session. The next meeting will be held at Hasbrouck Hall, Modena, April 21, when the firemen will be guests of fire companies in the town of Plattekill.

Rosendale Gives $501 for Polio

The March of Dimes drive in the town of Rosendale netted $501.64, an increase of about $150 over last year's figure of $355, Stephen E. Huben, chairman, has reported.

Addison Jones, county campaign chairman, in accepting the report, said "the Rosendale drive represents a terrific amount of work and we certainly are pleased with the results."

Huben, in submitting his report, listed the following donations from the various schools:

Creek Locks, $74.20; Tillson, $53.68; Cottekill, $48.08; St. Peter's $46.76; Rosendale Free $43.90; Whiteport, $21; and Maple Hill, $7.29.

"The school children did an outstanding job for the polio drive in the Town of Rosendale this year," Huben said "and we are proud of them."

Other donors for the Town of Rosendale were Teen-Agers of Tillson dance, $120.71; business houses, $49.17; special bowling contest, $10.75; Rosendale Women's Club, $8; Rosendale Grange $5; St. Peter's School Association, $5; Maple Hill School Association, $5.50; Murphy and Boyle Association, $2.30.

Will Publish Copies

London, March 18 (AP)—The Soviet Union announced today it plans to publish about 900,000 copies of books by American authors this year. Moscow radio said the output would include 225,000 copies of O. Ellenville Picks Mayor Muller to Serve Term Again

In a very closely contested election so far as trustees were concerned Mayor Frank Muller was returned to office in Ellenville Tuesday by a vote of 797 over his Democratic opponent Vernon Kelder who received 690 votes.

Harry Thayer, Democratic candidate for trustee, lost out to his Republican opponent Edward Christiana by only 40 votes in a very hotly contested election. Thayer received 715 votes and Christiana 755.

All Republican candidates were returned to office. Sol Steinhoff was reelected by 777 votes. Saul Polonsky, Democrat, received 719 votes.

There was a total of 1,515 votes cast at the poll in Hunt Memorial in the village, this being an unusually large vote although it did not reach the 1,531 votes cast two years ago when there was an exceptionally vigorous campaign.

Check on U. S. Gold

ing a separate audit of currency and securities, mostly foreign, which were in her custody.

The $10 discrepancy, she said, turned up in the currency redemption division. Nobody knows just how it happened. Apparently somebody forgot to report the replacing of a beat-up old $10 bill by a new one or something of the sort.

Anyway, the chief of the division, J. T. Baczenas, promptly shelled out $10 from his own pocket, Mrs. Gray said, and she sent him a check for the same amount.

Odd Count Explanation

Now about that two-thirds of a cent at the end of Mrs. Gray's cash-and-securities-on-hand total.

It's an odd amount based on the alleged value of some old state bonds in the treasurer's possession, Mrs. Gray said, and personally she wouldn't give you two-thirds of a cent for the lot of them.

"I wanted to write them off, as we'd do in the banking business," she said, "but I never could get Congress to do anything about it."

Two-Way Fire

pertinent to the discussion raised by Wilson.

Chief Likes Plan

Chief Murphy said he had not been assured by the Common Council or any other official that the city would operate the system. He said the matter had not been brought to the attention of the Common Council. He did state that the system would be of benefit to the city in dispatching and intercepting equipment in the event of a second fire while the equipment was responding to a first alarm. It would be useful in sending orders where a pumper was stationed a long distance from the scene of a fire but he said the question of the Kingston Fire Department manning the two-way radio equipment had "not been raised yet."

Supervisor Percy Bush of the town of Ulster offered a resolution that the committee now functioning on the two-way radio question consult with the "city fathers" or responsible parties and ascertain whether the City of Kingston would "go along" with the manning of the equipment so that at the next meeting of the board of supervisors a vote could be taken on whether to authorize an approproation and go ahead with the installation of a two-way radio alarm system in the county among volunteer fire companies.

Relyea Gives Approval

The Bush resolution was seconded by Supervisor Relyea of Hurley. The resolution was adopted but the discussion grew hotter and continued until a motion to adjourn subject to the call of the chair was made by Wilson. The discussion continued in the cloak room after the session had adjourned.

Supervisor Lindhurst of the Third ward rose to state he disagreed with Wilson and was for the radio system.

Wilson explained he was not discussing the advisability of voting the system but was simply suggesting the attitude of the city as to whether it would consent to operate the system be ascertained. "If a city department will operate the system, they should so assert," said Wilson.

Supervisor Relyea said his committee was waiting to see how the city felt about the operation of the system.

Calls for Vote

Lindhurst said "why put it off, vote on it one way or another."

Wilson replied the board of supervisors could vote for the system but the city might not consent to operate it. "We can't legislate the city to operate it," replied Wilson.

It was at this point Chief Murphy was called in.

Supervisor Martin of the 12th Ward asked Chief Murphy if the city would benefit by such a system and whether it was needed. He said the people of his ward were paying high taxes and he could not vote for any proposition which would increase their burden unless it was to benefit to the city. He said it was not the time to ask the citizens of Kingston to spend money to better control fire trucks in the county.

Cites Importance

Chief Murphy replied the system would benefit Kingston and he cited a case where a fire truck had passed a fire of major importance while enroute to a small blaze. This truck could have been reached by radio after it left the station and diverted to the more important fire.

Supervisor Gaffney of Lloyd referred to the Mutual Aid system and said they cooperated with Poughkeepsie. Poughkeepsie called on Highland more often than Highland called on them but he cited a single case where a large gasoline fire would have destroyed the town had not Poughkeepsie sent over its equipment. He suggested Kingston cooperate with adjoining towns in all ways for "the time may come when Kingston will get benefit" from the system.

Supervisor Eckert of Esopus also spoke favoring the radio system but questioned the $2,500 annual maintenance charge which had been set up in the estimated cost. He said this would undoubtedly be much greater.

In Dutchess county it was stated the cost was $8 per month per unit. They have about 50 units, the same as proposed for the Ulster area.

Several others spoke, in many instances two and three supervisors were on the floor at the same time talking.

As a parting shot Wilson said, "We can't legislate the city of Kingston to operate the system, the board can appropriate money for the equipment," and he then moved for adjournment.

Included in the calmer business of the evening were several routine matters.

Calls for Viaduct Action

Supervisor James E. Martin of the 12th ward presented a communication calling for the Board of Supervisors to take action "to lend every necessary material and moral aid within its power in conjunction with the city of Kingston and its citizens to eliminate the Washington avenue viaduct", which he described as a "bottleneck overpass." In support of his statement that the railroads would probably be abandoned, Martin said at Public Service hearings in 1951 statements had been made to the effect the U. & D. was not a paying proposition and there "might" be a move later to abandon it. The O. & W. railroad is in receivership and the Kingston-Ellenville branch probably will be abandoned, it is believed in any reorganization plan.

Actual comparisons of the 3 leading makes of trucks show that Dodge alone gives you the big plus values listed below . . . values that can save you hundreds of dollars over the life of your truck! In these cost-conscious days, trucks are bought on facts . . . on proof, not promises. And we can prove that the just-announced Dodge trucks are the least expensive over the long haul. Stop by and learn why! Get the facts and you'll get a Dodge!

Of the 3 leading makes, only Dodge "Job-Rated" trucks give you . . .

7 GREAT ENGINES, with 100 to 171 h.p. — 3 engines brand-new. Of the 3 leading manufacturers, no one offers as many engines as Dodge.

TRUCK-O-MATIC TRANSMISSION with gyrol Fluid Drive, for the best in shift-free driving. Available in ½- and ¾-ton models.

SUPERSAFE BRAKES of the advanced dual-primary type in 1- thru 4-ton trucks. Of the "Big 3," only Dodge offers these brakes.

More power in the 1½- and 2-ton ranges than the other 2 leaders.

More pick-up bodies than the other 2 leaders, including new 116"-wheelbase ½-ton pick-up.

Greatest ½-ton-panel payload and cubic capacity of the 3 leaders.

Fluid coupling, for smoother traction in ½-, ¾- and 1-ton models, offered only by Dodge.

2 fuel filters on all models to assure cleaner fuel and a cleaner engine.

Floating oil intake selects clean oil at top; avoids sediment at bottom of crankcase.

Water-distributing tube on all models directly cools valve seats . . . means longer valve life.

Exhaust valve seat inserts on all models for better valve seating, longer engine life.

4-ring pistons on all engines save oil, upkeep.

Independent parking brake on all models is simple, efficient, powerful.

Rivetless Cyclebond brake linings last longer . . . no rivets to score brake drums.

Oriflow shock absorbers on ½-, ¾- and 1-ton models give smoother riding, greater driver control on roughest roads.

High-strength rear axle shafts on all models are shot-peened for extra durability.

Better balanced weight distribution for extra payload.

Many features — just adopted by other leading makes — have been standard on Dodge trucks for years!

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

On March 1, 1953—This Week Herald Tribune magazine section, Bennett Cerf writes on chess. As I remember from my early childhood in Port Ewen, when I lived with my grandparents, there were only two kinds of people, when it came to chess, according to my grandfather. One kind knew nothing about chess and cared less, and the other kind knew too much and could sit down and play a game at the mention or sight of a chess board and men. Cerf, in his article mentions, that "chess is probably the most universally popular game ever devised. In America, over 10,000 enthusiasts play it through the mails alone." My grandfather used to play chess by mail, with as I remember some members of chess clubs in New York city, that is why his chess board was often set up. He went even further, he taught me to play before I could read and write.

When I came to Kingston, and hung around my father's store, we had a tiny square table toward the back of the store and to me chess was like any other game, so to get 'worthy' opponents I taught my little neighbors. I think Jerome Lehner played a fair game as a youngster, Solly Roodney and several others. We used to meet Friday nights for championship games. We played strictly by the rules and always had a book of rules on the table, that is the way my grandfather taught me. I was no wiz at it but could hold my own as time went on and even knit during the moves of my partners. For years now I haven't played or watched someone else play. I guess the reason no one around this section plays chess is because no one teaches the youngsters. It can be an exciting game.

In case some folks think it is too tame of a game, Cerf tells about Humhrey Bogart, who as a youth, eked out a living by taking on all comers in a chess and checker emporium on Broadway in New York. It is said that he made his moves so fast, that one opponent, who chanced to be a motorcycle cop threatened to pinch him for speeding. Cerf further says "Bogey" is not Hollywood's only chess player. John Wayne and Marlon Brando also like the militaristic game of kings, queens and pawns. It is said, that during the Julius Caesar picture, Brando played chess for a solid hour without a word being spoken by either of the players.

Checkers is played on the same board and I have seen some remarkable players of checkers around here, no one could beat them. They have a remarkable way of thinking, moves ahead, so they can set up their single men, so they can 'jump' right across the board to 'king.' I was never good at checkers but marvel at good players. No doubt many folks in the county know their experts. It really would be something to have an Ulster county checker champ chosen yearly. Each township could send its best for the checker championships. Each locality has one. In olden days I used to see checker boards set up in old fashioned barber shops before they streamlined them. Why not have a barbership checker champ? I would like the names of some of the good 'champs' of the checker board, maybe through this column they could meet each other in combat on the checkerboard.

I remember some years ago a Chinese Checkers came out with marbles, so that several people could play at one time. I think it was mostly a ladies' game. I liked it because we could talk and laugh while we played, not a serious game like plain checkers or chess.

CHIANG PUTS THE HEAT ON CHINESE REDS—Since President Eisenhower "deneutralized" Formosa on Feb. 2, Chinese Nationalist forces have stepped up their harassment of Reds on the mainland. MODENA NEWS

Modena, March 17—An evening of fun and entertainment is in store for those who are planning to attend the card and games party to be held Thursday evening, March 19, at the Hasbrouck Memorial Hall. A committee of members of the Modena-Clintondale Home Bureau is conducting the party and will serve refreshments. The party commences at 8 p. m.

A surprise bridal shower in honor of Miss Jane Marie Kimlin of New Paltz was held at the home of Mrs. Robert McPhillips, Montgomery, on the evening of March 12. Those attending were Mrs. Fred A. Kimlin of New Paltz; Mrs. George Eckert and Miss Jane Eckert of Wallkill; Mrs. Raymond McPhillips, Sr., Mrs. Flora Kiess, Mrs. Raymond McPhillips Jr., Dorene McPhillips and Barbara Burke of Montgomery; Mrs. George Alsdorf and Laura Alsdorf of Walden; Mrs. Sal Apuzzo of Ardonia; Mrs. Roy H. DuBois, Marylou DuBois, Mrs. John Denton and Mrs. Simon DuBois of Modena; Mrs. Arthur Seymour of Tillson and Mrs. George Van Kleek of Samsonville. Miss Kimlin and Lieut. Robert G. DuBois of the U. S. Air Force, of Modena, will be married Sunday, March 22, at the New Paltz Methodist Church.

Invitations have been issued to the wedding of Miss Elizabeth A. Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd B. Wells of Modena, and Jesse McHugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse McHugh of Wallkill, at the Modena Methodist Church on Saturday, April 4.

Word has been received here of the birth of a son, Paul, to Mr. and Mrs. Emil Rode of New Paltz, former residents of this locality.

Members of the Modena-Clintondale Youth Fellowship attended a sub-district rally at New Paltz.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Cohn were among hosts and hostesses at the regular meeting of the Supper Club of the Walden Jewish Community Center on Sunday evening at the Center.

Miss Glennie M. Wager was an overnight guest of her niece Mrs. Sollie L. Bernard and family, Pleasant Valley road, Poughkeepsie, on Friday.

Mrs. Ruth Sebeth of Poughkeepsie was a recent visitor in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Ransel J. Wager visited the latter's uncle George Lane who is ill at his home in Poughkeepsie on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Donald Decker attended a bridal shower honoring Mrs. George Roach of Wallkill at the home of Mrs. Jessie Mullen in that village recently.

Rosendale

Rosendale, March 17—The Tillson-Rosendale Post, American Legion, will sponsor a card party at the Legion hall, Main street, Thursday evening, March 19. The public is invited.

Special union Lenten services will be held Thursday evening at 7:45 o'clock in the Rosendale Reformed Church. The Rev. Charles Brieant of the Episcopal Church will speak. Organist Miss Dorothy Schneider will direct the choir in special songs.

Plans are being made by the young people of the Christian Endeavor society of the Reformed church to sponsor the motion picture, The Pilgrimage, on Tuesday, April 7.

Joseph Stein, formerly of Rosendale, is now plant manager of the High Falls Coil Company, in High Falls. Approximately thirty employes are now busy at this plant, which was formerly the High Falls grade school building, manufacturing radio and television coils. The plant, owned by the Stanwyck Winding Company, anticipates employing fifty people in the near future. The business was started in High Falls last fall.

Plattekill

Plattekill, March 17—Members of the Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Plattekill and Rossville Methodist Churches were in charge of the opening services at the sub-district rally held Sunday afternoon at the New Paltz Methodist Church. The Rev. George Weyand of the Drew Methodist Church, Carmel, was guest speaker. At the conclusion of the supper, served at 5:30, a recreational period was enjoyed with Bob Benjamin, recreation chairman, in charge. Later the Fellowship members joined the congregation of the New Paltz Methodist Church where lenten services were conducted.

Elvira Garzon, Frank Kalizky, Jr., Juliet Spagnoli and Dave Perez attended a birthday party honoring Miss Alta Sheeley at Wallkill recently.

The subject, Our Growing Rural Community — Its Progress From Dirt Road to Thruway proved highly interesting at the regular meeting of the Flattekill Grange Saturday evening at the Grange Hall. On the program committee were Eber Coy of Ardonia, Milton Van Duser, Mrs. Nathaniel Dawes and Mrs. Onufry Orlowski of Plattekill. Serving on the refreshment committee at this time were Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Edmunds, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. George McMullen, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Sieberling, Clyde Larcom and Fred Loetcher.

Inspecting New Episcopal Convent

St. Helena Order Buys Wilkie Estate Near Newburgh

The Order of St. Helena, one of the rapidly growing religious communities for women in the Episcopal Church, has purchased the John Wilkie Estate on the outskirts of Newburgh, it has been announced by the Rev. Frank L. Carruthers, STM, rector of St. George's Parish, Newburgh. The property consists of a 45-acre tract of land on which is situated three buildings. The main building of Georgian architecture will serve as the convent and mother house of the order, and the two smaller houses will serve as the retreat-guest house and the caretaker's home.

The announcement was made Sunday in St. George's Church at the 11 a. m. service of the administration of the Sacrament of Confirmation, at which the Rt. Rev. Robert E. Campbell, DD, superior of the Order of the Holy Cross, and superior of the Order of St. Helena, officiated. Four of the sisters of the Order of St. Helena were present in the congregation.

Gives Welcome

In warmly welcoming the Order to the community and praising its work, Father Carruthers, who will serve as the convent chaplain, said that this is the second order which has placed its mother house in the Diocese of New York within the past year. The other is the Community of the Holy Spirit, located in New York city. There are two other religious orders for women in the diocese of New York, the Community of St. Mary, with its mother house and St. Mary's School for girls in Peekskill; and the Order of St. Anne, which has one of its convents in Kingston.

In the United States there are eleven monastic orders for men and fifteen monastic orders for women, with their various convents and monasteries extending over the entire nation, and which have been established for generations.

The Order of St. Helena was established in 1945 in Versailles, Ky., where nine original members had worked and prayed together for many years as members of another religious order conducting a college preparatory boarding school for girls. It is one of the youngest religious communities for women in the Episcopal Church, but it shares the older rule and tradition of the Order of the Holy Cross, with which so many in this area are familiar and which was founded in 1884 by the late Rev. Father James Otis Sargent Huntington. It has been a tremendous power for spiritual advancement and elevation within the church in this country and in Liberia, where it maintains a very extensive work.

Known For Devotional Life

The Order of St. Helena is known not only for its excellent work in the conducting of the Margaret Hall School for Girls in Versailles, Ky., but also for the standard of devotional life and service which is maintained by all members of the order. The community is constantly engaged in spiritual works of mercy, teaching, speaking, conducting quiet days and retreats, assisting with missions and summer conferences.

The Order, which for the past five years has been using buildings loaned to them by the Bishop of New Jersey, has been confronted with a rapidly expanding demand on the part of women for admission into the order, which caused the order to seek a permanent and adequate site for a mother house to care for the ever-increasing number of novices.

Securing Gifts

Suitable buildings for convents are difficult to find, and after a search from Philadelphia to Poughkeepsie, John Lease, real estate broker of Newburgh and Stephen Bock, attorney, of Poughkeepsie, negotiated the present purchase. Extensive alterations have been designed by the Rev. Alan H. Tongue, associate rector of St. George's and member of the architectural commission of the Diocese of New York. Substantial gifts are being secured by Father Carruthers to provide for chapel facilities and the renovations necessary before the moving of the order sometime in June or July.

Platteklll

Plattekill, March 17—Members of the Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Plattekill and Rossville Methodist Churches were in charge of the opening services at the sub-district rally held Sunday afternoon at the New Paltz Methodist Church. The Rev. George Weyand of the Drew Methodist Church, Carmel, was guest speaker. At the conclusion of the supper, served at 5:30, a recreational period was enjoyed with Bob Benjamin, recreation chairman, in charge. Later the Fellowship members joined the congregation of the New Paltz Methodist Church where lenten services were conducted.

Elvira Garzon, Frank Kalizky, Jr., Juliet Spagnoli and Dave Perez attended a birthday party honoring Miss Alta Sheeley at Wallkill recently.

The subject, Our Growing Rural Community — Its Progress From Dirt Road to Thruway proved highly interesting at the regular meeting of the Plattekill Grange Saturday evening at the Grange Hall. On the program committee were Eber Coy of Ardonia, Milton Van Duser, Mrs. Nathaniel Dawes and Mrs. Onufry Orlowski of Plattekill. Serving on the refreshment committee at this time were Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Edmunds, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. George McMullen, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Sieberling, Clyde Larcom and Fred Loetcher.

Inspecting New Episcopal Convent

St. Helena Order Buys Wilkie Estate Near Newburgh

The Order of St. Helena, one of the rapidly growing religious communities for women in the Episcopal Church, has purchased the John Wilkie Estate on the outskirts of Newburgh, it has been announced by the Rev. Frank L. Carruthers, STM, rector of St. George's Parish, Newburgh. The property consists of a 45-acre tract of land on which is situated three buildings. The main building of Georgian architecture will serve as the convent and mother house of the order, and the two smaller houses will serve as the retreat-guest house and the caretaker's home.

The announcement was made Sunday in St. George's Church at the 11 a. m. service of the administration of the Sacrament of Confirmation, at which the Rt. Rev. Robert E. Campbell, DD, superior of the Order of the Holy Cross, and superior of the Order of St. Helena, officiated. Four of the sisters of the Order of St. Helena were present in the congregation.

Gives Welcome

In warmly welcoming the Order to the community and praising its work, Father Carruthers, who will serve as the convent chaplain, said that this is the second order which has placed its mother house in the Diocese of New York within the past year. The other is the Community of the Holy Spirit, located in New York city. There are two other religious orders for women in the diocese of New York, the Community of St. Mary, with its mother house and St. Mary's School for girls in Peekskill; and the Order of St. Anne, which has one of its convents in Kingston.

In the United States there are eleven monastic orders for men and fifteen monastic orders for women, with their various convents and monasteries extending over the entire nation, and which have been established for generations.

The Order of St. Helena was established in 1945 in Versailles, Ky., where nine original members had worked and prayed together for many years as members of another religious order conducting a college preparatory boarding school for girls. It is one of the youngest religious communities for women in the Episcopal Church, but it shares the older rule and tradition of the Order of the Holy Cross, with which so many in this area are familiar and which was founded in 1884 by the late Rev. Father James Otis Sargent Huntington. It has been a tremendous power for spiritual advancement and elevation within the church in this country and in Liberia, where it maintains a very extensive work.

Known For Devotional Life

The Order of St. Helena is known not only for its excellent work in the conducting of the Margaret Hall School for Girls in Versailles, Ky., but also for the standard of devotional life and service which is maintained by all members of the order. The community is constantly engaged in spiritual works of mercy, teaching, speaking, conducting quiet days and retreats, assisting with missions and summer conferences.

The Order, which for the past five years has been using buildings loaned to them by the Bishop of New Jersey, has been confronted with a rapidly expanding demand on the part of women for admission into the order, which caused the order to seek a permanent and adequate site for a mother house to care for the ever-increasing number of novices.

Securing Gifts

Suitable buildings for convents are difficult to find, and after a search from Philadelphia to Poughkeepsie, John Lease, real estate broker of Newburgh and Stephen Bock, attorney, of Poughkeepsie, negotiated the present purchase. Extensive alterations have been designed by the Rev. Alan H. Tongue, associate rector of St. George's and member of the architectural commission of the Diocese of New York. Substantial gifts are being secured by Father Carruthers to provide for chapel facilities and the renovations necessary before the moving of the order sometime in June or July.

Jury Gets Froman And Markoff Case

New York, March 18 (AP)—A Supreme Court jury today received a multi-million-dollar damage suit brought against Pan American World Airways by singer Jane Froman and two others.

Miss Froman and accordionist Gypsy Markoff are suing the airline because of injuries they suffered in a crash 10 years ago at Lisbon, Portugal.

Sending the case to the jury, Justice Aron Steuer said the jurors must determine whether the plane's pilot was guilty of wilful misconduct, before they decide on awarding damages.

The three plaintiffs, who also include Miss Froman's former husband, Donald Ross, claim the pilot disregarded landing instructions before the crash, in which 24 persons died. The airlines denies it.

After deciding on whether the pilot's action was intentional, the judge said, the jury then should consider damages.

Were on USO Flight

He said both entertainers were entitled to recover for their pain and suffering, their disabilities, medical expenses and any loss of earnings.

Miss Froman is asking two and a half million dollar damages; Miss Markoff, a million. Ross wants $100,000 for loss of his wife's services as a result of the crash.

The plane crashed while carrying USO entertainers on a wartime tour of American forces.

Mooney Elected Rosendale Mayor

In two villages of the county there was no contest at the election held Tuesday.

In Rosendale John J. Mooney was elected mayor, succeeding Mayor J. W. Vaughn, who did not choose to run again after serving six years. George Herd was elected trustee without opposition and Wilfred Doolittle was elected police justice without opposition.

In Pine Hill Charles Griffin, who has served the village as mayor for some twenty years, was unopposed. Conrad Smith was re-elected trustee without opposition.

Changes to Man

Niigata, Japan, March 18 (AP)—A successful change of sex the reverse of Christine Jorgensen's Danish transformation was reported yesterday in Domestic Court here. Kiyoko Hirose, 20, asked far a name change to the masculine Kiyoshi. Since birth Kiyoko had been regarded as a female. She attended girls' school and joined the Young Women's Association of her village. She entered Kobayashi Hospital in Arai Feb. 6 for three operations and a month later, Kiyoko said, was pronounced a man.

MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Pearl Doyle who passed away, 4 years ago today, March 18th, 1949.

What God has done must be the best,
Some day I too, shall be at rest;
And there in some sweet Holy land,
We'll walk together, hand-in-hand.
MOTHER

MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear father Max H. Richter, who passed away 3 years ago today March 18, 1950.

Oh, what would I give to clasp his hand
His dear, kind face to see;
To hear his voice, to see his smile
That meant so much to me.

Rent Bill . . .

way, the legislature girded itself to deal with more hot issues as it drove toward adjournment by the end of the week.

In top developments:

1. Republican leaders said they had enough votes to pass Dewey's program to help New York city solve its financial crisis. The bills are due for a floor showdown tomorrow.

GOP chiefs expect that Queens Republicans will oppose the proposed 50-million-dollar increase in city real estate taxes, but will go along with a recommended payroll levy. Westchester and Nassau county Republicans are expected to vote against the payroll tax, but support the real estate tax increase.

To Clear Court Plan

2. Reluctant lawmakers were scheduled to approve Dewey's proposed $100,000 survey of the state's court system—a plan that nearly was killed last week by the Senate Finance Committee.

GOP leaders agreed that the court-study measure would be cleared if Dewey did not press for approval of his program bill to require all motorists to carry automobile liability insurance.

The Assembly Rules Committee approved the court bill early today.

3. "Mystery" bills drastically curbing the power of labor unions to make contributions to political parties neared a showdown on the Senate floor after clearance by the Codes Committee.

The bills were introduced through the Rules Committees in the Senate and Assembly—but no one would say who was responsible for them. The committee chairmen, Speaker Oswald D. Heck and Sen. Arthur H. Wicks, said they did not know who introduced the measures.

B-50 Returns Fire

"pursuit dive" and made directly for the B-50.

Rich said he immediately ordered the pilot of his plane, 1st Lt. Harry F. Welch, of Ft. Huron, Mich., to dive into a layer of clouds at the 10,000 foot level.

As the B-50 screamed toward cover, Rich said, he heard three or four of the crew members shout over the intercom system: "They're firing at us."

Gave Order To Fire

"I issued the order 'fire back,'" Rich said.

The Baraboo, Wisc., colonel said members of the crew could plainly see smoke trailing from the MIG's guns as it fired "three or four" bursts from 1,000 yards away.

T/Sgt. Jesse L. Prim, Ozark, Ark., central flight control gunner, waited until the MIG was within 400 yards and then fired, by remote control, a burst of 20 shots from each of six .50 caliber machine guns.

All of Prim's shots passed behind the MIG, which dove underneath the bomber, came up on the other side in a high climb and vanished.

Lasted 14 Minutes

The whole episode lasted about 14 minutes, Rich said.

The flight was purely a weather reconnaissance mission, he said, but the plane was fully armed.

The first air encounter between planes of the west and east coast occurred a week ago yesterday when a MIG-15 downed an American Thunderjet on patrol over western Germany. The pilot escaped alive.

On March 12, a Soviet-type MIG-15 shot down a British bomber over the Elbe river valley in western Germany, with the bomber's seven crewmen killed or fatally injured in the flaming crash.

In Washington, Sen. Magnuson (D.-Wash.) said if the Soviets are going to be so "trigger happy" they might attack commercial aircraft flying the great circle route from the Pacific northwest to the Orient if they stray off course.

Magnuson said there was no excuse for the MIG to fire first and that it should have radioed the American plane to see if it was lost before opening fire.

Street Lights Shot Out

Police were notified at 12:48 a. m., today that street light bulbs were being shot out in the Wilbur avenue and South Wall street area. Officers James Harbeck and Francis Loeffler investigated and reported five bulbs shot out on Wilbur avenue and two on Abeel street. The two men who notified police said the person doing the shooting was riding in a blue car.

Bill on Doctors

Albany, March 18 (AP)—Legislation authorizing public health departments to hire non-citizen doctors permanently, instead of only during emergencies, was signed today by Gov. Dewey. The State Health Department bills were introduced by Mrs. Genesta M. Strong. Republican assemblywoman from Nassau county. Canadian doctors frequently fill state and local health jobs when there is a shortage of American applicants.

Casualties in Korea

Washington, March 18 (AP)—The Defense Department today identified 69 Korean war casualties in a new list (No. 771) that included 14 killed, 50 wounded, three missing and two injured. It also reported captured 12 men previously listed as missing in action.

Reid Reelected New Paltz Mayor By 138 Majority

Dr. Robert Reid was reelected mayor of the village of New Paltz Tuesday in one of the most hotly contested elections ever held in the village. Mayor Reid won by 138 votes over Jesse Pilch, who had been nominated at a "rump" caucus held in one corner of the caucus hall after Dr. Reid had been named as the People's Party choice.

Mayor Reid received 444 votes and Pilch 306. Only 47 votes were cast last year when village trustees were elected. Yesterday the total vote cast was 760. In the 1949 election when Dr. Reid was elected mayor and there was no contest, only 472 votes were cast.

The voting started at 3 p. m. when the polls opened and continued through to 8:45 when the last voter in the building had cast his vote. Polls closed at 7 p. m. but there was a long line winding through the hall and all inside the building at 7 o'clock were given an opportunity to vote. Several outside the building at 7 p. m. were unable to vote.

On the eve of election Peter Harp, backer of Pilch, circulated a letter from house to house, delivered by boys on bicycles, urging voters to turn out and support Pilch. The League of Women Voters was also active in the campaign, urging voters to vote for their favorite candidate.

How Count Went

For trustee Robert Jansen was elected by a vote of 737 and Marinus Peterson was second with 630. Dr. Roland Will, who was defeated at the caucus by Peterson, received 49 write-in votes. Clifford Van Valkenburgh, also defeated at the caucus, received seven votes and Gregory Rheude received one vote. Bill Lounzen received one vote.

Wilbur Fredenburgh received one vote for mayor and Joe Tighe also received one vote for mayor. There were two blank votes for mayor.

There were 87 blank votes for trustee. Six ballots were void for mayor and also for trustee.

First and Last

Nick Kuerstine was the first voter at the polls when they opened and John Ashton was the last voter, except for the village officials and candidates who voted last. Because of the write-in campaign and the large number of votes cast there was difficulty in getting the results and it was necessary to go over the 1,520 ballots cast many times before the final result was reached. It was 10:20 before the final result was known. Clerk Vredenburgh had worked over nine hours straight without food or drink in order to take care of the vote which began as soon as polls opened and continued throughout the day. Because of the contest and the hand marking of ballots it took voters from four to five minutes after entering the booth to mark ballots.

Changes in the system are already under discussion for future elections in the event of a hotly contested village election.

Holmes Goes Back In Saugerties as Mayor of Village

Mayor George Holmes of Saugerties, who was nominated by the Independent party and was unopposed by the Citizens Protective party, was reelected by a vote of 729 at the village elections Tuesday.

In the election of village trustees Eugene Thornton, nominated by the Independents and endorsed by the Citizens Protective party, received a total of 1021 votes, 556 on the Independent ticket and 465 on the Citizens Protective ticket. Thornton was nominated to replace Jesse Van Gaasbeck, who declined to run again.

The vote cast Tuesday was about 200 short of the vote last year. A total of 1108 votes was cast.

For village trustees the Independent party candidates won both contested positions. Elton Johnson received 557 votes, Frank Short 562. On the Citizens Protective ticket David Cunningham received 535, losing by 22 votes, and Hugo Knauert received 504 votes.

Mayor Newkirk

in the best possible way to aid in the reconstruction of her country.

"The spontaneous help which you and your city are giving has given Her Majesty great moral support and will greatly contribute to alleviate the suffering of the flood victims with the least possible delay.

"I would appreciate it if you on behalf of Her Majesty would inform the people of Kingston how deeply she is touched by the relief action of your city, more especially since Her Majesty's stay in Kingston was an outstanding event in the royal visit to the United States in 1952. Her Majesty will always retain the most pleasant memories of the time spent in Kingston."

850 OPS Suits Continue

Washington, March 18 (AP)—Price control is ended but its enforcement lingers on. The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS), which abolished the last remaining ceilings yesterday, said today it intends to press compliance cases against 5,350 alleged violators of the ceilings while they were in effect. Administrator Joseph H. Freehill told reporters 850 civil damage suits are pending in courts for some eight million dollars in overcharges. Another 4,500 cases still being handled by OPS enforcement officials will be carried to completion, Freehill said.

Financial and Commercial

BY RADER WINGET

New York, March 18 (AP)—The stock market held steady today in the midst of considerable selective strength.

The bulk of the list had fractional changes for the most part. Where buying centered, prices were up between 1 to 3 points.

Trading progressed in an irregular manner with the overall rate well below yesterday's large 2,110,000 shares. Incidentally that was the eighth time this year that trading has passed the two million mark.

Montgomery Ward was up between 2 and 3 points at times with demand brisk. Other good gainers included Douglas Aircraft, Texas Gulf Producing, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, American Cyanamid and Westinghouse Electric.

Steels were steady in early trading then eased off. Republic Steel, however, held higher.

Discipline of Pilot

U. S. and British protests in recent days over the unopposed shooting down of two allied aircraft over Germany.

The Pentagon won the decision to announce the Kamchatka affair yesterday after maintaining the military view that it would be better to get out the factual story before Moscow could use a perverted version for propaganda purposes or to exert diplomatic pressure.

Owners Refusal On Transfer of Browns Is Probed

Washington, March 18 (AP)—The Justice Department said today its anti-trust division is studying the refusal of American League Club owners to permit a transfer of the St. Louis Browns franchise to Baltimore.

The department said Maryland Congressmen Devereaux (R.) and Friedel (D.) have filed a joint complaint about the refusal and asked for an investigation.

Their request has been referred to anti-trust attorneys to see if any violation of the anti-trust laws is involved.

The projected switch to Baltimore was voted down earlier this week.

Yesterday Rep. Celler (D.-N.Y.) said he would ask a House Judiciary Subcommittee which specializes in monopoly to have a look at the refusal.

To Wait for Vishinsky

United Nations, March 18 (AP)—The Russians reportedly are going to stall off any decision on a new UN secretary general until Andrei Y. Vishinsky returns March 26 from his Moscow conferences with the new Malenkov regime. Informed sources said the Kremlin has ordered its delegate Valerian A. Zorin to make no commitments.

Wanted Opponent

Rhinebeck, N. Y., March 18 (AP)—William F. Pollard, who twice was elected mayor without opposition, this year appealed publicly for someone to run against him so the people would have a choice. Walter F. Wheeler responded to the plea. By a vote of 350 to 236 he became the new mayor today.

Up to Communists

London, March 18 (AP)—The British government says it will continue to seek a Korean armistice—but has no hope the Reds want one at this time. This was outlined in a white paper presented yesterday at Parliament. The paper chiefly was a summary of events in Korea between June 1951 and January 1953.

Queen Has Fair Night

London, March 18 (AP)—Queen Mary, ill for more than three weeks with a gastric disturbance, maintained a slight improvement today. Her doctors said she had a fair night. The 85-year-old grandmother of Queen Elizabeth II is confined to her bed in Marlborough House, her residence.

Jury Gets Froman And Markoff Case

New York, March 18 (AP)—A Supreme Court jury today received a multi-million-dollar damage suit brought against Pan American World Airways by singer Jane Froman and two others.

Miss Froman and accordionist Gypsy Markoff are suing the airline because of injuries they suffered in a crash 10 years ago at Lisbon, Portugal.

Sending the case to the jury, Justice Aron Steuer said the jurors must determine whether the plane's pilot was guilty of wilful misconduct, before they decide on awarding damages.

The three plaintiffs, who also include Miss Froman's former husband, Donald Ross, claim the pilot disregarded landing instructions before the crash, in which 24 persons died. The airlines denies it.

After deciding on whether the pilot's action was intentional, the judge said, the jury then should consider damages.

Were on USO Flight

He said both entertainers were entitled to recover for their pain and suffering, their disabilities, medical expenses and any loss of earnings.

Miss Froman is asking two and a half million dollar damages; Miss Markoff, a million. Ross wants $100,000 for loss of his wife's services as a result of the crash.

The plane crashed while carrying USO entertainers on a wartime tour of American forces.

Mooney Elected Rosendale Mayor

In two villages of the county there was no contest at the election held Tuesday.

In Rosendale John J. Mooney was elected mayor, succeeding Mayor J. W. Vaughn, who did not choose to run again after serving six years. George Herd was elected trustee without opposition and Wilfred Doolittle was elected police justice without opposition.

In Pine Hill Charles Griffin, who has served the village as mayor for some twenty years, was unopposed. Conrad Smith was re-elected trustee without opposition.

Changes to Man

Niigata, Japan, March 18 (AP)—A successful change of sex the reverse of Christine Jorgensen's Danish transformation was reported yesterday in Domestic Court here. Kiyoko Hirose, 20, asked far a name change to the masculine Kiyoshi. Since birth Kiyoko had been regarded as a female. She attended girls' school and joined the Young Women's Association of her village. She entered Kobayashi Hospital in Arai Feb. 6 for three operations and a month later, Kiyoko said, was pronounced a man.

MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Pearl Doyle who passed away, 4 years ago today, March 18th, 1949.

What God has done must be the best,
Some day I too, shall be at rest;
And there in some sweet Holy land,
We'll walk together, hand-in-hand.

MOTHER

MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear father Max H. Richter, who passed away 3 years ago today March 18, 1950.

Oh, what would I give to clasp his hand
His dear, kind face to see;
To hear his voice, to see his smile
That meant so much to me.

Rent Bill . . .

way, the legislature girded itself to deal with more hot issues as it drove toward adjournment by the end of the week.

In top developments:

1. Republican leaders said they had enough votes to pass Dewey's program to help New York city solve its financial crisis. The bills are due for a floor showdown tomorrow.

GOP chiefs expect that Queens Republicans will oppose the proposed 50-million-dollar increase in city real estate taxes, but will go along with a recommended payroll levy. Westchester and Nassau county Republicans are expected to vote against the payroll tax, but support the real estate tax increase.

To Clear Court Plan

2. Reluctant lawmakers were scheduled to approve Dewey's proposed $100,000 survey of the state's court system—a plan that nearly was killed last week by the Senate Finance Committee.

GOP leaders agreed that the court-study measure would be cleared if Dewey did not press for approval of his program bill to require all motorists to carry automobile liability insurance.

The Assembly Rules Committee approved the court bill early today.

3. "Mystery" bills drastically curbing the power of labor unions to make contributions to political parties neared a showdown on the Senate floor after clearance by the Codes Committee.

The bills were introduced through the Rules Committees in the Senate and Assembly—but no one would say who was responsible for them. The committee chairmen, Speaker Oswald D. Heck and Sen. Arthur H. Wicks, said they did not know who introduced the measures.

B-50 Returns Fire

"pursuit dive" and made directly for the B-50.

Rich said he immediately ordered the pilot of his plane, 1st Lt. Harry F. Welch, of Ft. Huron, Mich., to dive into a layer of clouds at the 10,000 foot level.

As the B-50 screamed toward cover, Rich said, he heard three or four of the crew members shout over the intercom system: "They're firing at us."

Gave Order To Fire

"I issued the order 'fire back,'" Rich said.

The Baraboo, Wisc., colonel said members of the crew could plainly see smoke trailing from the MIG's guns as it fired "three or four" bursts from 1,000 yards away.

T/Sgt. Jesse L. Prim, Ozark, Ark., central flight control gunner, waited until the MIG was within 400 yards and then fired, by remote control, a burst of 20 shots from each of six .50 caliber machine guns.

All of Prim's shots passed behind the MIG, which dove underneath the bomber, came up on the other side in a high climb and vanished.

Lasted 14 Minutes

The whole episode lasted about 14 minutes, Rich said.

The flight was purely a weather reconnaissance mission, he said, but the plane was fully armed.

The first air encounter between planes of the west and east coast occurred a week ago yesterday when a MIG-15 downed an American Thunderjet on patrol over western Germany. The pilot escaped alive.

On March 12, a Soviet-type MIG-15 shot down a British bomber over the Elbe river valley in western Germany, with the bomber's seven crewmen killed or fatally injured in the flaming crash.

In Washington, Sen. Magnuson (D.-Wash.) said if the Soviets are going to be so "trigger happy" they might attack commercial aircraft flying the great circle route from the Pacific northwest to the Orient if they stray off course.

Magnuson said there was no excuse for the MIG to fire first and that it should have radioed the American plane to see if it was lost before opening fire.

Street Lights Shot Out

Police were notified at 12:48 a. m., today that street light bulbs were being shot out in the Wilbur avenue and South Wall street area. Officers James Harbeck and Francis Loeffler investigated and reported five bulbs shot out on Wilbur avenue and two on Abeel street. The two men who notified police said the person doing the shooting was riding in a blue car.

Bill on Doctors

Albany, March 18 (AP)—Legislation authorizing public health departments to hire non-citizen doctors permanently, instead of only during emergencies, was signed today by Gov. Dewey. The State Health Department bills were introduced by Mrs. Genesta M. Strong. Republican assemblywoman from Nassau county. Canadian doctors frequently fill state and local health jobs when there is a shortage of American applicants.

Casualties in Korea

Washington, March 18 (AP)—The Defense Department today identified 69 Korean war casualties in a new list (No. 771) that included 14 killed, 50 wounded, three missing and two injured. It also reported captured 12 men previously listed as missing in action.

Reid Reelected New Paltz Mayor By 138 Majority

Dr. Robert Reid was reelected mayor of the village of New Paltz Tuesday in one of the most hotly contested elections ever held in the village. Mayor Reid won by 138 votes over Jesse Pilch, who had been nominated at a "rump" caucus held in one corner of the caucus hall after Dr. Reid had been named as the People's Party choice.

Mayor Reid received 444 votes and Pilch 306. Only 47 votes were cast last year when village trustees were elected. Yesterday the total vote cast was 760. In the 1949 election when Dr. Reid was elected mayor and there was no contest, only 472 votes were cast.

The voting started at 3 p. m. when the polls opened and continued through to 8:45 when the last voter in the building had cast his vote. Polls closed at 7 p. m. but there was a long line winding through the hall and all inside the building at 7 o'clock were given an opportunity to vote. Several outside the building at 7 p. m. were unable to vote.

On the eve of election Peter Harp, backer of Pilch, circulated a letter from house to house, delivered by boys on bicycles, urging voters to turn out and support Pilch. The League of Women Voters was also active in the campaign, urging voters to vote for their favorite candidate.

How Count Went

For trustee Robert Jansen was elected by a vote of 737 and Marinus Peterson was second with 630. Dr. Roland Will, who was defeated at the caucus by Peterson, received 49 write-in votes, Clifford Van Valkenburgh, also defeated at the caucus, received seven votes and Gregory Rheude received one vote. Bill Lounzen received one vote.

Wilbur Fredenburgh received one vote for mayor and Joe Tighe also received one vote for mayor. There were two blank votes for mayor.

There were 87 blank votes for trustee. Six ballots were void for mayor and also for trustee.

First and Last

Nick Kuerstine was the first voter at the polls when they opened and John Ashton was the last voter, except for the village officials and candidates who voted last. Because of the write-in campaign and the large number of votes cast there was difficulty in getting the results and it was necessary to go over the 1,520 ballots cast many times before the final result was reached. It was 10:20 before the final result was known. Clerk Vredenburgh had worked over nine hours straight without food or drink in order to take care of the vote which began as soon as polls opened and continued throughout the day. Because of the contest and the hand marking of ballots it took voters from four to five minutes after entering the booth to mark ballots.

Changes in the system are already under discussion for future elections in the event of a hotly contested village election.

Holmes Goes Back In Saugerties as Mayor of Village

Mayor George Holmes of Saugerties, who was nominated by the Independent party and was unopposed by the Citizens Protective party, was reelected by a vote of 729 at the village elections Tuesday.

In the election of village trustees Eugene Thornton, nominated by the Independents and endorsed by the Citizens Protective party, received a total of 1021 votes, 556 on the Independent ticket and 465 on the Citizens Protective ticket. Thornton was nominated to replace Jesse Van Gaasbeck, who declined to run again.

The vote cast Tuesday was about 200 short of the vote last year. A total of 1108 votes was cast.

For village trustees the Independent party candidates won both contested positions. Elton Johnson received 557 votes, Frank Short 562. On the Citizens Protective ticket David Cunningham received 535, losing by 22 votes, and Hugo Knauert received 504 votes.

"The spontaneous help which you and your city are giving has given Her Majesty great moral support and will greatly contribute to alleviate the suffering of the flood victims with the least possible delay.

"I would appreciate it if you on behalf of Her Majesty would inform the people of Kingston how deeply she is touched by the relief action of your city, more especially since Her Majesty's stay in Kingston was an outstanding event in the royal visit to the United States in 1952. Her Majesty will always retain the most pleasant memories of the time spent in Kingston."

850 OPS Suits Continue

Washington, March 18 (AP)—Price control is ended but its enforcement lingers on. The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS), which abolished the last remaining ceilings yesterday, said today it intends to press compliance cases against 5,350 alleged violators of the ceilings while they were in effect. Administrator Joseph H. Freehill told reporters 850 civil damage suits are pending in courts for some eight million dollars in overcharges. Another 4,500 cases still being handled by OPS enforcement officials will be carried to completion, Freehill said.

Financial and Commercial

BY RADER WINGET

New York, March 18 (AP)—The stock market held steady today in the midst of considerable selective strength.

The bulk of the list had fractional changes for the most part. Where buying centered, prices were up between 1 to 3 points.

Trading progressed in an irregular manner with the overall rate well below yesterday's large 2,110,000 shares. Incidentally that was the eighth time this year that trading has passed the two million mark.

Montgomery Ward was up between 2 and 3 points at times with demand brisk. Other good gainers included Douglas Aircraft, Texas Gulf Producing, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, American Cyanamid and Westinghouse Electric.

Steels were steady in early trading then eased off. Republic Steel, however, held higher.

Owners Refusal On Transfer of Browns Is Probed

Washington, March 18 (AP)—The Justice Department said today its anti-trust division is studying the refusal of American League Club owners to permit a transfer of the St. Louis Browns franchise to Baltimore.

The department said Maryland Congressmen Devereaux (R.) and Friedel (D.) have filed a joint complaint about the refusal and asked for an investigation.

Their request has been referred to anti-trust attorneys to see if any violation of the anti-trust laws is involved.

The projected switch to Baltimore was voted down earlier this week.

Yesterday Rep. Celler (D.-N. Y.) said he would ask a House Judiciary Subcommittee which specializes in monopoly to have a look at the refusal.

To Wait for Vishinsky

United Nations, March 18 (AP)—The Russians reportedly are going to stall off any decision on a new UN secretary general until Andrei Y. Vishinsky returns March 26 from his Moscow conferences with the new Malenkov regime. Informed sources said the Kremlin has ordered its delegate Valerian A. Zorin to make no commitments.

Wanted Opponent

Rhinebeck, N. Y., March 18 (AP)—William F. Pollard, who twice was elected mayor without opposition, this year appealed publicly for someone to run against him so the people would have a choice. Walter F. Wheeler responded to the plea. By a vote of 350 to 236 he became the new mayor today.

a harmless nature by which Communists could become leaders."

"The decision of Moscow was," he said, "that it would be unnecessary to go into elaborate military training when this training could be obtained at government expense by the members enlisting in the National Guard, ROTC and other branches. Fort Snelling, Minn., is one place quite a number of Communists were sent."

Crouch testified that a Washington columnist wrote two or three articles of "the sharpest criticism of the War Department for failing to take advantage of the ability of a man like Howard Lee." He said Lee was a Communist. The name of the columnist was deleted from the record.

Crouch himself was sentenced in 1924 to 40 years for "conduct prejudicial to good order and discipline." The sentence was cut to three years, served at Alcatraz when that prison was a disciplinary barracks.

A few days ago, in tune with a propaganda which Pearson has been waging to shake off his pro-Communist record, he gave himself credit for a heavy blow against communism in the Iron Curtain countries. He did this by sending notes across the line attached to toy balloons.

Blue and Gold Plates

Albany, March 18 (AP)—New York state's motor vehicle plates will be colored blue and gold, the state's official colors, if the Senate and Gov. Dewey agree with the Assembly. The large House approved a bill yesterday to substitute the new colors for the present orange and black, effective in 1955.

54 Per Cent Hike Reported in Road Contracts for '52

Albany, March 18 (AP)—A record total of $223,494,111 was awarded by the Public Works Department in highway construction contracts last pear—54 per cent boost from the previous high mark.

The department said yesterday the contracts covered a total of 898.29 miles of highways, parkways, grade-crossing eliminations, urban arterial routes and bridges. It also included 297.9 miles of the state's 497-mile Thruway between New York city and the Pennsylvania border southwest of Buffalo.

The previous award mark was in 1949, when contracts totalling $144,621,904 were let for 435 miles of construction.

Superintendent Bertram D. Tallamy said in his annual report to Gov. Dewey and the Legislature that his department "is faced with approximately two more years during which it must continue to carry an extremely heavy program of field supervision of the Thruway and regular highway projects."

Tallamy said the department had completed plans for an additional $52,200,000 in future highway projects and had "generally supervised more than 205 million dollars worth of work being designed by consultants."

State Buildings

A total of 469 construction contracts, amounting to $34,837,194, was awarded for construction of buildings at state institutions.

The report said that throughout 1952, "field supervision of building construction by the state architect's office averaged in excess of 100 million dollars, which included progress of work on contracts previously awarded, as well as some 38 million dollars of new work placed under contract during the year."

"This, too, represents a new record of sustained activity for a 12-month period," it said.

The department reported it had spent $30,154,149 last year on highway maintenance. This was about $2,800,000 more than in the previous year.

It also said canal and waterway construction totalled nearly five million dollars in 1952.

A total of 156,000 miles of highway-safety inspections was conducted by the department last year and 2,100 physical hazards were removed.

Principal Jelke Witness Held for Women's Court

Chicago, March 18 (AP)—Erica Steel, 28-year-old New York cafe society madam and a principal witness in the recent vice trial of Minot (Mickey) Jelke, was summoned into women's court today on a charge of disorderly conduct.

The former dancer and showgirl was arrested by police last night in a near north side hotel with a man who identified himself as Carl Jarrett, 37. Jarrett also was charged with disorderly conduct and released on $100 bond for appearance in women's court with Miss Steel. He gave his address as the Belden Hotel, Chicago.

Miss Steel, who was due to be sentenced in New York today on her plea of guilty on Jan. 12 to maintaining a public nuisance, had registered at the hotel police said, as Miss Gayle Roberts, and gave her age as 31. Later, at the Hudson avenue police station, she said she was Erica Steel.

Suspended From Play

New York, March 18 (AP)—Jenny Hecht, 9-year-old daughter of writer Ben Hecht, has been suspended from the Broadway play, "Mid-Summer," in which she made a much-applauded debut. The Actors Equity Council, governing board for the actors' union, announced the suspension last night. A hearing was set for March 31. The New York Times said it learned from other sources that the complaint stemmed from insubordination.

U. S. Presses Suit On Flyers, Plane

Washington, March 18 (AP)—The United States is pressing a $637,894 claim against Russia and Communist Hungary for the seizure of four American flyers and their plane 16 months ago—but prospects of collecting are dim.

The claim was filed yesterday in sperate notes delivered at Moscow and Budapest. Unless Russia or Hungary should unexpectedly pay, the U. S. proposes to take the case to the International Court. If Russia and Hungary refuse to go along with this idea, the next prospect is for some action by the United Nations General Assembly.

Lost in Flight

In the notes the U. S. charged the American flyers were duped into landing behind the Iron Curtain at a time when they were lost on a legitimate, routine flight and were sending out distress signals by radio. Soviet jets guided the U. S. plane to a landing in Hungary and it was six weeks later that the men were released from captivity after the U. S. government, under protest, paid a $123,605 ransom "fine."

The plane, a C-47 cargo craft, was kept by Hungary, which has rejected previous American attempts to repossess it. The flyers were released Dec. 28, 1951, after being "tried" in Communist court proceedings which the U. S. charged were in effect a farce.

The U. S. claim is for the amount of the "fine" plus the value of the aircraft, and damages.

Get 2 Trays of Diamonds

Miami, Fla., March 18 (AP)—Masked bandits ramrodded their way into a jewelry store on swank Lincoln Road late last night and made off with $500,000 worth of diamonds. Detective Sgt. R. P. Thompson said two men with handkerchiefs across their faces used a stout piece of lumber to batter down the rear door at the A. Taylor and Sons store. Abe Taylor, owner of the store, his wife Lillian, and their son Donald, working late, were hustled to the front of the building by three shots fired into the floor. Then the men took two trays of diamonds and fled.

NORM KIDDER, County Agent, discusses orchard care with Bill Wais, upstate New York apple grower.

says County Agricultural Agent Norm Kidder, Albany, N. Y.

"Early this morning, Bill Wais phoned me to come over and see him on a problem he had with his orchards. Later, another farmer called about making a soil test. Still another phoned me to check the variety of corn he should plant. And so it goes—dozens of calls a week keep me and my phone hard at work for 1453 farmers. It's my job to keep them posted, and I couldn't handle it without the telephone."

Growing crops or bringing them to your table, telephones serve you the year round. And in your everyday life, chores are made easier and friends brought closer, thanks to the telephone. Few things you can buy today are as big a bargain! Actually the telephone takes a much smaller part of the average family budget than it did in 1940!

You get faster, better, more useful service, too. You can reach more people. For example, in the average community today customers can call twice as many telephones as they could ten years ago. And we're going right ahead with the costliest construction program in our history—to catch up with the backlog for phones, to meet the continuing demand, and to make service even better than ever.

Measured by service or measured by price, your telephone is one of today's big bargains.

TODAY'S BIG BARGAIN. Your cost of living has jumped 90% since 1940. Yet the price of phone service has risen an average of only 15% — more for some and less for others, of course, depending on the type of service and the use made of it.

Albany, March 18 (AP)—A record total of $223,494,111 was awarded by the Public Works Department in highway construction contracts last pear—54 per cent boost from the previous high mark.

The department said yesterday the contracts covered a total of 898.29 miles of highways, parkways, grade-crossing eliminations, urban arterial routes and bridges. It also included 297.9 miles of the state's 497-mile Thruway between New York city and the Pennsylvania border southwest of Buffalo.

The previous award mark was in 1949, when contracts totalling $144,621,904 were let for 435 miles of construction.

Superintendent Bertram D. Tallamy said in his annual report to Gov. Dewey and the Legislature that his department "is faced with approximately two more years during which it must continue to carry an extremely heavy program of field supervision of the Thruway and regular highway projects."

Tallamy said the department had completed plans for an additional $52,200,000 in future highway projects and had "generally supervised more than 205 million dollars worth of work being designed by consultants."

State Buildings

A total of 469 construction contracts, amounting to $34,837,194, was awarded for construction of buildings at state institutions.

The report said that throughout 1952, "field supervision of building construction by the state architect's office averaged in excess of 100 million dollars, which included progress of work on contracts previously awarded, as well as some 38 million dollars of new work placed under contract during the year."

"This, too, represents a new record of sustained activity for a 12-month period," it said.

The department reported it had spent $30,154,149 last year on highway maintenance. This was about $2,800,000 more than in the previous year.

It also said canal and waterway construction totalled nearly five million dollars in 1952.

A total of 156,000 miles of highway-safety inspections was conducted by the department last year and 2,100 physical hazards were removed.

Principal Jelke Witness Held for Women's Court

Chicago, March 18 (AP)—Erica Steel, 28-year-old New York cafe society madam and a principal witness in the recent vice trial of Minot (Mickey) Jelke, was summoned into women's court today on a charge of disorderly conduct.

The former dancer and showgirl was arrested by police last night in a near north side hotel with a man who identified himself as Carl Jarrett, 37. Jarrett also was charged with disorderly conduct and released on $100 bond for appearance in women's court with Miss Steel. He gave his address as the Belden Hotel, Chicago.

Miss Steel, who was due to be sentenced in New York today on her plea of guilty on Jan. 12 to maintaining a public nuisance, had registered at the hotel police said, as Miss Gayle Roberts, and gave her age as 31. Later, at the Hudson avenue police station, she said she was Erica Steel.

Suspended From Play

New York, March 18 (AP)—Jenny Hecht, 9-year-old daughter of writer Ben Hecht, has been suspended from the Broadway play, "Mid-Summer," in which she made a much-applauded debut. The Actors Equity Council, governing board for the actors' union, announced the suspension last night. A hearing was set for March 31. The New York Times said it learned from other sources that the complaint stemmed from insubordination.

U. S. Presses Suit On Flyers, Plane

Washington, March 18 (AP)—The United States is pressing a $637,894 claim against Russia and Communist Hungary for the seizure of four American flyers and their plane 16 months ago—but prospects of collecting are dim.

The claim was filed yesterday in sperate notes delivered at Moscow and Budapest. Unless Russia or Hungary should unexpectedly pay, the U. S. proposes to take the case to the International Court. If Russia and Hungary refuse to go along with this idea, the next prospect is for some action by the United Nations General Assembly.

Lost in Flight

In the notes the U. S. charged the American flyers were duped into landing behind the Iron Curtain at a time when they were lost on a legitimate, routine flight and were sending out distress signals by radio. Soviet jets guided the U. S. plane to a landing in Hungary and it was six weeks later that the men were released from captivity after the U. S. government, under protest, paid a $123,605 ransom "fine."

The plane, a C-47 cargo craft, was kept by Hungary, which has rejected previous American attempts to repossess it. The flyers were released Dec. 28, 1951, after being "tried" in Communist court proceedings which the U. S. charged were in effect a farce.

The U. S. claim is for the amount of the "fine" plus the value of the aircraft, and damages.

Why We Say--

. . . A Challenge

This expression is not a toast to another; it is a toast to yourself. The allusion is to a horse race. If the track is at all muddy, the rider of the losing horse is very likely to get mud in his eye from the horse that is winning.

Get 2 Trays of Diamonds

Miami, Fla., March 18 (AP)—Masked bandits ramrodded their way into a jewelry store on swank Lincoln Road late last night and made off with $500,000 worth of diamonds. Detective Sgt. R. P. Thompson said two men with handkerchiefs across their faces used a stout piece of lumber to batter down the rear door at the A. Taylor and Sons store. Abe Taylor, owner of the store, his wife Lillian, and their son Donald, working late, were hustled to the front of the building by three shots fired into the floor. Then the men took two trays of diamonds and fled.

NORM KIDDER, County Agent, discusses orchard care with Bill Wais, upstate New York apple grower.

says County Agricultural Agent Norm Kidder, Albany, N. Y.

"Early this morning, Bill Wais phoned me to come over and see him on a problem he had with his orchards. Later, another farmer called about making a soil test. Still another phoned me to check the variety of corn he should plant. And so it goes—dozens of calls a week keep me and my phone hard at work for 1453 farmers. It's my job to keep them posted, and I couldn't handle it without the telephone."

Growing crops or bringing them to your table, telephones serve you the year round. And in your everyday life, chores are made easier and friends brought closer, thanks to the telephone. Few things you can buy today are as big a bargain! Actually the telephone takes a much smaller part of the average family budget than it did in 1940!

You get faster, better, more useful service, too. You can reach more people. For example, in the average community today customers can call twice as many telephones as they could ten years ago. And we're going right ahead with the costliest construction program in our history—to catch up with the backlog for phones, to meet the continuing demand, and to make service even better than ever.

Measured by service or measured by price, your telephone is one of today's big bargains.

TODAY'S BIG BARGAIN. Your cost of living has jumped 90% since 1940. Yet the price of phone service has risen an average of only 15%—more for some and less for others, of course, depending on the type of service and the use made of it.

Dewey Signs for Toll

Albany, March 18 (AP)—Gov. Dewey today signed a bill permitting the Jones Beach State Parkway Authority to levy a 10-cent toll to help pay for a 40-million-dollar improvement program on the southern state parkway in Nassau county. Dewey signed the measure without comment. The bill's sponsor, Republican Sen. John D. Bennett of Rockville Centre, said an improved six-lane highway was needed and the "only feasible way to supply it is by a bond issue and a toll."

Large Attendance Hears Reports at Comforter Session

One of the largest groups to attend a Kingston District meeting and roundtable of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, was present Monday evening at Comforter Hall to listen to reports concerning activities in the District and to discuss plans for the summer session of Camp Tri-Mount and the district rally to be held in the near future.

Cub Pack 15 of the Reformed Church of the Comforter was host to the meeting, with the opening ceremonies presented by Cub Scouts Thomas DeWitt, H. Phillips Eighmey, William Niles and Roger Nickerson, playing trumpets, and Walter Demskie and Paul Noble as flag bearers.

Frank Teel, Field Executive of the Rip Van Winkle Council, presented a colored film of the Boy Scout Camp at East Jewett and discussed plans for the summer session of the camp.

Rally is Subject

Preliminary plans for the district rally to be held this spring were also reviewed. This rally will feature the participation of both Boy and Cub Scouts.

Monday's meeting recorded an increase in attendance of Den Mothers, from five of the Cub Packs in the district. Scout Executive George V. Dennis emphasized that all adult leaders of both Boy and Cub Scouts are invited to these monthly meetings, and meeting programs are planned to interest leaders from all departments of the Scout movement. Next month's meeting was announced for Monday evening, April 20, at 7:45 p. m. at the Old Dutch Church, with Troop 12 as hosts.

Would Allow Candidates To Spend More Money

Albany, March 18 (AP)—The Legislature says political candidates should be permitted to spend more money on their campaigns. Inflation and television have boosted costs.

The Assembly sent Gov. Dewey a bill yesterday that would double the legal limit on spending for such purposes. It would raise the ceiling to $20,000 for gubernatorial candidates; $12,000 for lieutenant governor, comptroller and attorney general; $8,000 for congressmen; $4,000 for state senators and $2,000 for assemblymen.

The Assembly approved and sent to the Senate a Dewey administration bill to extend registration hours for voters in New York city and Westchester county. It would advance the opening of weekday registration from 5 to 3:30 p. m. However, the 10:30 p. m. closing hour and the 7 a. m. Saturday opening time would not be changed.

The bill was introduced by Republican Assemblyman Harold D. Toomey of Mount Vernon, who died last week.

Shokan

Shokan, March 17—Mr. and Mrs. Thord Fredenholm of Albany spent Friday at their place adjoining the Baptist Church grounds. The couple plan to sell the house which they bought of Bertha Greene two years ago. They expect soon to start work on an addition to their cottage on the reservoir road, an ell with cellar which will be attached to the north side of the present building. There are now three dwellings for sale within a few hundred feet of the corner store, the other two being the Charles Greene and Julia Winchell houses.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Grumme, one time residents of Shokan, were callers in Shokan Saturday. The Grummes now make their home on the Wittenberg road, over the hill from Glenford, and Harold is employed at the Rotron plant in Woodstock.

Dr. C. Ray Huggins of Margaretville broke his left leg in February when his skis struck a bare spot in the Belleayre Trail. The cast was removed the other day and the next afternoon the doctor's son, John, broke his right leg on the same train. So the lad, like his Dad will have to take things easy for a month.

Bud Irwin, west end real estate operator, bought the red barn on the Harry Braithwaite place and razed it for the lumber.

Louis Thiel, genial Onteora Trail septuagenarian, arrived home by bus Friday from southern Jersey where he spent three months with his daughter, Louise Armstrong, who resides near Clinton. Lou during the winter made a few side trips into nearby Pennsylvania; he talks interestingly of the great new midtown bus station in New York with fine shops and maze of underground passages. Lou is not a stranger to big city ways, however, he having been a trolley car conductor in Newark some 50 years ago.

Mrs. E. Houlihan, a resident of Ashokan in late waterworks days, now makes her home at Wollaston, Mass. The former Grace Newbery's husband at one time was in charge of Board of Water Supply police horses in the reservoir country.

A wedding anniversary falling Thursday, March 19, is that of Cecil and Ethel (Davis) Gray, Tongore storekeepers. The couple, whose marriage took place 1927, at Valatie, have a daughter, Lois.

500 Attend 41st Girl Scouts' Birthday Party at MJM School

About 500 Brownies, Girl Scouts, parents and leaders filled the Myron J. Michael gymnasium last Saturday afternoon to celebrate the 41st birthday of the Girl Scouts.

The program opened with the presentation of flags by Troop 76. The flag bearers were Janet Kaucher, Barbara Schellhammer, Sherry Wilpan and Annette Katz. Color guards were Patti Vendriesco, Carol Haulenbeek, Barbara Sobsey and Marcia Andrews.

Following the pledge of allegiance, the Brownies gave the Brownie promise; the Girl Scouts,' their promise, and the Star Spangled Banner was sung.

Mrs. DeWitt Hasbrouck of High Falls, president of the Ulster County Council, read a telegram of greetings and congratulations from President Eisenhower on the occasion of the 41st birthday of Girl Scouting in the United States. Mrs. Hasbrouck also brought greetings from the Ulster County Council, and welcomed all to the birthday party.

Juliette Low Fund

The presentation of the birthday boxes for the Juliette Low Fund was received by Miss Sylvia Hughes.

The Hymn of Scouting and Stars of the Summer Night were beautifully sung by Troop 76. This was followed by a skit, entitled The Far Away Letter, presented by Troop 54.

The skit was prepared under the guidance of Mrs. Victor Androvich and Mrs. Richard Holbrook, leaders. In the cast were Mary Lou Holbrook, Carol Oskay, Sally Stalhut, and Dotty Jones.

Included in the entertainment program was a twirling demonstration by Barbara Schatzel and Pat Rudolph, with Rosemarie Sturgill at the piano. Acrobatic stunts were performed by Sheila Epstein and Joan Marshall and Judy Robins, accompanied at the piano by Sheila Epstein, did a gypsy dance.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the program.

OES Sponsors Bus Trip

The regular meeting of Kingston Chapter 155, Order of the Eastern Star, will sponsor a bus trip to New York on Saturday, March 28, to accommodate those who would like to attend the Easter pageant. The bus will leave Masonic Temple at 7:30 a. m. and leave New York city at 9 p. m.

Reservations may be made by telephoning Mary Smith, 1075; Marion Hogan, 5731-W; or Ethel Sleight, 4787-J.

Local Delegation Attends UJA Meeting in Albany

A delegation of 18 local residents atended a leadership meeting in Albany Tuesday, sponsored by the Eastern New York division of the United Jewish Welfare Fund. The meeting was called in preparation for the 1953 United Jewish Appeal Fund campaign.

The delegates were told of the urgent needs of Jewish escapees from Communist controlled countries, their resettlement in Israel and other democratic countries, and the problems of strenthening Israel and speeding the absorption of 240,000 recent newcomers.

Featured speaker of the evening was Moses W. Beckelman, director general of the joint distribution committee, who returned this week from Berlin. He gave an eye witness account of refugees flleeing Iron Curtain tyranny. Albert Dekker, star of television, stage and screen, and a former member of the California State Legislation, gave an inspiring account of his recent tour of Israel.

"Millions of Jews", said Mr. Beckelman, "are again in terrible danger, in Iron Curtain countries and Moslem lands. Although the calender says that it's 1953, in Eastern Europe the date reads more like 1933."

Those attending the meeting from Kingston included Richard M. Kalish, Joseph Honig, Herman Eaton, Abraham Streifer, Ben Silverman, Murray Sklar, Rabbi and Mrs. Herbert Bloom, Aaron and Gilbert Adin, Rae Weiner, Norman Rafalowsky, Mrs. Leone Gross, Arthur Ewig, Dr. Herbert Derman, Mrs. George Starkman, Miss Sadie Lutzin and Seymour Werbalowsky.

Miss Shirley Stopski Sets Wedding Date

Miss Shirley Stopski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Stopski, Poughkeepsie, has chosen Sunday, April 5, for her marriage to Robert J. Buboltz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Buboltz, 66 East Pierpont street. The wedding is scheduled to take place at 3 p. m. in St. Joseph's Church, Poughkeepsie, with the Rev. Joseph Smolenski officiating.

The bride-elect was graduated from Poughkeepsie High School, class of '52, and is employed by Kem Plastic Playing Cards, Inc., Poughkeepsie.

Mr. Buboltz attended Kingston High School and is serving with the United States Navy, aboard the USS Turner.

KHS Orchestra, Band Directors Announce Programs for Concerts, March 20 and 21

HARRY BERCHIN

MARLIN MORRETTE

The orchestra and band programs have been announced for the Fourth Annual Concert at Kingston High School Auditorium at 8 p. m. on Friday and Saturday, March 20 and 21. Harry Berchin is the orchestra director, and Marlin E. Morrette directs the band.

Orchestra program:

Largo from The New World Symphony by Anton Dvorak, transcribed for orchestra by Richard Weaver; and Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring, Johann Sebastian Bach.

Allegro from Concerto 23 in G Major by J. B. Viotti, will be played by Jane Gunter, concert mistress, and accompanied by Cameron Rylance.

The Piano Concerto in G Minor by Joseph Wagner, will be played by Decosta Dawson.

The program also includes a Norwegian Suite, arranged by Erik Hansen; Early California Overture by Robert Choate and Merle Isaac; and Entrance and March of Peers by Arthur Sullivan. In the latter, the approach of the Peers is heralded by a blare of trumpets and a rattle of drums. Mr. Berchin describes the music as "pompous in rhythm and finely sustained in melody. It is comparable to and in fact surpassed by only certain operatic processional scenes in sheer musical grandeur and majesty."

Unlike the orchestra, which will present the same program both on Friday and Saturday evenings, the band will give two separate programs of these evenings.

The Friday program includes the Meditation from Thais by J. Massenet; Hungarian Rhapsody 1, Franz Liszt; The Thunderer March, Sousa; Death and Transfiguration, Richard Straus; Men of Might March, L. Meretta; Marimba Capers, Caneva; and March NCA, by F. Bigelow.

The Trumpeteers, a trumpet quartet, will be played by Robert Luedtke, Thomas Dugan, Arthur Brant, and James Silvestri. Bert Bishop will play the piano solo, Ante El Escorial by Lecuona.

The Overture Militaire will open the Saturday band concert and will be followed by Bach's Arioso; March Zacatecas, Codina; Irish Tune from the County Derry, Grainjar; On the Trail from Grand Canyon Suite, Grofe; The Flight of the Bumble Bee, Korsakoff; and the Crusaders Overture by F. Buchtel.

Also included will be a trumpet solo, Polka Dots, Buchtel, played by Thomas Dugan, Robert Weisman and James Silvestri. Martin Kelly will present the tenor solo, Thine Alone; and Thomas Dugan, a trumpet solo, Trumpet Lullaby by Anderson. Semper Fidelis March by Sousa will conclude the program.

4-H CLUB NEWS

Happy Helpers

The Hapy Helpers recent food sales in Kuhnel's store, Stone Ridge, and in the High Falls Post Office, netted the youngsters $26.

Charlotte Bogart, publicity chairman, in making the announcement, enumerated the homemade articles sold. She said, "we had lots of muffins, two cakes, raspberry jam, oatmeal and toll house cookies, candies, rolls, apple pies, cup cakes and bread." Mrs. Carolyn Lorensen and Mrs. Helen Larsen assisted the 4-H members.

An exhibit was held in conjunction with the sale. Displayed were sewing boxes; a skirt made by Nancy Laren of Stone Ridge; and an apron made by Mary Brown of Marbletown.

The next meeting will be held in the school cafeteria on Thursday, March 26.

New wonder cosmetic brings youth-giving moisture to aging or drying-out skins

Remarkable new formula acts like a "fountain of youth" for your skin!

WHEN you scrutinize your face in the mirror and see creeping lines around your eyes, a fading look to your skin—you're truly frightened. But now you can take new hope! For, just as science has discovered new wonder drugs to lengthen our life span, so Revlon has developed a new wonder cosmetic to help your complexion stay young-looking longer than you ever dreamed!

Here's the secret of young skin

A baby's skin is lusciously smooth because it contains a high percentage of moisture. Tragically, this moisture diminishes every day you live. Obviously, then, if you want to look younger, you must replenish your skin's inner moisture every day!

Brings quick, lasting results

And that's just what "Moon-Drops" does, almost miraculously! The moment this greaseless flowing cream touches your face, you feel the moisture flow into your skin, helping it look smoother, fresher . . . years younger!

Beautifies 24 hours a day

Let "Moon-Drops" do its beautifying work all day, all night. Smooth it on. It disappears instantly, with no trace of grease on your skin or pillow. Apply "Moon-Drops" in the morning, too . . . wear it all day under your make-up. It works to give your skin a young, dewy look 24 hours a day!

"Moon-Drops" is so economical to use—and you'll say every drop is worth its weight in gold! Discover "Moon-Drops" today. Just 3.00* and 5.00*

Important! Cleanse your face with "White Sable" new Liquid Cleansing-Creme, 1.50 (with hormones, 2.25*)*

500 Attend 41st Girl Scouts' Birthday Party at MJM School

About 500 Brownies, Girl Scouts, parents and leaders filled the Myron J. Michael gymnasium last Saturday afternoon to celebrate the 41st birthday of the Girl Scouts.

The program opened with the presentation of flags by Troop 76. The flag bearers were Janet Kaucher, Barbara Schellhammer, Sherry Wilpan and Annette Katz. Color guards were Patti Vendriesco, Carol Haulenbeek, Barbara Sobsey and Marcia Andrews.

Following the pledge of allegiance, the Brownies gave the Brownie promise; the Girl Scouts,' their promise, and the Star Spangled Banner was sung.

Mrs. DeWitt Hasbrouck of High Falls, president of the Ulster County Council, read a telegram of greetings and congratulations from President Eisenhower on the occasion of the 41st birthday of Girl Scouting in the United States. Mrs. Hasbrouck also brought greetings from the Ulster County Council, and welcomed all to the birthday party.

Juliette Low Fund

The presentation of the birthday boxes for the Juliette Low Fund was received by Miss Sylvia Hughes.

The Hymn of Scouting and Stars of the Summer Night were beautifully sung by Troop 76. This was followed by a skit, entitled The Far Away Letter, presented by Troop 54.

The skit was prepared under the guidance of Mrs. Victor Androvich and Mrs. Richard Holbrook, leaders. In the cast were Mary Lou Holbrook, Carol Oskay, Sally Stalhut, and Dotty Jones.

Included in the entertainment program was a twirling demonstration by Barbara Schatzel and Pat Rudolph, with Rosemarie Sturgill at the piano. Acrobatic stunts were performed by Sheila Epstein and Joan Marshall and Judy Robins, accompanied at the piano by Sheila Epstein, did a gypsy dance.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the program.

OES Sponsors Bus Trip

The regular meeting of Kingston Chapter 155, Order of the Eastern Star, will sponsor a bus trip to New York on Saturday, March 28, to accommodate those who would like to attend the Easter pageant. The bus will leave Masonic Temple at 7:30 a. m. and leave New York city at 9 p. m.

Reservations may be made by telephoning Mary Smith, 1075; Marion Hogan, 5731-W; or Ethel Sleight, 4787-J.

Local Delegation Attends UJA Meeting in Albany

A delegation of 18 local residents atended a leadership meeting in Albany Tuesday, sponsored by the Eastern New York division of the United Jewish Welfare Fund. The meeting was called in preparation for the 1953 United Jewish Appeal Fund campaign.

The delegates were told of the urgent needs of Jewish escapees from Communist controlled countries, their resettlement in Israel and other democratic countries, and the problems of strenthening Israel and speeding the absorption of 240,000 recent newcomers.

Featured speaker of the evening was Moses W. Beckelman, director general of the joint distribution committee, who returned this week from Berlin. He gave an eye witness account of refugees flleeing Iron Curtain tyranny. Albert Dekker, star of television, stage and screen, and a former member of the California State Legislation, gave an inspiring account of his recent tour of Israel.

"Millions of Jews", said Mr. Beckelman, "are again in terrible danger, in Iron Curtain countries and Moslem lands. Although the calender says that it's 1953, in Eastern Europe the date reads more like 1933."

Those attending the meeting from Kingston included Richard M. Kalish, Joseph Honig, Herman Eaton, Abraham Streifer, Ben Silverman, Murray Sklar, Rabbi and Mrs. Herbert Bloom, Aaron and Gilbert Adin, Rae Weiner, Norman Rafalowsky, Mrs. Leone Gross, Arthur Ewig, Dr. Herbert Derman, Mrs. George Starkman, Miss Sadie Lutzin and Seymour Werbalowsky.

Miss Shirley Stopski Sets Wedding Date

Miss Shirley Stopski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Stopski, Poughkeepsie, has chosen Sunday, April 5, for her marriage to Robert J. Buboltz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Buboltz, 66 East Pierpont street. The wedding is scheduled to take place at 3 p. m. in St. Joseph's Church, Poughkeepsie, with the Rev. Joseph Smolenski officiating.

The bride-elect was graduated from Poughkeepsie High School, class of '52, and is employed by Kem Plastic Playing Cards, Inc., Poughkeepsie.

Mr. Buboltz attended Kingston High School and is serving with the United States Navy, aboard the USS Turner.

KHS Orchestra, Band Directors Announce Programs for Concerts, March 20 and 21

MARLIN MORRETTE

The orchestra and band programs have been announced for the Fourth Annual Concert at Kingston High School Auditorium at 8 p. m. on Friday and Saturday, March 20 and 21. Harry Berchin is the orchestra director, and Marlin E. Morrette directs the band.

Orchestra program:

Largo from The New World Symphony by Anton Dvorak, transcribed for orchestra by Richard Weaver; and Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring, Johann Sebastian Bach.

Allegro from Concerto 23 in G Major by J. B. Viotti, will be played by Jane Gunter, concert mistress, and accompanied by Cameron Rylance.

The Piano Concerto in G Minor by Joseph Wagner, will be played by Decosta Dawson.

The program also includes a Norwegian Suite, arranged by Erik Hansen; Early California Overture by Robert Choate and Merle Isaac; and Entrance and March of Peers by Arthur Sullivan. In the latter, the approach of the Peers is heralded by a blare of trumpets and a rattle of drums. Mr. Berchin describes the music as "pompous in rhythm and finely sustained in melody. It is comparable to and in fact surpassed by only certain operatic processional scenes in sheer musical grandeur and majesty."

Unlike the orchestra, which will present the same program both on Friday and Saturday evenings, the band will give two separate programs of these evenings.

The Friday program includes the Meditation from Thais by J. Massenet; Hungarian Rhapsody 1, Franz Liszt; The Thunderer March, Sousa; Death and Transfiguration, Richard Straus; Men of Might March, L. Meretta; Marimba Capers, Caneva; and March NCA, by F. Bigelow.

The Trumpeteers, a trumpet quartet, will be played by Robert Luedtke, Thomas Dugan, Arthur Brant, and James Silvestri. Bert Bishop will play the piano solo, Ante El Escorial by Lecuona.

The Overture Militaire will open the Saturday band concert and will be followed by Bach's Arioso; March Zacatecas, Codina; Irish Tune from the County Derry, Grainjar; On the Trail from Grand Canyon Suite, Grofe; The Flight of the Bumble Bee, Korsakoff; and the Crusaders Overture by F. Buchtel.

Also included will be a trumpet solo, Polka Dots, Buchtel, played by Thomas Dugan, Robert Weisman and James Silvestri. Martin Kelly will present the tenor solo, Thine Alone; and Thomas Dugan, a trumpet solo, Trumpet Lullaby by Anderson. Semper Fidelis March by Sousa will conclude the program.

4-H CLUB NEWS

Happy Helpers

The Hapy Helpers recent food sales in Kuhnel's store, Stone Ridge, and in the High Falls Post Office, netted the youngsters $26.

Charlotte Bogart, publicity chairman, in making the announcement, enumerated the homemade articles sold. She said, "we had lots of muffins, two cakes, raspberry jam, oatmeal and toll house cookies, candies, rolls, apple pies, cup cakes and bread." Mrs. Carolyn Lorensen and Mrs. Helen Larsen assisted the 4-H members.

An exhibit was held in conjunction with the sale. Displayed were sewing boxes: a skirt made by Nancy Laren of Stone Ridge; and an apron made by Mary Brown of Marbletown.

The next meeting will be held in the school cafeteria on Thursday, March 26.

New wonder cosmetic brings youth-giving moisture to aging or drying-out skins

Remarkable new formula acts like a "fountain of youth" for your skin!

WHEN you scrutinize your face in the mirror and see creeping lines around your eyes, a fading look to your skin —you're truly frightened. But now you can take new hope! For, just as science has discovered new wonder drugs to lengthen our life span, so Revlon has developed a new wonder cosmetic to help your complexion stay young-looking longer than you ever dreamed!

Here's the secret of young skin

A baby's skin is lusciously smooth because it contains a high percentage of moisture. Tragically, this moisture diminishes every day you live. Obviously, then, if you want to look younger, you must replenish your skin's inner moisture every day!

Brings quick, lasting results

And that's just what "Moon-Drops" does, almost miraculously! The moment this greaseless flowing cream touches your face, you feel the moisture flow into your skin, helping it look smoother, fresher . . . years younger!

Beautifies 24 hours a day

Let "Moon-Drops" do its beautifying work all day, all night. Smooth it on. It disappears instantly, with no trace of grease on your skin or pillow. Apply "Moon-Drops" in the morning, too . . . wear it all day under your make-up. It works to give your skin a young, dewy look 24 hours a day!

GOOD TASTE TODAY

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, 'Children Are People,' etc.)

PROTECTING NEW UPHOLSTERY

I am sorry to say that the distress described in the following letter is far from unusual: "We have just had our furniture reupholstered with very expensive material. We saved quite a long time to have this done and are very pleased with it. However, we also have a problem because of it. Some of our friends have a habit of sitting with one foot tucked up under them, resting on the chair. When I see this it almost makes me sick as our furniture is very light in color and every mark shows. Must I sit in silence while my furniture is being ruined, or can I bring it to the offender's attention, and if so, how?"

My best suggestion is to buy a couple of squares of felt or flannel, as near the color of the chairs as possible, and then just say, "Wait a minute, let me put this under your foot. You probably wouldn't hurt it any, but I am very nervous about my new chairs."

Take Nothing

Dear Mrs. Post: Occasionally, a group of young women from the church go to the theatre and afterwards stop somewhere for something to eat. As I never eat in between meals, I usually order a cup of coffee just not to sit with nothing in front of me. However, when the bill comes it is always divided among the group. I think this is very unfair to me, but what can I do about it without bringing criticism upon myself?

Answer: I am sorry, but the only solution I can offer is to order nothing at all, and then you hardly could be asked to divide the bill.

"The Mister"

Dear Mrs. Post: Very often, when speaking of his wife, a man will refer to her as "The Missus." I would like to know if it is ever correct for a woman to refer to her husband as "The Mister"?

Answer: "The Missus" is very well known, but "The Mister" has no background whatsoever.

Is it proper to telephone invitations? This is one of 35 questions most frequently asked by readers and answered for you in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-18, "An Etiquette Test." To obtain a copy send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

(Author of Etiquette, 'Children Are People,' etc.)

PROTECTING NEW UPHOLSTERY

I am sorry to say that the distress described in the following letter is far from unusual: "We have just had our furniture re-upholstered with very expensive material. We saved quite a long time to have this done and are very pleased with it. However, we also have a problem because of it. Some of our friends have a habit of sitting with one foot tucked up under them, resting on the chair. When I see this it almost makes me sick as our furniture is very light in color and every mark shows. Must I sit in silence while my furniture is being ruined, or can I bring it to the offender's attention, and if so, how?"

My best suggestion is to buy a couple of squares of felt or flannel, as near the color of the chairs as possible, and then just say, "Wait a minute, let me put this under your foot. You probably wouldn't hurt it any, but I am very nervous about my new chairs."

Take Nothing

Dear Mrs. Post: Occasionally, a group of young women from the church go to the theatre and afterwards stop somewhere for something to eat. As I never eat in between meals, I usually order a cup of coffee just not to sit with nothing in front of me. However, when the bill comes it is always divided among the group. I think this is very unfair to me, but what can I do about it without bringing criticism upon myself?

Answer: I am sorry, but the only solution I can offer is to order nothing at all, and then you hardly could be asked to divide the bill.

"The Mister"

Dear Mrs. Post: Very often, when speaking of his wife, a man will refer to her as "The Missus." I would like to know if it is ever correct for a woman to refer to her husband as "The Mister"?

Answer: "The Missus" is very well known, but "The Mister" has no background whatsoever.

Is it proper to telephone invitations? This is one of 35 questions most frequently asked by readers and answered for you in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-18, "An Etiquette Test." To obtain a copy send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Miss Jessie Greene Describes National Park Tour at Sorosis

An interesting account of an 11,000-mile motor trip to nine national parks, illustrated by kodachrome views, was given by Miss Jessie Greene on Monday afternoon, to the members of Sorosis and their guests.

Beginning at Yellowstone Park, Miss Greene guided her listeners to and through the national parks, including Glacier Park, Banff, Lake Louise, Crater Lake, Mount Raincer and Yosemite.

The speaker concluded her travel talk with spectacular views of the Grand Canyon, and the colorful, varied rock formations of Zion and Bryce Canyons.

Tea was served by the hostess, Mrs. William McVey, who was assisted by Mrs. Grover Lasher and Mrs. Clarence Dumm.

The next meeting of Sorosis will be held on Monday, March 30, in the home of Mrs. Clarence Dumm, 4 Mountain View avenue.

A versatile artist, Miss Vivien Fine, pianist and composer, will be featured at the Hadassah Youth Aliyah reception on Wednesday evening, March 25, in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Miss Fine, the wife of Benjamin Karp, sculptor and professor of art at New Paltz State Teachers College, has studied composition with Roger Sessions, and piano with Abby Whiteside. She has appeared as pianist at Temple, New York and Princeton Universities, as well as in New York city at Town Hall.

As a composer, Miss Fine has written compositions published by New Music, and ballets for Doris Humphrey and Hanya Holm. Her program will include Israeli music as well as classical selections. The Roger Baer Studios will furnish the piano.

Mrs. Oscar London, reception chairman, announced that besides the concert, a short film entitled Sincerely Yours, will be shown. The film depicts the work accomplished in Israel through Youth Aliyah funds. Refreshments will be served.

Old Dutch Church Plans Passion Play On March 29, 30

The Passion Play, a life of Christ, dramatized in 17 scenes with narration and musical interludes, will be presented in the Old Dutch Church on Palm Sunday, March 29, and on Monday, March 30, at 8 p. m. The cast will comprise 75 persons.

Large audiences have attended the performances of the Passion Play which began in 1949. The play is written in three parts, and this year, part one will be presented.

Committee chairmen named include stage construction, Henry Senft, James Little and George Swart; lighing, Joseph Flowers and Burton Davis; sewing, Mrs. John Comstock; head dresses, Mrs. William Hilton; backdrops, Wesley Hogan and Dorothy DuMond; recording, Henry Millonig.

And, refreshments, Mrs. Edward DeWitt; properties, Mrs. Charles Jones, Jr.; make-up, Miss Ione Kinkade, Mrs. Ida Sherman, Miss Martha Barnett and Miss Betsy Rigby; music, Donald Romme.

The committee chairmen will be assisted by large groups of coworkers. Every effort is being made by those in charge to make the costumes, properties and music authentic to the original themes.

The play is part of the Union Lenten service series sponsored by the Kingston Ministerial Association. A free-will offering will be taken. The public is cordially invited.

The Mature Parent

Child May Be Hypnotized by Parents' Fear of His Failing

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Always, before high school examinations, Anne is impossible to live with

She becomes preoccupied, tense and very irritable. This, you might understand. What you don't understand is what she does about her exams.

Instead of getting down to work to prepare for them, Anne can't bear to even be reminded of study. Instead of curtailing movie dates and putting aside the love pulp magazines that stock her bedroom shelves, she devours movies and magazines more avidly than at other times.

This unreasonable behavior exasperates her mother beyond endurance.

"Out again tonight—and your geometry exam three days away!" she says. "Maybe you want to fail it. Well, don't come crying to me if you do. I never saw such an irresponsible girl in my life."

At this criticism, Anne turns on her mother as though she hated her. "Oh, leave me alone," she cries. "If I fail, it's my funeral, isn't it?"

Anne's mother finds it very discouraging. She has written to me asking me what she can do to get Anne to concentrate on school work.

First, if she sincerely wishes to help Anne understand the meaning of work, she must begin by understanding its meaning herself.

Now, I doubt if she does. It is probable that Anne's mother has confused work with its results. She's got work mixed up with its consequences in report cards, starched curtains, the car in the garage and the roast we put on the table.

It's none of these things. Work, whether we cook meals, prove geometry theorems or vote for laws in Congress is one of our ways for revealing ourselves to others.

Anne doesn't resist working for exams because she fears geometry, but because she is terrified to reveal herself to others. Thus, an exam is an intolerable ordeal for her. It forces her on her own. It forces her to submit to others' judgment. Fearful of self-exposure, she solves the testing, lonely experience of exams the only way she knows. She pretends it doesn't exist by refusing to prepare for it.

How can we help her learn to work? By doing some ourselves. Work is self-exposure without fear of others' judgment.

So we begin it by saying, "You think you are afraid of failing. You're not. For years, you've been hypnotized by my fear of your failing. It was never your fear; always mine. So when it overwhelms you, don't keep it but hand it to me. I will lift it from you—and in a little while, we will see what happens.

A thorough workman does not try to conceal his mistakes from others.

GOP Youth Meeting Program Is Listed

A meeting designed especially for young people will be held under the auspices of the Ulster County Republican Women's Club on Thursday at 8 p. m. in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel. The Rev. J. Dean Dykstra will be the principal speaker. A musical program will be presented by students at Kingston High School, under the direction of Marlin Morrette.

The program to be presented is listed.

Piano solo, Chopin Etude, Opus 25, by Bert Bishop; Flute solo, Humoresque, Joan Edinger; Cornet solo, Perpetual Motion, Robert Luedtke; Vocal solo, Thine Alone, Martin Kelly; piano solo, Dreams of Loce and Bells of Moscow, Brian Fennelly; trumpet solo, Songs My Mother Taught Me, Richard Nadal; Saxophone solo, Valse Marilyn, Ole Christensen; and Clarinet solo, a Korsakov Concerto, Robert Coutant.

All young people in the county are invited to attend the meeting. Members are asked to bring a teen-ager or young adult to the meeting. Refreshments will be served.

It is estimated that about 70 per cent of the meat eaten in North Carolina is pork.

Home Bureau

Kingston Day Unit

A planning class in fabric gloves, will be held at the rooms, 410 Broadway, on Wednesday, March 25, from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m., under the leadership of Mrs. Cecelia Brooks.

West Hurley Unit

A meeting of the West Hurley Unit of the Home Bureau will take place Thursday at 8 p. m. in tne fire hall. Mrs. Helen Stantial, assistant demonstrator, will assist the group in planning a program for the ensuing year. Mrs. Stantial will also give helpful hints on mending and new materials.

All the women in the community are invited to attend.

Kerhonkson Unit

The Kerhonkson Unit of the Home Bureau met Wednesday evening, March 11, in the home of Mrs. Vinal Cyr. Mrs. Neil Olsen was co-hostess. The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Oscar Groves, chairman.

Following the Home Bureau Creed by Mrs. David Karp, and reading of the minutes of the last meeting by Mrs. Frank Pugliese, secretary, a report on the recent program planning meeting was given by Mrs. Floyd Schoonmaker. Mrs. Neils Olsen, vice-chairman, also attended the planning meeting in the home of Mrs. Millard Davis, group sponsor.

After commenting upon "the delightful luncheon served and the social pleasantness of the occasion," Mrs. Schoonmaker gave a brief resume of the proposed program.

Mrs. Davis described a tentative plan for Housing, proposed throughout the county. The plan, she said, might be accepted by any or all groups and carried on indefinitely; or the individual groups might continue with the present set-up of smaller units of work. Following a discussion, the chairman was asked to submit suggestions to Everice Parsons.

A report pertaining to a proposed bus trip to the United Nations, was submitted by Mrs. Siegfred Abrahams, who said Van Kleeck's in Ellenville would provide the transportation, if reservations warrant. Mrs. Abrahams was asked to continue with plans for the trip and to contact other Home Bureau groups in Kerhonkson and Accord and invite them to accompany the group.

Mrs. Millard Davis, group sponsor, was a guest of the group at the meeting, and showed slides of scenes in and around the valley. The slides punctuated with witticisms here and there, were one of the evening's highlights.

Mrs. Neil Olsen, vice-chairman, reported a membership of 24 members with two new members joining at the meeting, making a total of 26. Those present were the Mmes. Floyd Schoonmaker, William Krom, Siegfried Abrahams, Vinal Cyr, Gerald Carr, Henry Decker, Oscar Groves, Clifford Hartelius, Francis McCauley, Neils Olsen, Frank Pugliese, Martin Somers, Julian Van Den Berghe, Lester A. Wynkoop, Guy Dembo, David Karp, A. Berenbaum and the Misses Ethel Decker, Lottie Gonder and Anna Poole.

Mrs. Henry Decker gave a brief report on weight control, from the lessons she attended on the subject.

The hostesses served buffet refreshments. Decorations and food were in keeping with St. Patrick's Day.

Bloomingdale Unit

The Bloomingdale unit of the Home Bureau will meet at 10 a. m. Tuesday, March 24, at the Bloomingdale Church. The lessons on smocking, creative stitchery and the tooth-brush rug will be continued.

The Mature Parent

Child May Be Hypnotized by Parents' Fear of His Failing

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Always, before high school examinations, Anne is impossible to live with

She becomes preoccupied, tense and very irritable. This, you might understand. What you don't understand is what she does about her exams.

Instead of getting down to work to prepare for them, Anne can't bear to even be reminded of study. Instead of curtailing movie dates and putting aside the love pulp magazines that stock her bedroom shelves, she devours movies and magazines more avidly than at other times.

This unreasonable behavior exasperates her mother beyond endurance.

"Out again tonight—and your geometry exam three days away!" she says. "Maybe you want to fail it. Well, don't come crying to me if you do. I never saw such an irresponsible girl in my life."

At this criticism, Anne turns on her mother as though she hated her. "Oh, leave me alone," she cries. "If I fail, it's my funeral, isn't it?"

Anne's mother finds it very discouraging. She has written to me asking me what she can do to get Anne to concentrate on school work.

First, if she sincerely wishes to help Anne understand the meaning of work, she must begin by understanding its meaning herself.

Now, I doubt if she does. It is probable that Anne's mother has confused work with its results. She's got work mixed up with its consequences in report cards, starched curtains, the car in the garage and the roast we put on the table.

It's none of these things. Work, whether we cook meals, prove geometry theorems or vote for laws in Congress is one of our ways for revealing ourselves to others.

Anne doesn't resist working for exams because she fears geometry, but because she is terrified to reveal herself to others. Thus, an exam is an intolerable ordeal for her. It forces her on her own. It forces her to submit to others' judgment. Fearful of self-exposure, she solves the testing, lonely experience of exams the only way she knows. She pretends it doesn't exist by refusing to prepare for it.

How can we help her learn to work? By doing some ourselves. Work is self-exposure without fear of others' judgment.

So we begin it by saying, "You think you are afraid of failing. You're not. For years, you've been hypnotized by my fear of your failing. It was never your fear; always mine. So when it overwhelms you, don't keep it but hand it to me. I will lift it from you—and in a little while, we will see what happens.

A thorough workman does not try to conceal his mistakes from others.

A versatile artist, Miss Vivien Fine, pianist and composer, will be featured at the Hadassah Youth Aliyah reception on Wednesday evening, March 25, in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Miss Fine, the wife of Benjamin Karp, sculptor and professor of art at New Paltz State Teachers College, has studied composition with Roger Sessions, and piano with Abby Whiteside. She has appeared as pianist at Temple, New York and Princeton Universities, as well as in New York city at Town Hall.

As a composer, Miss Fine has written compositions published by New Music, and ballets for Doris Humphrey and Hanya Holm. Her program will include Israeli music as well as classical selections. The Roger Baer Studios will furnish the piano.

Mrs. Oscar London, reception chairman, announced that besides the concert, a short film entitled Sincerely Yours, will be shown. The film depicts the work accomplished in Israel through Youth Aliyah funds. Refreshments will be served.

GOP Youth Meeting Program Is Listed

A meeting designed especially for young people will be held under the auspices of the Ulster County Republican Women's Club on Thursday at 8 p. m. in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel. The Rev. J. Dean Dykstra will be the principal speaker. A musical program will be presented by students at Kingston High School, under the direction of Marlin Morrette.

The program to be presented is listed.

Piano solo, Chopin Etude, Opus 25, by Bert Bishop; Flute solo, Humoresque, Joan Edinger; Cornet solo, Perpetual Motion, Robert Luedtke; Vocal solo, Thine Alone, Martin Kelly; piano solo, Dreams of Loce and Bells of Moscow, Brian Fennelly; trumpet solo, Songs My Mother Taught Me, Richard Nadal; Saxophone solo, Valse Marilyn, Ole Christensen; and Clarinet solo, a Korsakov Concerto, Robert Coutant.

All young people in the county are invited to attend the meeting. Members are asked to bring a teen-ager or young adult to the meeting. Refreshments will be served.

It is estimated that about 70 per cent of the meat eaten in North Carolina is pork.

Old Dutch Church Plans Passion Play On March 29, 30

The Passion Play, a life of Christ, dramatized in 17 scenes with narration and musical interludes, will be presented in the Old Dutch Church on Palm Sunday, March 29, and on Monday, March 30, at 8 p. m. The cast will comprise 75 persons.

Large audiences have attended the performances of the Passion Play which began in 1949. The play is written in three parts, and this year, part one will be presented.

Committee chairmen named include stage construction, Henry Senft, James Little and George Swart; lighing, Joseph Flowers and Burton Davis; sewing, Mrs. John Comstock; head dresses, Mrs. William Hilton; backdrops, Wesley Hogan and Dorothy DuMond; recording, Henry Millonig.

And, refreshments, Mrs. Edward DeWitt; properties, Mrs. Charles Jones, Jr.; make-up, Miss Ione Kinkade, Mrs. Ida Sherman, Miss Martha Barnett and Miss Betsy Rigby; music, Donald Romme.

The committee chairmen will be assisted by large groups of coworkers. Every effort is being made by those in charge to make the costumes, properties and music authentic to the original themes.

The play is part of the Union Lenten service series sponsored by the Kingston Ministerial Association. A free-will offering will be taken. The public is cordially invited.

Pay for Recovery Period

Tokyo, March 18 (AP)—The army said combat veterans hospitalized by frostbite suffered in the bitter winters of the Korean war now are eligible for the $45-a-month combat duty pay for time spent in recovery. A spokesman for Far East headquarters said the new plan is based on a ruling by the Department of Army.

Child Health Clinic

A child health conference conducted by the Ulster County Health Department will be held in the clinic rooms, 25 East O'Reilly street, March 24 from 10 a. m. until noon.

Home Bureau

Kingston Day Unit

A planning class in fabric gloves, will be held at the rooms, 410 Broadway, on Wednesday, March 25, from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m., under the leadership of Mrs. Cecelia Brooks.

West Hurley Unit

A meeting of the West Hurley Unit of the Home Bureau will take place Thursday at 8 p. m. in the fire hall. Mrs. Helen Stantial, assistant demonstrator, will assist the group in planning a program for the ensuing year. Mrs. Stantial will also give helpful hints on mending and new materials.

All the women in the community are invited to attend.

Kerhonkson Unit

The Kerhonkson Unit of the Home Bureau met Wednesday evening, March 11, in the home of Mrs. Vinal Cyr. Mrs. Neil Olsen was co-hostess. The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Oscar Groves, chairman.

Following the Home Bureau Creed by Mrs. David Karp, and reading of the minutes of the last meeting by Mrs. Frank Pugliese, secretary, a report on the recent program planning meeting was given by Mrs. Floyd Schoonmaker. Mrs. Neils Olsen, vice-chairman, also attended the planning meeting in the home of Mrs. Millard Davis, group sponsor.

After commenting upon "the delightful luncheon served and the social pleasantness of the occasion," Mrs. Schoonmaker gave a brief resume of the proposed program.

Mrs. Davis described a tentative plan for Housing, proposed throughout the county. The plan, she said, might be accepted by any or all groups and carried on indefinitely; or the individual groups might continue with the present set-up of smaller units of work. Following a discussion, the chairman was asked to submit suggestions to Everice Parsons.

A report pertaining to a proposed bus trip to the United Nations, was submitted by Mrs. Siegfred Abrahams, who said Van Kleeck's in Ellenville would provide the transportation, if reservations warrant. Mrs. Abrahams was asked to continue with plans for the trip and to contact other Home Bureau groups in Kerhonkson and Accord and invite them to accompany the group.

Mrs. Millard Davis, group sponsor, was a guest of the group at the meeting, and showed slides of scenes in and around the valley. The slides punctuated with witticisms here and there, were one of the evening's highlights.

Mrs. Neil Olsen, vice-chairman, reported a membership of 24 members with two new members joining at the meeting, making a total of 26. Those present were the Mmes. Floyd Schoonmaker, William Krom, Siegfried Abrahams, Vinal Cyr, Gerald Carr, Henry Decker, Oscar Groves, Clifford Hartelius, Francis McCauley, Neils Olsen, Frank Pugliese, Martin Somers, Julian Van Den Berghe, Lester A. Wynkoop, Guy Dembo, David Karp, A. Berenbaum and the Misses Ethel Decker, Lottie Gonder and Anna Poole.

Mrs. Henry Decker gave a brief report on weight control, from the lessons she attended on the subject.

The hostesses served buffet refreshments. Decorations and food were in keeping with St. Patrick's Day.

Bloomingdale Unit

Saugerties

Saugerties, March 17—The village of Saugerties taxpayer has been informed that the tax rate for 1953 will be $17.82 which is a slight increase over the past year. Bond and interest charges were slightly higher which accounts for the rise in taxation.

The Saugerties Methodist Church Sunday school is making plans for a drive to collect old rags, rugs and old metal sometime in April.

A warning has been issued by Town Clerk Ferman that all dogs unlicensed after Monday will be seized. There are about 250 dogs that still lack licenses and will be picked up by the town constables and after five days will be destroyed, he said.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dederick of the Woodstock-Saugerties road were recent guests of relatives and friends in Ridgefield, N. J.

Mrs. Edith Hommell of this town has returned from Benedictine Hospital where she was treated for a heart ailment.

Dr. James Crandall of Ulster avenue has returned home from Kingston Hospital where he underwent an operation recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Benton of this village were business callers in Port Ewen last Saturday afternoon.

Announcement has been made of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Le Deux, Jr., of Alaska. The mother is the former Julianne Nau of Main street, this village.

William Knipe of Ulster avenue and proprietor of the Corner store on Main street, is in Veterans Memorial Hospital, Albany, for treatment.

Miss Harriet LeFever of the Rachel Shop is attending the Flower Show held in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Lamb of Finger street are enjoying the winter vacation at West Palm Beach, Fla.

Col. and Mrs. Gilbert Marshall of Market street have returned after several weeks in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Eugene Frisbie and sons of this town have returned after

Atwood

Atwood, March 17—The Atwood Community Center held its regular monthly business meeting Wednesday evening, March 12, with 18 present. Two new members were added to the roll, Mrs. Violet Smith of Atwood and Mrs. Peter Carolan of Long Island whose summer home is in Atwood. A pot luck supper will be held for the benefit of the Center on April 18 at 7 p. m., entertainment to follow. Mrs. Hazel Hansen, Mrs. May Martin, Mrs. Jenny Markle, Mrs. Nellie Dauenhauer, Miss Nellie Johnson and Mrs. Lloyd Spearman are in charge of the food donations.

The Women's Group will meet Thursday, March 19, at 12:30 p. m., at the Center. The refreshment committee will serve lunch. Everyone is welcome. There were 13 present at the last meeting. Most of the members have completed the weaving so a new project will be discussed at that meeting.

The Boys Group of the Center will have a sale of the bird houses they have made and the proceeds will go toward the buying of material and tools for future projects.

Mrs. Harold Newell spent a day visiting her nephew Pvt. Robert Newell who is stationed at Fort Dix, N. J.

Dr. Louis Stork and Mrs. Louis Stork and daughters spent last Sunday visiting Miss Nellie Johnson.

Mrs. Esther Drews is still convalescing at her home.

The weekly prayer meeting conducted by Louis Huthsteiner will be held at the Drews home on Thursday evening.

Services in the Atwood Chapel are at 2:30 each Sunday.

Hams Explore New Field

New York (AP) — Radio hams are delving into a new field, that of the transistor, tiny germanium crystal device being developed to take over some of the jobs of the vacuum tube. One of the first steps has been design of a low power transmitter operating on 146 megacycles, QST, publication of the American Radio Relay league reports. One unit was heard 25 miles away with a power supply of only 22½ volts from a dry battery.

Tom Danaher Appointed Pro at Minnesota '18'

Ex-Wiltwyck Head Is Now in Florida

Tom Danaher, former Wiltwyck Golf Club professional, has been appointed pro at the Bay Lake Country Club course at Deerwood, Minnesota, a report from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., said today.

Danaher served as Wiltwyck pro and course manager for 15 years before his resignation at the end of the 1952 summer season.

The Bay Lake Country Club is an 18-hole layout in the suburbs of Duluth, Minn.

Speaking from Fort Lauderdale where he is on the winter staff of the 36-hole Lauderdale Municipal Course, the former Wiltwyck pro said he was highly pleased with his new assignment.

Highly Pleased

"I think this is the finest break I have had in my 25 years of professional work," Danaher said.

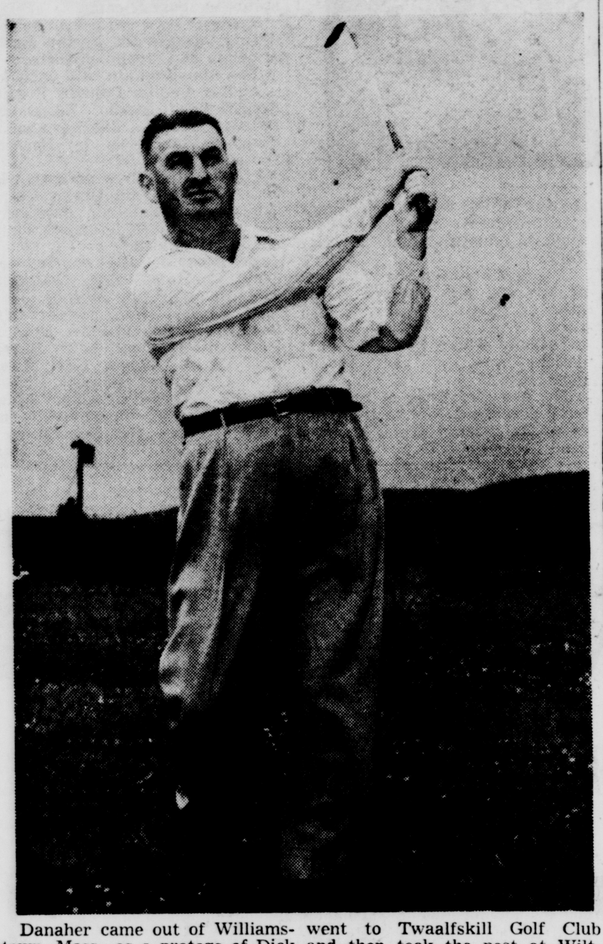
Danaher has been working on Dick Baxter's staff at Fort Lauderdale for the past several winter seasons and will conclude his duties there shortly after April 1. He is expected to visit Kingston briefly and then depart for his new post.

The once portly golf teacher appeared in remarkably good physical condition this winter at Fort Lauderdale where the course has been doing a booming business. He has pared off several pounds and looks in top shape for his new assignment in the midwest.

15 Years at Wiltwyck

A prominent area figure for more than two decades, Danaher's name was almost synonymous with Wiltwyck progress through the last 15 years.

Since the club was organized, it has had only two pros—Frank Shimek, the former American League basketball star, having preceded Danaher for a brief spell.



Danaher came out of Williamstown, Mass., as a protege of Dick Baxter, one of the most widely known professionals in the northeastern section of the country.

From Williamstown, Danaher went to Twaalfskill Golf Club and then took the post at Wiltwyck. It was to last 15 years before the uncertainties besetting Wiltwyck's future caused him to resign last summer.

Score Victory In the Last 45 Seconds at the Y

Amato, Van Bramer And Bondar Star

The green uniforms paid off for Village Rest on St. Patrick's night in the YMCA "B" League playoffs against the Blue Devils.

The predominantly Esopus quintet earned a thrilling 62-58 triumph on the Y court to take a cammanding position in the best-of-three playoff.

Although they led 14-12 at the quarter and 33-29 at halftime, the Villagers had to fight off two determined Blue Devil challenges.

The score was tied wiht six minutes remaining. With 2:45 left on the clock it was 53-53 and with only 45 seconds left it was 58-58. Then came the final surge by the Villagers. They insisted the Kelly Greens did it.

Both teams were jittery and missed many shots and at times the game was slow. Bob Bondar with his pivot jump shot after rebounds represented the difference between the teams. Jim Amato's 15 points were beautifully executed from fast cutins and shooting from the bucket.

Huyler Van Wagenen had some nice shots among his 17 points and Jerry Kaplan had to come inside for a change to tie with Van Wagenen. Bruce Hinkley scored 10 for the losers.

Bondar with 14 and Vince Van Bramer (11) teamed with Jim Amato for the winning effort.

Ferraro Hits 31

Jim "Chink" Ferraro's 31 points approached the entire output of the 50 Club's "Iron Men" in the companion feature, won by Three Bros. Farms, 96 to 41.

Coach Earle O. Terwilliger's Cagers achieved a rare performance with all six players hitting in double figures. The 50 Club used only five men.

Ferraro had 12 fields and 5 singletons. Big Jack Doyle moved to a forward slot for 17. Ed Lane rimmed 14, Ron Whitaker, 12, while Bill Hermance and Jay Rider settled for 11 apiece. Ronnie Brandt's 14 paced the losers and Fred Orr added 12. It was no contest after Three Bros. bolted to a 24-7 lead at the quarter mark.

Knicks Capture Series Opener

(By The Associated Press)

The New York Knickerbockers, who have made the playoffs every year since they've entered the league, were off and running today in quest of their first National Basketball Association championship.

Joe Lapchick's New Yorkers always have been stopped somewhere along the line in the playoffs. Last year, it couldn't have been any closer. They lost the final series to the Minneapolis Lakers in seven games.

It could wind up with the same two teams again. They won their respective division titles, and the Knicks began their preliminary three-game playoff set with the Baltimore Bullets last night by walloping Clair Bee's charges, 80-62.

Now the two teams go to Baltimore for the second game tomorrow. The third, if necessary, will be played in New York Saturday.

Connie Simmons was the big boy for the Knicks with 25 points, followed by Sweetwater Clifton with 20.

Except for a playoff game for fourth place between the Indianapolis Olympians and the Milwaukee Hawks, the season ended officially last night with Syracuse defeating Boston, 72-68 in a playoff for second place in the Eastern Division; Milwaukee stopping Fort Wayne, 87-61 and Minneapolis edging Indianapolis 73-61.

Eagle Gives Robbins First Seniors Win

St. Augustine, Fla., March 18 (AP)—Thomas C. Robbins, veteran amateur golfer from Larchmont Acres, N. Y., is setting the pace in the first annual American Seniors Golf Association tournament.

Robbins meets Harrison Goodspeed, Grand Rapids, Mich., in today's second round of the tournament for golfers age 55 and over. Tuesday Robbins scored an eagle 3 on the 463-yard fourth hole of the Ponce De Leon course. It was a key shot in Robbins' 1 up victory over George Hardy, Evanston, Ill. A day earlier he chipped into the cup on the 18th green for a birdie that gave him medal honors.

Ex-Baltimore Pro Cuts Basketball Down To Size So All Kids Can Get Into Game

By RALPH HALL
NEA Staff Correspondent

Basketball is no longer a game just for the goons. At least not at Westport, N. Y.

Larry Killick, formerly a Baltimore professional player, has gone out and cut it down to midget size. Now even the near-toddlers can get into the act.

Killick calls his program Little Kid Basketball, and small boys six to 13 are playing it in six states. It is similar to the Biddy Basketball move. Started in January it is expected to blanket the nation next season.

The 32-year-old former Dartmouth and Vermont cage captain has set up no national organization for the program, asks no obligation for equipment, nor claims any membership fees.

Instead, he's going to public and parochial schools, YMCA's, Boys Clubs and other groups where the majority of the nation's hundreds of thousands of youngsters from six to 13 years have been yearning for just a chance to play basketball.

The beauty of Killick's game is the backboard he invented. It's portable and can be placed on a regulation board in four minutes, removed in the same amount of time.

It brings the hoop down to where the kids can peg at it with ease, being adjusted to a low of eight feet for the younger members of the six-to-13 group and a height of 8-10 for the older and taller ones.

Killick first got the idea for Little Kid Basketball when he wandered on a scene of pee wees vainly trying to heave a ball at the regulation hoop. The one-time pro decided to do something about it, and for three years he did extensive research.

He worked hard hand-in-hand with engineers, educators, physical education directors and basketball players to make sure that what he would offer would be complete in every detail.

Nobody's found a flaw yet, and the little guys have found a dream come true.

Killick's tailoring job was completed with the fashioning of a smaller hoop, 16½ inches in diameter, and smaller ball of 27 inches in circumference.

In presenting his idea around the country, Killick asks only that every boy get a chance to play. "That's the sole purpose of the program," he explains. "It's for all those boys too small to play regulation basketball."

Any group wanting to organize leagues, operate tournaments and play inter-school games may do so, points out Killick, but it's strictly their affair, with no obligations to Killick or to a national organization.

Such, in fact, has already been done since Killick went outside his workshop to put his program on a nation-wide scale.

Kansas-Indiana Reach NCAA Finals

Kansas City, March 18 (AP)—Phog Allen's "half scared and skinny legged" Kansas Jayhawks will defend their National Collegiate (NCAA) basketball championship against Indiana's high-strung Hoosiers tonight.

Coach Branch McCracken's Indianans, Big Ten champions and voted No. 1 nationally, followed the form chart in beating Louisiana State, 80-67, in the opening game of the National Collegiate Athletic Association's semi-finals last night.

Kansas, with only one of its five starters back from the NCAA and Big Seven Conference's 1952 champs, humbled Washington's Huskies, the country's No. 2 quintet, 79-53.

"My half scared, skinny legged boys played one of their best games in beating those tall, Washington boys, Allen commented. "I'm not sure I understand how we got this far, but it must be because we play the ball instead of the opposing team."

98 High Schools Invited To Hudson Valley Relays

Entry blanks for the 1953 Hudson Valley Relays have been sent to 98 high schools within a fifty mile radius of New Paltz. This huge track and field meet which will take place at New Paltz High school is expected to attract over 500 high school boys from the surrounding area.

Those who attended the 1952 Hudson Valley Relays recall a very large and successful meet in which, in 37 events, two of the old Newburgh Relays records were tied, nine records were broken and seven records were established for new events.

The meet was held in three classes, A, B, and C, last year, however, since there were only four Class A high schools (Kingston, Middletown, Newburgh and Poughkepsie), classes A and B have been combined this year into a single class I. It is expected that competition this year will be fierce when the above named schools tangle with Arlington, Ellenville, Liberty, Nyack, Saugerties, Spring Valley, Suffern, Wappingers and, perhaps, Monticello, New York Military Academy, and Port Jervis who were unable to attend last year.

Tough Field

Class II, for schools with not more than 150 boys, will see competition among Cardinal Farley Military Academy, Congers, Cornwall on Hudson, Coxsackie-Athens, Fleischmanns, Goshen, Haldane, Hendrick Hudson, Highland Falls, Irvington, Marlborough, New Paltz, St. Agnes, St. Patrick's, Tappan-Zee, Walden, and Wallkill. Competition was so close last year in all classes that 23 of the 28 schools competing went home with one or more prizes.

One more event, the two mile relay, has been added to the program this year.

The rest of the program is made up of relays at 440 and 880 yards; the freshman relay, the mile relay and medley relay. In addition there will be a full card of field events and hurdles and a Special Invitation 100 Yard Dash. In the latter event, eight of the fastest high school sprinters in the Hudson Valley will be matched in the feature race of the meet.

Two hundred and sixty eight prizes will be awarded including plaques, trophies, medals, ribbons and bronzed spiked shoes.

Trinity Blasts Presbyterians; Lutherans Win

Trinity Lutheran overwhelmed the First Presbyterian cagers, 89-48, but Redeemer Lutheran needed a topflight scoring performance by Earl Schoonmaker to shade the Progressive Baptist, 45-42, in Tuesday's Protestant Church League games on the Y court.

Schoonmaker rimmed nine fields and six fouls to account for more than half of the Redeemer total. The Baptists had two men in double figures, Norm Cody with 13 and George Armstrong with 19.

Marks Boys Star

The Marks brothers — Ronnie and Billy—accounted for 51 of the Trinity Lutheran total in the breeze over Presbyterians. The former hit 12 fields and 4 fouls for 28 and Billy had 23. Don Simmons furnished 14 and C. Baechtle 19.

On the losing side, Richard Strong stood out with 16 points and Guy Crosby added 12.

Cowboy Carlson Meets Bibber McCoy Friday

The main bout will be on a best two out of three falls basis.

Carlson gave up cow-punching to become a wrestler and achieved instantaneous success. He is rated a TV draw equal to Lou Thesz, Verne Gagne, Argentine Rocca and other topnotchers of the day. The announcement of his appearance here sent the last local wrestling audience into hysterical cheering.

McCoy was an established first rater before TV gave wrestling a tremendous revival. He is a rough, tough and nasty guy who still relies on the flying tackle and dropkick made popular by the late Gus Sonnenberg.

The two preliminary bouts will be announced later.

Basketball is no longer a game just for the goons. At least not at Westport, N. Y.

Larry Killick, formerly a Baltimore professional player, has gone out and cut it down to midget size. Now even the near-toddlers can get into the act.

Killick calls his program Little Kid Basketball, and small boys six to 13 are playing it in six states. It is similar to the Biddy Basketball move. Started in January it is expected to blanket the nation next season.

The 32-year-old former Dartmouth and Vermont cage captain has set up no national organization for the program, asks no obligation for equipment, nor claims any membership fees.

Instead, he's going to public and parochial schools, YMCA's, Boys Clubs and other groups where the majority of the nation's hundreds of thousands of youngsters from six to 13 years have been yearning for just a chance to play basketball.

The beauty of Killick's game is the backboard he invented. It's portable and can be placed on a regulation board in four minutes, removed in the same amount of time.

It brings the hoop down to where the kids can peg at it with ease, being adjusted to a low of eight feet for the younger members of the six-to-13 group and a height of 8-10 for the older and taller ones.

Killick first got the idea for Little Kid Basketball when he wandered on a scene of pee wees vainly trying to heave a ball at the regulation hoop. The one-time pro decided to do something about it, and for three years he did extensive research.

He worked hard hand-in-hand with engineers, educators, physical education directors and basketball players to make sure that what he would offer would be complete in every detail.

Nobody's found a flaw yet, and the little guys have found a dream come true.

Killick's tailoring job was completed with the fashioning of a smaller hoop, 16½ inches in diameter, and smaller ball of 27 inches in circumference.

In presenting his idea around the country, Killick asks only that every boy get a chance to play. "That's the sole purpose of the program," he explains. "It's for all those boys too small to play regulation basketball."

Any group wanting to organize leagues, operate tournaments and play inter-school games may do so, points out Killick, but it's strictly their affair, with no obligations to Killick or to a national organization.

Such, in fact, has already been done since Killick went outside his workshop to put his program on a nation-wide scale.

KID CAGERS—Little Kid Basketball is cut down to size so that even near-toddlers can play. (NEA)

Kansas-Indiana Reach NCAA Finals

Kansas City, March 18 (AP)—Phog Allen's "half scared and skinny legged" Kansas Jayhawks will defend their National Collegiate (NCAA) basketball championship against Indiana's high-strung Hoosiers tonight.

Coach Branch McCracken's Indianans, Big Ten champions and voted No. 1 nationally, followed the form chart in beating Louisiana State, 80-67, in the opening game of the National Collegiate Athletic Association's semi-finals last night.

Kansas, with only one of its five starters back from the NCAA and Big Seven Conference's 1952 champs, humbled Washington's Huskies, the country's No. 2 quintet, 79-53.

"My half scared, skinny legged boys played one of their best games in beating those tall, Washington boys, Allen commented. "I'm not sure I understand how we got this far, but it must be because we play the ball instead of the opposing team."

98 High Schools Invited To Hudson Valley Relays

Entry blanks for the 1953 Hudson Valley Relays have been sent to 98 high schools within a fifty mile radius of New Paltz. This huge track and field meet which will take place at New Paltz High school is expected to attract over 500 high school boys from the surrounding area.

Those who attended the 1952 Hudson Valley Relays recall a very large and successful meet in which, in 37 events, two of the old Newburgh Relays records were tied, nine records were broken and seven records were established for new events.

The meet was held in three classes, A, B, and C, last year, however, since there were only four Class A high schools (Kingston, Middletown, Newburgh and Poughkepsie), classes A and B have been combined this year into a single class I. It is expected that competition this year will be fierce when the above named schools tangle with Arlington, Ellenville, Liberty, Nyack, Saugerties, Spring Valley, Suffern, Wappingers and, perhaps, Monticello, New York Military Academy, and Port Jervis who were unable to attend last year.

Tough Field

Class II, for schools with not more than 150 boys, will see competition among Cardinal Farley Military Academy, Congers, Cornwall on Hudson, Coxsackie-Athens, Fleischmanns, Goshen, Haldane, Hendrick Hudson, Highland Falls, Irvington, Marlborough, New Paltz, St. Agnes, St. Patrick's, Tappan-Zee, Walden, and Wallkill. Competition was so close last year in all classes that 23 of the 28 schools competing went home with one or more prizes.

One more event, the two mile relay, has been added to the program this year.

The rest of the program is made up of relays at 440 and 880 yards; the freshman relay, the mile relay and medley relay. In addition there will be a full card of field events and hurdles and a Special Invitation 100 Yard Dash. In the latter event, eight of the fastest high school sprinters in the Hudson Valley will be matched in the feature race of the meet.

Two hundred and sixty eight prizes will be awarded including plaques, trophies, medals, ribbons and bronzed spiked shoes.

Trinity Blasts Presbyterians; Lutherans Win

Trinity Lutheran overwhelmed the First Presbyterian cagers, 89-48, but Redeemer Lutheran needed a topflight scoring performance by Earl Schoonmaker to shade the Progressive Baptist, 45-42, in Tuesday's Protestant Church League games on the Y court.

Schoonmaker rimmed nine fields and six fouls to account for more than half of the Redeemer total. The Baptists had two men in double figures, Norm Cody with 13 and George Armstrong with 19.

Marks Boys Star

The Marks brothers — Ronnie and Billy—accounted for 51 of the Trinity Lutheran total in the breeze over Presbyterians. The former hit 12 fields and 4 fouls for 28 and Billy had 23. Don Simmons furnished 14 and C. Baechtle 19.

On the losing side, Richard Strong stood out with 16 points and Guy Crosby added 12.

Eagle Gives Robbins First Seniors Win

St. Augustine, Fla., March 18 (AP)—Thomas C. Robbins, veteran amateur golfer from Larchmont Acres, N. Y., is setting the pace in the first annual American Seniors Golf Association tournament.

Robbins meets Harrison Goodspeed, Grand Rapids, Mich., in today's second round of the tournament for golfers age 55 and over. Tuesday Robbins scored an eagle 3 on the 463-yard fourth hole of the Ponce De Leon course. It was a key shot in Robbins' 1 up victory over George Hardy, Evanston, Ill. A day earlier he chipped into the cup on the 18th green for a birdie that gave him medal honors.

Cowboy Carlson Meets Bibber McCoy Friday

The latest sensation of the Saturday night TV wrestling network out of Marigold Gardens, Chicago, will make his Kingston debut Friday night at the municipal auditorium.

Cowboy Carlson, a 6-foot-plus giant cast in the modern mould, is scheduled to meet Bibber McCoy, former Holy Cross football ace, who is one of the best known names in the business.

The main bout will be on a best two out of three falls basis.

Carlson gave up cow-punching to become a wrestler and achieved instantaneous success. He is rated a TV draw equal to Lou Thesz, Verne Gagne, Argentine Rocca and other topnotchers of the day. The announcement of his appearance here sent the last local wrestling audience into hysterical cheering.

McCoy was an established first rater before TV gave wrestling a tremendous revival. He is a rough, tough and nasty guy who still relies on the flying tackle and dropkick made popular by the late Gus Sonnenberg.

The two preliminary bouts will be announced later.

Hard hitting Ulster county sportsmen are raking Ed Gilligan, the Herald-Trib outdoor columnist and a member of the Woodstock Fish and Game Club, with heavy written and verbal fire.

Obviously the metropolitan daily relishes Gilligan's controversial stand on subjects near and dear to the hearts of the nimrods. At least, sports editor Bob Cooke has shown no disposition to publish letters addressed to him by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, former Federation president, and, more recently, Carleton B. King in behalf of the same organization.

We're in no position to expert on outdoor problems and legislation, so we're taking no sides. But Gilligan's blasts and the counter barrages by the FSC are serving one good purpose. They're opening up healthy discussion of pertinent legislation in which thousands of sportsmen have an abiding interest.

These blasts are rhetorically interesting. You should see some of the lively quotes in King's letter to Cooke. If the state's sportsmen, hunters and conservationist benefit by superior legislation because of these home town eruptions they will have rendered valuable service to all concerned.

Better we have arguments like FSC vs. Gilligan and Newkirk vs. Gilligan than have stuffed down the throats of hunters and fishermen legislation that is partisan and serves selfish interests. These discussions are the most potent weapons against bureaucratic and monolithic handling of fish and game laws by small cliques and legislative commitees.

It still would be interesting to have a full dress debate between Mr. Gilligan and a FSC panel. Presumably, Mr. editor Gilligan would be too busy with his "fly fishing only streams" project.

No action expected on the proposed New York-New Jersey independent baseball league until April 1. Meanwhile Fred Davi keeps busy with amateur boxing and Little League plans. He expects to have a couple of entries in the Adirondack AAU tournament at Albany later this month. Thanks to Senator Arthur H. Wicks area men will get a chance to serve as judges and inspectors for future professional boxing and wrestling in the mid-Hudson district. Before returning to Kingston after his Palm Beach stay, John Van Gonsic won two major trapshooting titles at Travers Island. James A. Wilson, secretary of the New York Journal-America's handicap tournament, sends an invitation for the ninth annual premiere on Saturday, March 21, at the Mid-City Lanes in the N. Y. City Port Authority Bus Terminal building. J. Richard Miller vacationing in Honolulu. Thre members of the Chalet Pioneer League at Rosendale have qualified for ABC triplicate patches: Holger "Hokie" Rask, the old Rosendale Fireman basketeer with 135; V. Kuhn 161 and J. Whitmore 161. Remember Jack Slattery ,the sensation of the Lions Club benefit basketball game between Sherman White's Bombardiers and Billy Loes' All Stars? His real name is Buck McConnell and he's now playing NBA ball with Fuzzy Levane's Milwaukee Hawks. Pete Petropoulos writes that McConnell averaged 39 points per game in two years with the Loes All Stars and hit a high of 42 against the New York Renaissance. Edmund Bower, of Hurley, is completing the basketball season with the Union College JVs. Bower has been starting at center for Coach Sam Hammerstrom's cagers. At a recent writing the 6 feet 4 inch Bower had been doing great work under the boards and was averaging 16 points per game. His best night was a 22-point barrage against Trinity College of Hartford, Conn. Bower, who played two years of JV ball at KHS and was president of his senior class, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund R. Bower of Hurley. Joe "The Claw" Albany contributed 12 points as Arnold College of Milford, Conn., upset highly favored Bridgeport University, 78-59, in the finals of the NAIA (National Asociation of Intercollegiate Athletics) district title. The Arnold Terriers won a trip to Kansas City for the national tournament.

Bo Gill's column carried this item a few days ago: Add Kingston-Newburgh fracas: Several Newburghers were pounded in the face with mud, soda and sand. . . . Maybe the Kingston rowdies thought they were introducing a beauty treatment. . . . Does the Newburgh Nomad recall the KHS-NFA football game of a few seasons back where several Kingstonians found their gas tanks filled with sand after the Maroon had whipped the Goldbacks? Pat Duffy writes from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., that Eastern League baseball will make a great comeback in 1953. The city, he reminds, is where Allie Reynolds gained early fame in the OB ranks. This may be the year Big Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati will blossom out as one of major league baseball's greatest hitters. At least, all signs point in that direction.

The 28-year-old Redleg first baseman finished third among National League batters in 1952 with a .320 average. But veteran observers, among them Cincinnati Manager Rogers Hornsby, believe Ted can do a lot better.

"Potentially, Kluszewski is a great hitter," Hornsby said earlier this spring. "If he just would apply himself a little more he might lead the league."

Up to now, there's no doubt that Ted has been bearing down.

The former Indiana University football star hit his home runs yesterday in the first and third innings, each time with Gus Bell on base. In the fifth, his safety delivered Grady Hatton.

At Orlando, the Brooklyn Dodgers outscored the Washington Senators, 11-10, in 10 innings. The Dodgers collected 17 hits, among them a home run by Pee Wee Reese, and the Senators 15, including doubles by Jim Busby, Mickey Vernon and Eddie Yost. Rookie Bob Milliken received credit for the victory and the veteran Sandy Consuegra was charged with the loss.

Browns Stop Giants

Les Moss' homer with two mates aboard climaxed a two-out six-run rally in the ninth inning and gave the St. Louis Browns a 9-6 win over the New York Giants.

The Cleveland Indians tallied in the 10th inning on singles by Jim Lemon and Bob Kennedy to beat the Chicago White Sox, 7-6.

In another extra-inning game, the Boston Red Sox went 14 frames before edging the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-5. Second baseman Johnny Merson's double drove home Al Zarilla with the winning run.

At Bradenton, a two-run double by rookie infielder Harry Hanebrink in the eighth inning gave the Boston Braves a 5-2 triumph over the world champion New York Yankees. Young Al Cicotte was the victim of Boston's three run uprising.

In a night game, the Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the Cuban All-Stars 3-2. Sonny Senerchina's three-run homer in the sixth inning accounted for all of the Pirates' runs. Jim Waugh was the winning pitcher.

Hank Sauer Shelved

The Chicago Cubs got only six hits off two San Diego hurlers and dropped a 2-1 decision to the Pacific Coast League club. Johnny Klippstein and Fred Baczewski divided Chicago's mound chores.

The Cubs were dealt a damaging blow when it was announced that Hank Sauer would be lost for most, if not all, of the exhibition season.

The hard-hitting outfielder, who hit 37 home runs in 1952 when he was the National League's most valuable player, hurt his right hand while sliding back into first base on Monday.

X-Rays showed a fracture of the middle joint of the little finger.

Grade School Basketball League Champions

Hanging up a seasonal record of six wins and one loss, School No. 3's basketball aces swept to the 1952-53 Grade School League championship. The team personnel included, l to r: kneeling, John Hobert, Captain Charlie Boice, holding the championship trophy, and Billy Rodden. Center row: Abe Levy, Jimmy Rodden, Warren Stewart and Charlie Williams. Rear row: George Rion, John Peck, Robert Peck and Eddie Rion. (Freeman photo)

Walter Cartier Goes Berserk After Heave-Ho in Turpin Go

London, March 28 (AP)—Walter Cartier did the holding last night in his short and unhappy middleweight fight with Randy Turpin but today the British were holding—holding up his purse money pending an inquiry into the fiasco which ended in disqualification.

The bout was stopped in the second round when Referee Tommy Little ordered Cartier out of the ring.

Cartier, a New Yorker, had been warned seven times to stop pinning Turpin's arms to his hips with the insides of his elbows.

Just after Little called off the remainder of the 10 round fight and while 18,000 fans in Earls Court screamed and booed at Cartier, the British Boxing Board of Control took over.

J. Onslow Fane, chairman of the board, said an inquiry would be made immediately and Cartier's purse would be withheld pending the investigation.

Goes Berserk

The New York fighter had planned to fly home Saturday.

After Little disqualified him, Cartier suddenly began screaming, cursing and running like a wild man around the ring—both inside and outside the ropes.

When the referee mentioned that Turpin was the winner Cartier kicked the ropes wildly and shouted down at the ringside reporters "no! no! no!"

Later he attacked the prefabricated wall in his dressing room. He won that bout, knocking a fair sized dent in the bulkhead. All the while he was claiming:

"I got a raw deal. That's the worst thing I ever saw done to anybody in my life. When the referee stopped the fight the first time to warn us it was me who was punching away. Turpin was doing the holding."

Up until the bout was stopped only about three punches were thrown, Turpin threw all of them.

Turpin weighed 160¾, Cartier 159½.

Caribbee Confirmed Winner in Yacht Race

Havana, Cuba, March 18 (AP)—Yachts were still gliding into Havana Harbor today to complete the 284-mile St. Petersburg to Havana Race which began Saturday.

Carleton Mitchell's 57-foot yawl Caribbee was first across the finish line yesterday afternoon, with an elapsed time of 72 hours, 49 minutes and 22 seconds, making this one of the slowest races in recent years.

Caribbee's corrected time was 68 hours, 41 minutes and 46 seconds and the victory gave her a sweep of southern ocean sailing events this winter. She won the Miami-Nassau and Nassau Cup races this year and took the St. Petersburg-Havana event a year ago on corrected time after finishing behind the Ticonderoga.

Hoover Bids For ABC Crown

Chicago, March 18 (AP) — Dick Hoover, former National Individual Match Game bowling champion, today will attempt to wrest away the ABC all-events lead from Freddie Bujack, of Detroit, who has 1970.

Hoover, of Akron, O., put himself in a position last night to overtake the Detroiter by blasting out a 722 in the team event. He powered Akron's J-Dapter Spout Co. to a 3102 series, which earned a tie for third place with the Detroit Strohs.

Hoover needs a 1249 in both the doubles and singles this afternoon to move ahead. He'll team with Gilbert Smith in the tandem event.

Their doubles target is 1335, also jointly owned by Bujack and Don Carter, the current National Individual Match Game champion.

If Hoover has any designs on the singles lead, he'll have to overtake John Muth, Jr., of Milwaukee, who has 727.

Cooper Leads Seminole Golf

Palm Beach, Fla., March 18 (AP) —Pete Cooper, playing out of White Plains, N. Y., let 57 other professionals into the final round of the 36-hole $10,000 Seminole Golf Club's pro-amateur tournament today with a six under par 66.

Cooper, who was raised at Lakeland and now lives at Jacksonville Beach, Fla., put together 34-32—66 Tuesday to give him a two-stroke margin over Herman Scharlau of Boca Raton, Fla.

Doug Ford of Harrison, N. Y.; Ben Hogan of Palm Springs, Calif., and Jerry Barber of La Canada, Calif., were tied at 69, one stroke better than five other pros —Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn.; Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa.; Jimmy Demaret of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y.; Al Besselink of Grossinger, N. Y., and Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

Miami Beach, Fla.—Billy Kilgore, 167½. Miami, outpointed Irwin Schultz, 163½, New York, 10.

Goldfarb's 589, Joe Kiff's 576 Lead Keglers

George Goldfarb's 589 series (166-208-215) in the Good Neighbor League was the best score reported in local bowling last night.

Len Ward led the Central Rec League with 170-211-193 for 574 and Joe Kiff, Jr. spanked 200-205-171-586 in the Federation National. J. Wolven of the International loop had 515.

Goldfarb shaded Seymour Markowitz by just a stick in the GNL, the latter reeling off 229 and 200 before a 159 collapse. Max Chirlin posted 204-569; Jack Blinder 211-564; Murray Greene 202-546; Irving Wilpan 542; E. Rose and H. Katzoff (202)-527; Moe Lazarowitz 202-525; Stan Kaplan 203-523 and Phil Levy 522.

Team results:

Pieper Raps 552

Bill Pieper hit 552 and Bill Johnson 206-547 in the Central Rec. Don McConnell accounted for 213-546; Ray Houghtaling 201-535; Frank Spada 202-532; Burt Burr 228-531.

Team results:

Haber's Grill 3, Lincoln Park Inn 0; Chez Emile 2, Herzog's 1; Pine Tree Inn 2, Thompson Laundry 1; Hamburger Paradise 2, Kingston Heating Supply 1.

Adam Thiel trailed Kiff in the Federation with 204-542. Ralph Halbert clipped 518; Ed Leudtke 493; B. Hudler 492; E. Roosa 490 and Stan Hankinson 484. In the other division, G. Boice came up with 509; R. Fatum 497, C. Nicponski 205-496, Ed Dayton 490, Doug Harvey 488.

Brooklyn (Ridgewood Grove)—Jimmy Herring, 159¾, Brooklyn, stopped Johnny Cerky, 156½, Des Moines, 8.

White Plains, N. Y. — Jimmy Wilde, 135¾, New York, knocked out Pat Mallane, 133¼, Union City, Conn., 5.

Perini Confident Of Braves Shift

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 18 (AP) — The Boston-to-Milwaukee franchise shift hung in the balance today as the National League and American Association met to vote on the transfer.

Owner Lou Perini was confident he would get approval to move his Braves into the minor league territory where he already operates a farm club.

"Somebody has to tell me why it isn't a good move," he said. "If they can show me it would be detrimental to baseball, I'll go along. But I won't be put off by any talk about this being too late to move.

"I'm apologetic about the timing. I'm sorry about it. But this is an entirely different proposition than Bill Veeck moving from St. Louis to Baltimore. I own both franchises. There is no chance of legal entanglements.

"I'm sick of pounding my head against a stone wall. This is no sudden thing. I've known for two years it was inevitable, Boston simply is not a two-club city."

Perini said he had contacted all National League owners, except Phil Wrigley of Chicago and John Galbreath of Pittsburgh. He said he had found no opposition.

"I have not stirred up any animosities," he said. "The owners are honorable men. I am sure they will make their decision on the basis of what is good for baseball. After I tell them my story I am confident they will say 'if that's what you really want, okay.' "

However, Veeck thought he had seven clubs on his side in his attempt to move the Browns to Baltimore. When he was defeated Monday afternoon, 5-2, he had only the votes of the Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox.

Hard hitting Ulster county sportsmen are raking Ed Gilligan, the Herald-Trib outdoor columnist and a member of the Woodstock Fish and Game Club, with heavy written and verbal fire.

Obviously the metropolitan daily relishes Gilligan's controversial stand on subjects near and dear to the hearts of the nimrods. At least, sports editor Bob Cooke has shown no disposition to publish letters addressed to him by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, former Federation president, and, more recently, Carleton B. King in behalf of the same organization.

We're in no position to expert on outdoor problems and legislation, so we're taking no sides. But Gilligan's blasts and the counter barrages by the FSC are serving one good purpose. They're opening up healthy discussion of pertinent legislation in which thousands of sportsmen have an abiding interest.

These blasts are rhetorically interesting. You should see some of the lively quotes in King's letter to Cooke. If the state's sportsmen, hunters and conservationist benefit by superior legislation because of these home town eruptions they will have rendered valuable service to all concerned.

Better we have arguments like FSC vs. Gilligan and Newkirk vs. Gilligan than have stuffed down the throats of hunters and fishermen legislation that is partisan and serves selfish interests. These discussions are the most potent weapons against bureaucratic and monolithic handling of fish and game laws by small cliques and legislative commitees.

It still would be interesting to have a full dress debate between Mr. Gilligan and a FSC panel. Presumably, Mr. editor Gilligan would be too busy with his "fly fishing only streams" project.

No action expected on the proposed New York-New Jersey independent baseball league until April 1. Meanwhile Fred Davi keeps busy with amateur boxing and Little League plans. He expects to have a couple of entries in the Adirondack AAU tournament at Albany later this month. Thanks to Senator Arthur H. Wicks area men will get a chance to serve as judges and inspectors for future professional boxing and wrestling in the mid-Hudson district. Before returning to Kingston after his Palm Beach stay, John Van Gonsic won two major trapshooting titles at Travers Island. James A. Wilson, secretary of the New York Journal-America's handicap tournament, sends an invitation for the ninth annual premiere on Saturday, March 21, at the Mid-City Lanes in the N. Y. City Port Authority Bus Terminal building. J. Richard Miller vacationing in Honolulu. Thre members of the Chalet Pioneer League at Rosendale have qualified for ABC triplicate patches: Holger "Hokie" Rask, the old Rosendale Fireman basketeer with 135; V. Kuhn 161 and J. Whitmore 161. Incidentally, all three are members of the Schryver Lumber squad.

Remember Jack Slattery ,the sensation of the Lions Club benefit basketball game between Sherman White's Bombardiers and Billy Loes' All Stars? His real name is Buck McConnell and he's now playing NBA ball with Fuzzy Levane's Milwaukee Hawks. Pete Petropoulos writes that McConnell averaged 39 points per game in two years with the Loes All Stars and hit a high of 42 against the New York Renaissance. Edmund Bower, of Hurley, is completing the basketball season with the Union College JVs. Bower has been starting at center for Coach Sam Hammerstrom's cagers. At a recent writing the 6 feet 4 inch Bower had been doing great work under the boards and was averaging 16 points per game. His best night was a 22-point barrage against Trinity College of Hartford, Conn. Bower, who played two years of JV ball at KHS and was president of his senior class, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund R. Bower of Hurley. Joe "The Claw" Albany contributed 12 points as Arnold College of Milford, Conn., upset highly favored Bridgeport University, 78-59, in the finals of the NAIA (National Asociation of Intercollegiate Athletics) district title. The Arnold Terriers won a trip to Kansas City for the national tournament.

Bo Gill's column carried this item a few days ago: Add Kingston-Newburgh fracas: Several Newburghers were pounded in the face with mud, soda and sand. . . . Maybe the Kingston rowdies thought they were introducing a beauty treatment. . . . Does the Newburgh Nomad recall the KHS-NFA football game of a few seasons back where several Kingstonians found their gas tanks filled with sand after the Maroon had whipped the Goldbacks? Pat Duffy writes from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., that Eastern League baseball will make a great comeback in 1953. The city, he reminds, is where Allie Reynolds gained early fame in the OB ranks. Is W.M. the "independent" candidate for president of the Kingston Bowling Association?

Hoover Bids For ABC Crown

Chicago, March 18 (AP) — Dick Hoover, former National Individual Match Game bowling champion, today will attempt to wrest away the ABC all-events lead from Freddie Bujack, of Detroit, who has 1970.

Hoover, of Akron, O., put himself in a position last night to overtake the Detroiter by blasting out a 722 in the team event. He powered Akron's J-Dapter Spout Co. to a 3102 series, which earned a tie for third place with the Detroit Strohs.

Hoover needs a 1249 in both the doubles and singles this afternoon to move ahead. He'll team with Gilbert Smith in the tandem event.

Their doubles target is 1335, also jointly owned by Bujack and Don Carter, the current National Individual Match Game champion.

If Hoover has any designs on the singles lead, he'll have to overtake John Muth, Jr., of Milwaukee, who has 727.

Cooper Leads Seminole Golf

Palm Beach, Fla., March 18 (AP) —Pete Cooper, playing out of White Plains, N. Y., let 57 other professionals into the final round of the 36-hole $10,000 Seminole Golf Club's pro-amateur tournament today with a six under par 66.

Cooper, who was raised at Lakeland and now lives at Jacksonville Beach, Fla., put together 34-32—66 Tuesday to give him a two-stroke margin over Herman Scharlau of Boca Raton, Fla.

Doug Ford of Harrison, N. Y.; Ben Hogan of Palm Springs, Calif., and Jerry Barber of La Canada, Calif., were tied at 69, one stroke better than five other pros —Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn.; Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa.; Jimmy Demaret of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y.; Al Besselink of Grossinger, N. Y., and Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

Miami Beach, Fla.—Billy Kilgore, 167½, Miami, outpointed Irwin Schultz, 163½, New York, 10.

Goldfarb's 589, Joe Kiff's 576 Lead Keglers

George Goldfarb's 589 series (166-208-215) in the Good Neighbor League was the best score reported in local bowling last night.

Len Ward led the Central Rec League with 170-211-193 for 574 and Joe Kiff, Jr. spanked 200-205-171-586 in the Federation National. J. Wolven of the International loop had 515.

Goldfarb shaded Seymour Markowitz by just a stick in the GNL, the latter reeling off 229 and 200 before a 159 collapse. Max Chirlin posted 204-569; Jack Blinder 211-564; Murray Greene 202-546; Irving Wilpan 542; E. Rose and H. Katzoff (202)-527; Moe Lazarowitz 202-525; Stan Kaplan 203-523 and Phil Levy 522.

Team results:

Hot Shots 3, B'nai B'rith 0; Blinder's Ladies Apparel 3, Standard Furniture 0; French Dye Works 3, Suntag's Pharmacy 0; Larry's Beachcomers 2, Guarantee Radiator 1; IMM No. 2 (2) Rippy Dips 1; Leventhal Furs 3, Men's Club 0; B'nai B'rith No. 2-IMM No. 1, postponed.

Pieper Raps 552

Bill Pieper hit 552 and Bill Johnson 206-547 in the Central Rec. Don McConnell accounted for 213-546; Ray Houghtaling 201-535; Frank Spada 202-532; Burt Burr 228-531.

Team results:

Haber's Grill 3, Lincoln Park Inn 0; Chez Emile 2, Herzog's 1; Pine Tree Inn 2, Thompson Laundry 1; Hamburger Paradise 2, Kingston Heating Supply 1.

Adam Thiel trailed Kiff in the Federation with 204-542. Ralph Halbert clipped 518; Ed Leudtke 493; B. Hudler 492; E. Roosa 490 and Stan Hankinson 484. In the other division, G. Boice came up with 509; R. Fatum 497, C. Nicponski 205-496, Ed Dayton 490, Doug Harvey 488.

Brooklyn (Ridgewood Grove)—Jimmy Herring, 159¾, Brooklyn, stopped Johnny Cerky, 156½, Des Moines, 8.

White Plains, N. Y. — Jimmy Wilde, 135¾, New York, knocked out Pat Mallane, 133¼, Union City, Conn., 5.

Perini Confident Of Braves Shift

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 18 (AP) — The Boston-to-Milwaukee franchise shift hung in the balance today as the National League and American Association met to vote on the transfer.

Owner Lou Perini was confident he would get approval to move his Braves into the minor league territory where he already operates a farm club.

"Somebody has to tell me why it isn't a good move," he said. "If they can show me it would be detrimental to baseball, I'll go along. But I won't be put off by any talk about this being too late to move.

"I'm apologetic about the timing. I'm sorry about it. But this is an entirely different proposition than Bill Veeck moving from St. Louis to Baltimore. I own both franchises. There is no chance of legal entanglements.

"I'm sick of pounding my head against a stone wall. This is no sudden thing. I've known for two years it was inevitable. Boston simply is not a two-club city."

Perini said he had contacted all National League owners, except Phil Wrigley of Chicago and John Galbreath of Pittsburgh. He said he had found no opposition.

"I have not stirred up any animosities," he said. "The owners are honorable men. I am sure they will make their decision on the basis of what is good for baseball. After I tell them my story I am confident they will say 'if that's what you really want, okay.' "

However, Veeck thought he had seven clubs on his side in his attempt to move the Browns to Baltimore. When he was defeated Monday afternoon, 5-2, he had only the votes of the Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox.

Walter Cartier Goes Berserk After Heave-Ho in Turpin Go

London, March 28 (AP)—Walter Cartier did the holding last night in his short and unhappy middleweight fight with Randy Turpin but today the British were holding—holding up his purse money pending an inquiry into the fiasco which ended in disqualification.

The bout was stopped in the second round when Referee Tommy Little ordered Cartier out of the ring.

Cartier, a New Yorker, had been warned seven times to stop pinning Turpin's arms to his hips with the insides of his elbows.

Just after Little called off the remainder of the 10 round fight and while 18,000 fans in Earls Court screamed and booed at Cartier, the British Boxing Board of Control took over.

J. Onslow Fane, chairman of the board, said an inquiry would be made immediately and Cartier's purse would be withheld pending the investigation.

Goes Berserk

The New York fighter had planned to fly home Saturday.

After Little disqualified him, Cartier suddenly began screaming, cursing and running like a wild man around the ring—both inside and outside the ropes.

When the referee mentioned that Turpin was the winner Cartier kicked the ropes wildly and shouted down at the ringside reporters "no! no! no!"

Later he attacked the prefabricated wall in his dressing room. He won that bout, knocking a fair sized dent in the bulkhead. All the while he was claiming:

"I got a raw deal. That's the worst thing I ever saw done to anybody in my life. When the referee stopped the fight the first time to warn us it was me who was punching away. Turpin was doing the holding."

Up until the bout was stopped only about three punches were thrown, Turpin threw all of them.

Turpin weighed 160¾, Cartier 159½.

Caribbee Confirmed Winner in Yacht Race

Havana, Cuba, March 18 (AP)—Yachts were still gliding into Havana Harbor today to complete the 284-mile St. Petersburg to Havana Race which began Saturday.

Carleton Mitchell's 57-foot yawl Caribbee was first across the finish line yesterday afternoon, with an elapsed time of 72 hours, 49 minutes and 22 seconds, making this one of the slowest races in recent years.

Caribbee's corrected time was 68 hours, 41 minutes and 46 seconds and the victory gave her a sweep of southern ocean sailing events this winter. She won the Miami-Nassau and Nassau Cup races this year and took the St. Petersburg-Havana event a year ago on corrected time after finishing behind the Ticonderoga.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By WARREN PAGE
(Shooting Editor)

"Brother, this is tough going?" Where the dickens do you figure those birds have gone?

"Hanged if I know. Last Saturday the Jedge and I found eight coveys in the forenoon, and it was a lot drier underfoot than it is right now. They must have taken plumb out of the country."

But those birds hadn't moved clear off the plantation. Quail don't travel as pheasants sometimes do. A covey of birds will generally hang out in the same field, near the same brush corner, for weeks or even seasons at a time, until broken up by the shooting or by predators, or until the fields have been replanted in some crop that offers quail no feed.

We knew where several coveys ought to be but we couldn't find a bird to save us. There wasn't a square foot of that whole plantation along North Carolina's Yadkin River bottom that wasn't familiar to at least one member of the party, and our good pointing dogs were baffled. The birds had just plain disappeared.

This wasn't a case of poor scenting conditions. Two nights before there had been a steady rain, soaking covers and ground and leaving for the dogs just the right amount of dampness. Yet for one whole day we had not located a single quail in an area normally productive of limits if a man shot even reasonably well.

But this Yadkin River situation was a real toughie. Even the tenant farmer who had come with us to point out sure-fire covey corners had to shift his chew from one side to the other and allow as how he was plumb stumped.

The situation wasn't exactly new to me, because Ive bumped into it chasing quail in the Southwest, where the top-knotted sprinters have to range over a lot of country to find adequate feed. But I'd never seen fine dogs draw such a complete blank, under good scenting conditions, in country that was familiar to both dogs and men.

Not until the second day did we locate a covey, and then a young dog, either out of frustration at finding no birds earlier, or just plain excited, busted that one up out of gunshot. Either the birds or the North Carolina plantation had taken themselves a trip down into South Carolina, or somehow they had temporarily lost the ripe scent to every dog nose spells quail, and to every gunner a chance at flying buzz-bombs.

Could they have been chewing some of that chlorophyll stuff, you suppose?

Brooklyn Man Hurt As Pickup Truck Upsets

Salvatore Giustiniani, 38, of 1513 59th street, Brooklyn, received a bruised right arm and a possible fractured rib when a 1946 pickup truck he was operating north on Route 9W turned over about a quarter of a mile north of the traffic signal at Milton, Highland State Police said today.

Police reported that Giustiniani, who was driving a truck owned by his brother, George Giustino of 634 Broadway, Kingston, told them a truck with a red platform was passing him and cut in too sharply, forcing him off the right side of the highway and causing him to lose control of the vehicle and turn over.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By WARREN PAGE
(Shooting Editor)

"Brother, this is tough going?"

Where the dickens do you figure those birds have gone?

"Hanged if I know. Last Saturday the Jedge and I found eight coveys in the forenoon, and it was a lot drier underfoot than it is right now. They must have taken plumb out of the country."

But those birds hadn't moved clear off the plantation. Quail don't travel as pheasants sometimes do. A covey of birds will generally hang out in the same field, near the same brush corner, for weeks or even seasons at a time, until broken up by the shooting or by predators, or until the fields have been replanted in some crop that offers quail no feed.

We knew where several coveys ought to be but we couldn't find a bird to save us. There wasn't a square foot of that whole plantation along North Carolina's Yadkin River bottom that wasn't familiar to at least one member of the party, and our good pointing dogs were baffled. The birds had just plain disappeared.

This wasn't a case of poor scenting conditions. Two nights before there had been a steady rain, soaking covers and ground and leaving for the dogs just the right amount of dampness. Yet for one whole day we had not located a single quail in an area normally productive of limits if a man shot even reasonably well.

But this Yadkin River situation was a real toughie. Even the tenant farmer who had come with us to point out sure-fire covey corners had to shift his chew from one side to the other and allow as how he was plumb stumped.

The situation wasn't exactly new to me, because Ive bumped into it chasing quail in the Southwest, where the top-knotted sprinters have to range over a lot of country to find adequate feed. But I'd never seen fine dogs draw such a complete blank, under good scenting conditions, in country that was familiar to both dogs and men.

Not until the second day did we locate a covey, and then a young dog, either out of frustration at finding no birds earlier, or just plain excited, busted that one up out of gunshot. Either the birds or the North Carolina plantation had taken themselves a trip down into South Carolina, or somehow they had temporarily lost the ripe scent to every dog nose spells quail, and to every gunner a chance at flying buzz-bombs.

Could they have been chewing some of that chlorophyll stuff, you suppose?

Brooklyn Man Hurt As Pickup Truck Upsets

Salvatore Giustiniani, 38, of 1513 59th street, Brooklyn, received a bruised right arm and a possible fractured rib when a 1946 pickup truck he was operating north on Route 9W turned over about a quarter of a mile north of the traffic signal at Milton, Highland State Police said today.

Police reported that Giustiniani, who was driving a truck owned by his brother, George Giustino of 634 Broadway, Kingston, told them a truck with a red platform was passing him and cut in too sharply, forcing him off the right side of the highway and causing him to lose control of the vehicle and turn over.

Supply Centers Are Almost Wiped Out By B-29 Superforts

Seoul, March 18 (AP)—American B-29 Superforts virtually wiped out the Communist supply and troop center of Pungha on Manchuria's southern outskirts today in the fourth largest bomber strike of the Korean war.

On the ground, Dutch and South Korean troops teamed up to smash Chinese attacks on two advanced positions in the western sector northeast of Yonchon.

Behind the line, four unidentified aircraft strafed positions on the eastern front. The Eighth Army reported there were no casualties, but that one truck was damaged. Later today the air force said it was investigating.

Forty Okinawa based Superforts, 27 of which smashed against Pungha's 320 wooden buildings, plowed through 40 miles of flak and braved Red night fighters to reach their target. The other 13 hit Red lines.

One airman said the Communist supply, troops and factor complex at Pungha "went up at once, as though someone had spilled gunpowder over the area and lit it."

First Raid

It was the first time the Pungha site had been hit. It is three miles southeast of Sinuiju in northwest Korea. It was so close to Manchuria that Red anti-aircraft guns inside China fired on the B-29s.

Off the Korean east coast three American seamen were injured by shore guns answering the fire of the destroyers Taussig and Keys and raking the tiny mine sweeper Gull. One man was hurt in the Taussig and two on the Gull.

The shore fire came while the destroyers were bombarding targets along the main north-south railroad line.

Beat Back Attacks

Dutch and ROK infantrymen beat back seven Communist probing attacks before dawn—the largest in a bitter 45-minute battle northeast of the hook on the western front. The Eighth Army reported they killed or wounded 80 Chinese in a smashing attack against a UN advance position northeast of the hook.

Some 100 Chinese assaulted the hill position under cover of an artillery and mortar barrage but were moved down by rifle and machine gun fire on the slopes.

Patrol skirmishes flared across the front. An American patrol killed and wounded 13 Chinese in one scrap on the western sector.

Australia uses the monetary system of pounds, shillings and pence.

Continent Showered By Thunderstorms

(By The Associated Press)

Showers and thunderstorms hit wide areas of the mid-continent today after heavy falls from southern Missouri into Arkansas and eastern Oklahoma.

The rain belt extended from Arkansas and northern Mississippi into Illinois and Iowa. Wet weather was in prospect for most of the north central region during the day.

Rainfall in Fort Smith, Ark., measured nearly four inches; two and one-half inches in Little Rock and nearly two inches in McAlester, Okla.

Generally fair weather was reported along the eastern seaboard and in the far southwest. Temperatures were comparatively mild in most areas, although a little cool air spread into the northeastern states and in the central Rockies. Southerly winds brought mild tempertures to the Mississippi valley, the Ohio valley and the upper Great Lakes region.

Ulster Gazette Is Found in Old Book, Local Contact Made

The Ulster County Gazette published in Kingston Jan. 4, 1800, and reprinted many times since continues to bring widespread publicity to this city and county.

Among the latest discoveries of copies of the famous journal containing an account of George Washington's funeral was the finding of a copy folded in an old book by A. D. Spangler of 856 Ogontz street, York, Pa.

Coming several days before Washington's Birthday this year, the discovery was good for a two-column head and illustrated article in the February 21 issue of the York Gazette and Daily.

To Send Instructions

A clipping sent to relatives here by Vernice A. Stinger of York was shown to Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, who revealed that he will send to the York newspaper a copy of the Chamber's letter in which are listed various hints on how to tell an original from a reprint. The Kingston Chamber of Commerce last year offered $100 for an authentic original copy of the paper, and although several hundred inquiries were received no original turned up. Kurdt said today that he believes the offer is still good.

The Gazette and Daily article quotes John Lowry Ruth, director of the York County Historical Society, as saying Spangler's copy "likely is an original."

Bonus for Korea Vets

Hartford, Conn., March 18 (AP)—There was general agreement at a legislative hearing yesterday that Connecticut veterans of the Korean conflict should get a bonus but some said it should be held off until the end of the war. Two bonus bills heard by the General Assembly's Military and Veterans Affairs Committee provide for a bonus bond issue. One, which would call for a bond issue of $20,000,000, would give Korean veterans a bonus of $10 for each month of service with a maximum of $300. The other, introduced by Sen. Charles McKew Parr (R-Chester), calls for a bond issue of $5,000,000 and would call for the same bonus as the other bill, but would limit it to those who have had duty in Korea. The first bill was introduced by Rep. Allan Mopsik (D-Plainfield).

Dr. Lindquist Is To Speak Thursday At Lenten Service

The second of three special Lenten services Thursday at 8 p. m. at the First Presbyterian Church, Elmendorf street and Tremper avenue, will feature a sermon by the Rev. Dr. Raymond L. Lindquist, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Orange, N. J., on Putting the Most You Have Into the Best There Is. The Rev. William J. McVey, pastor, will preside.

The Rev. Dr. Lindquist, who is one of the most popular inspirational preachers in America, has been heard in Kingston each year for the past 10 years as a Lenten speaker, and was the first preacher for a preaching mission sponsored by the Kingston Ministerial Association. It is expected that the sanctuary will be filled with his many friends from other churches of Kingston. Provision is being made to carry the service by loud speaker to the adjoining hall of Ramsey building.

For the musical part of the program, Miss Merrihew, organist and choir director, has arranged for the following numbers: Organ prelude, Chorale by Bach; anthem by the senior choir, Let Not Your Heart Be Troubled by Dickey; selected baritone or soprano solo; and postlude by Mendelssohn. The public is invited.

Planned Parenthood Scored by Catholics

Philadelphia, Barch 18 (AP)—The National Catholic Family Life Conference, opened final meetings today following its condemnation of planned parenthood as "immoral and destructive of the very purpose of marriage."

The conference also denounced what it termed "the national scandal of divorce" and asserted there is only one solution to the problem—"the rejection of all divorces."

Final sessions of the three-day conference dealt with aspects of family as well as developing family attitudes in the child.

Assailments against divorce and planned parenthood were contained in a statement issued by the conference.

In the statement, the conference also deplored aspects of economic existence which, it said, forced mothers to earn livelihoods in industry, "robbing the worker's child of the natural right to a mother's care, and making impossible the minimum of genuine family life."

Katherine B. Kelly, field secretary of the National Catholic Welfare Conference's Social Action Department in Washington, reported there are approximately five and a quarter million mothers of children under 18 in our labor forces.

Private and public surveys of the subject, she said, indicate 80 per cent of all women working say they hold jobs because they must contribute to otherwise inadequate family income.

All Escapees Back

Fort Dix, N. J., March 18 (AP)—All of the seven GIs who broke out of a company stockade at this army post were back in custody today. The last of the seven surrendered yesterday, said Capt. Harry Lapham, public information officer. Pvt. Alberto A. Comia, 20, of 57-50 69th Lane, Queens, N. Y., got out of a car and gave himself up to a guard at the post. Lapham said the soldier did not tell where he had been since the escape last Friday. However Lapham quoted him as saying his mother and sister drove him back to camp.

To Discuss Worry Habit

"How to Break the Worry Habit" is the topic for discussion at the mid-week service Thursday in the Old Dutch Church, corner of Wall and Main streets, at 7:30 p. m. This is a continuation of special Lenten services conducted by the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, designed to meet the daily problems and deepen the spiritual life of people. The meetings are undenominational and applicable to all seekers after the Christian truth. Everyone is cordially invited.

More Jobs in Germany

Nuernberg, Germany, March 18 (AP)—West Germany's unemployed declined by 274,550 to 1,536,145 cases in the first half of March, the Federal Labor Office announced here today. Good weather enabled many building projects to start ahead of schedule. Agriculture activity also increased.

Negro Warrior Is Found Who Saved Life of His Colonel

Western Front, Korea, March 18 (AP)—A 19-year-old Negro who was "helped by the Lord" stood in front of a bunker on embattled Little Gibraltar Tuesday and kept attacking Chinese Communists from reaching a wounded American lieutenant colonel.

Pvt. Courtney L. Stanley, Mansfield, La., was identified today as the soldier who saved the officer's life and two other men in the bunker. The colonel's name was withheld.

Stanley said he killed eight Chinese who attacked the bunker. He suffered only a few scratches from Communist concussion grenades and was still on duty on Little Gibraltar today.

A Second Division officer took Stanley to a rear area where Pfc. William Wourinen of Neselle, Wash., who was with the wounded colonel, identifieed Stanley and said:

"He saved everybody's life in that bunker."

Stanley said, "I think God was really with me that time. I know he was."

Fights for Hours

Stanley said he and Wourinen helped the colonel into the bunker after the colonel was wounded. Then, he said, he stood in a trench outside the bunker and held off Chinese attackers from 5:30 a. m. until 9 a. m.

"I knew that unless there was someone there shooting, the Chiness would have got the colonel and would have taken him prisoner.

"I was standing there to protect the colonel and myself and the rest of the guys."

He said he saw about 15 Chinese move up to the bunker.

"I just stood out there and fired with my BAR (Browning Automatic Rifle). I fired until it jammed. Then I got an M-1 from Wuorinen in the bunker and I fired it."

Keeps on Firing

Stanley said he fired 31 magazines, each holding 20 rounds, with his BAR. Then he fired about 12 rounds with the M-1.

"I'm positive I killed eight Chinese," he said. "Every time one poked his head over the trench I fired about a dozen rounds. I saw eight drop."

Stanley said he did not think he was a hero.

"If the Lord wasn't with me, I wouldn't have made it," he said. "I said to myself, 'the Lord is my Shepherd.'"

Stanley was attending DeSoto Parish High School in Mansfield before entering the army July 22. He came to Korea Jan. 23. The fight on Little Gibraltar was his first battle.

Called Bravest Man

He said about 10 Communist grenades exploded near him while he was guarding the bunker but that he only suffered a slight cut on the face and another on the hand from the grenades.

Second Division officers had been looking for Stanley since yesterday, when the colonel told how a colored soldier saved his life.

Communists Have Own View of Flood Help

Washington, March 18 (AP)—U. S. government monitors reported today this domestic broadcast by the Budapest radio in Communist Hungary:

"During the recent floods in Holland one of the old churches in The Hague, the Groote Kerk, was badly damaged. The Americans, in their effort to spread the American way of life in Europe, in the sphere of religion as well as in other fields, have offered a large sum for the restoration of this church.

"In return for their pious generosity, the agents of gangster civilization demanded only one thing from the Dutch church: That once the restoration work is completed shey should be allowed to put up Coca Cola and chewing gum advertisements on its spire. U. S. capitalists are of the opinion that business advertisements and the cross can safely go together."

4-H Program Set Here on Saturday

The annual county-wide 4-H Club demonstration day will be held Saturday at the Vocational School in Kingston.

Beginning at 9 a. m., boy and girl 4-H members will present approximately 40 separate demonstrations covering every phase of club work: agriculture, foods, clothing, home improvement and others.

Judges will include Miss Gwenn Chapman, Columbia county; Miss Marjorie Garland, Dutchess county; Mrs. Natalie Straub, Saugerties; Miss Mary Jane Steiner, Schenectady; Miss Elizabeth Alley, Millbrook; Mrs. Gerald DuBois, New Paltz, and Mrs. Betty Jane Barringer, Onteora School. Others will be selected.

The demonstrations are open to the public.

Five Lose Lives In Fire at Inn

Ticonderoga, March 18 (AP)—At least five persons perished and five were injured early today in a fire that destroyed the Ticonderoga Inn.

Police said more than five may have lost their lives in the spectacular fire, which within minutes made a tinder box of the 75-year-old, three-story frame dwelling, a block and a half from the center of this historic northern New York village.

The known dead:

Desmond La Pointe, 44, owner of the hotel.

Michelle La Pointe, about 18, a daughter of Desmond.

Charles Noel, 24, a truck driver who roomed at the inn.

Louis Vigilotti, 35, a bartender.

Sigmund Miner, 65, a bartender.

La Pointe's wife, Margaret, 38, and their daughter, Deborah, 6, were among the injured.

The others injured were:

Arnold Sossy of Boston, Mass., a guest; Jerome Fisher of New York city, a guest, and Mrs. Marion Gunning, 41, a waitress.

Mrs. Gunning, Fisher and Sossy were reported to have leaped from windows.

The fire broke out about 3:30 a. m. in a room on the second floor of the hotel, a landmark in this village between Lake George and Lake Champlain.

Within a few minutes the first two floors were a mass of flames and the fire shot through the roof.

There were more than 20 rooms in the inn, all but two of which were said to have been occupied.

A St. Patrick's Day party was held at the inn last night. The last of those attending left at about 1 a. m.

Hangs Out of Window, But Won't Open Door

New York, March 18 (AP)—Five-year-old Dana Schwalbe played Tarzan for 15 minutes yesterday, hanging by his hands from a third-story window of his family's Brooklyn apartment.

He then foiled police rescue attempts by hauling himself quickly through the window and back into the apartment.

The police, summoned by an office worker who saw the boy acrobat from across the street, rushed upstairs and found the apartment door locked. The officers rang the door bell and pounded.

But Dana yelled back: "I can't open the door. My momma says not to open the door for anybody."

Finally the police entered the apartment with a pass key to find Dana and his sister, Carol, 2, hiding under the bed.

At that moment the mother, Mrs. Patte Schwalbe, 25, arrived breathless.

She was told of her son's behavior, first thought of spanking him, then remembered his obedience in not admitting strangers to the flat.

The result—ice cream cones for both Dana and his sister.

Supply Centers Are Almost Wiped Out By B-29 Superforts

Seoul, March 18 (AP)—American B-29 Superforts virtually wiped out the Communist supply and troop center of Pungha on Manchuria's southern outskirts today in the fourth largest bomber strike of the Korean war.

On the ground, Dutch and South Korean troops teamed up to smash Chinese attacks on two advanced positions in the western sector northeast of Yonchon.

Behind the line, four unidentified aircraft strafed positions on the eastern front. The Eighth Army reported there were no casualties, but that one truck was damaged. Later today the air force said it was investigating.

Forty Okinawa based Superforts, 27 of which smashed against Pungha's 320 wooden buildings, plowed through 40 miles of flak and braved Red night fighters to reach their target. The other 13 hit Red lines.

One airman said the Communist supply, troops and factor complex at Pungha "went up at once, as though someone had spilled gunpowder over the area and lit it."

First Raid

It was the first time the Pungha site had been hit. It is three miles southeast of Sinuiju in northwest Korea. It was so close to Manchuria that Red anti-aircraft guns inside China fired on the B-29s.

Off the Korean east coast three American seamen were injured by shore guns answering the fire of the destroyers Taussig and Keys and raking the tiny mine sweeper Gull. One man was hurt in the Taussig and two on the Gull.

The shore fire came while the destroyers were bombarding targets along the main north-south railroad line.

Beat Back Attacks

Dutch and ROK infantrymen beat back seven Communist probing attacks before dawn—the largest in a bitter 45-minute battle northeast of the hook on the western front. The Eighth Army reported they killed or wounded 80 Chinese in a smashing attack against a UN advance position northeast of the hook.

Some 100 Chinese assaulted the hill position under cover of an artillery and mortar barrage but were moved down by rifle and machine gun fire on the slopes.

Patrol skirmishes flared across the front. An American patrol killed and wounded 13 Chinese in one scrap on the western sector.

Continent Showered By Thunderstorms

(By The Associated Press)

Showers and thunderstorms hit wide areas of the mid-continent today after heavy falls from southern Missouri into Arkansas and eastern Oklahoma.

The rain belt extended from Arkansas and northern Mississippi into Illinois and Iowa. Wet weather was in prospect for most of the north central region during the day.

Rainfall in Fort Smith, Ark., measured nearly four inches; two and one-half inches in Little Rock and nearly two inches in McAlester, Okla.

Generally fair weather was reported along the eastern seaboard and in the far southwest. Temperatures were comparatively mild in most areas, although a little cool air spread into the northeastern states and in the central Rockies. Southerly winds brought mild tempertures to the Mississippi valley, the Ohio valley and the upper Great Lakes region.

Ulster Gazette Is Found in Old Book, Local Contact Made

The Ulster County Gazette published in Kingston Jan. 4, 1800, and reprinted many times since continues to bring widespread publicity to this city and county.

Among the latest discoveries of copies of the famous journal containing an account of George Washington's funeral was the finding of a copy folded in an old book by A. D. Spangler of 856 Ogontz street, York, Pa.

Coming several days before Washington's Birthday this year, the discovery was good for a two-column head and illustrated article in the February 21 issue of the York Gazette and Daily.

To Send Instructions

A clipping sent to relatives here by Vernice A. Stinger of York was shown to Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, who revealed that he will send to the York newspaper a copy of the Chamber's letter in which are listed various hints on how to tell an original from a reprint. The Kingston Chamber of Commerce last year offered $100 for an authentic original copy of the paper, and although several hundred inquiries were received no original turned up. Kurdt said today that he believes the offer is still good.

The Gazette and Daily article quotes John Lowry Ruth, director of the York County Historical Society, as saying Spangler's copy "likely is an original."

Bonus for Korea Vets

Hartford, Conn., March 18 (AP)—There was general agreement at a legislative hearing yesterday that Connecticut veterans of the Korean conflict should get a bonus but some said it should be held off until the end of the war. Two bonus bills heard by the General Assembly's Military and Veterans Affairs Committee provide for a bonus bond issue. One, which would call for a bond issue of $20,000,000, would give Korean veterans a bonus of $10 for each month of service with a maximum of $300. The other, introduced by Sen. Charles McKew Parr (R-Chester), calls for a bond issue of $5,000,000 and would call for the same bonus as the other bill, but would limit it to those who have had duty in Korea. The first bill was introduced by Rep. Allan Mopsik (D-Plainfield).

Dr. Lindquist Is To Speak Thursday At Lenten Service

The second of three special Lenten services Thursday at 8 p. m. at the First Presbyterian Church, Elmendorf street and Tremper avenue, will feature a sermon by the Rev. Dr. Raymond L. Lindquist, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Orange, N. J., on Putting the Most You Have Into the Best There Is. The Rev. William J. McVey, pastor, will preside.

The Rev. Dr. Lindquist, who is one of the most popular inspirational preachers in America, has been heard in Kingston each year for the past 10 years as a Lenten speaker, and was the first preacher for a preaching mission sponsored by the Kingston Ministerial Association. It is expected that the sanctuary will be filled with his many friends from other churches of Kingston. Provision is being made to carry the service by loud speaker to the adjoining hall of Ramsey building.

For the musical part of the program, Miss Merrihew, organist and choir director, has arranged for the following numbers: Organ prelude, Chorale by Bach; anthem by the senior choir, Let Not Your Heart Be Troubled by Dickey; selected baritone or soprano solo; and postlude by Mendelssohn. The public is invited.

Planned Parenthood Scored by Catholics

Philadelphia, Barch 18 (AP)—The National Catholic Family Life Conference, opened final meetings today following its condemnation of planned parenthood as "immoral and destructive of the very purpose of marriage."

The conference also denounced what it termed "the national scandal of divorce" and asserted there is only one solution to the problem—"the rejection of all divorces."

Final sessions of the three-day conference dealt with aspects of family as well as developing family attitudes in the child.

Assailments against divorce and planned parenthood were contained in a statement issued by the conference.

In the statement, the conference also deplored aspects of economic existence which, it said, forced mothers to earn livelihoods in industry, "robbing the worker's child of the natural right to a mother's care, and making impossible the minimum of genuine family life."

Katherine B. Kelly, field secretary of the National Catholic Welfare Conference's Social Action Department in Washington, reported there are approximately five and a quarter million mothers of children under 18 in our labor forces.

Private and public surveys of the subject, she said, indicate 80 per cent of all women working say they hold jobs because they must contribute to otherwise inadequate family income.

All Escapees Back

Fort Dix, N. J., March 18 (AP)—All of the seven GIs who broke out of a company stockade at this army post were back in custody today. The last of the seven surrendered yesterday, said Capt. Harry Lapham, public information officer. Pvt. Alberto A. Comia, 20, of 57-50 69th Lane, Queens, N. Y., got out of a car and gave himself up to a guard at the post. Lapham said the soldier did not tell where he had been since the escape last Friday. However Lapham quoted him as saying his mother and sister drove him back to camp.

To Discuss Worry Habit

"How to Break the Worry Habit" is the topic for discussion at the mid-week service Thursday in the Old Dutch Church, corner of Wall and Main streets, at 7:30 p. m. This is a continuation of special Lenten services conducted by the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, designed to meet the daily problems and deepen the spiritual life of people. The meetings are undenominational and applicable to all seekers after the Christian truth. Everyone is cordially invited.
